

THE LITERARY AND EDUCATIONAL YEAR BOOK

FOR

1859.

LONDON:

KENT AND CO., PATERNOSTER ROW, AND FLEET STREET.

Per. 2585. 2. 25.

NOTE.—Though care has been taken in compiling the LITERARY AND EDUCATIONAL YEAR BOOK for 1859, no doubt it will be found that many errors have crept into its pages. It would, in fact, be almost impossible on account of the many difficulties in the way of a first attempt of the kind, where so many thousand proper names are dealt with, to produce a faultless work. As, however, it is intended to publish it annually, Lecturers, Editors, Secretaries of Public Societies, the Proprietors or Teachers of Grammar and other First-class Schools, &c. are respectfully requested to send any corrections or additional information, which may assist to render the work more perfect in future, to the Editor, 3 Duke-street, Adelphi, Strand, London, W.C.

An Index to all Inventions Patented in England from 1617 to 1854 inclusive, arranged under the greatest number of heads, with parallel references to Inventions and Discoveries described in the scientific works of various Nations, as classified by Professor Schubarth. By B. Woodcroft. The foreign works thus indexed form a portion of the Library of the Commissioners of Patents, where they may be consulted, or manuscript translations had.

In course of Publication, by Order of the Commissioners.

Abridgements (in Classes and Chronologically arranged) of all Specifications of Patented Inventions, from the earliest enrolled to those published under the Act of 1852.

These books are of 12mo size, and as each is limited to inventions of one class only, they can be sold at prices sufficiently moderate to enable the humblest inventor to examine for himself whether his discovery has been previously patented or not.

At the foot of each abstract is given references to notices of inventions in scientific and other works, and to the reports of law proceedings for infringements, &c. &c. &c.

The classes already published are:—Drain Tiles and Pipes, price 6d; Manufacture of Iron and Steel, Parts I. and II., price 6d each; Manufacture of Iron and Steel, Part III., price 4s; Manure, price 6d; Sewing and Embroidering, price 6d; Marine Propulsion, Parts I. and II., price 1s each; Marine Propulsion, Part III., price 2s; Preservation of Food, price 6d; Aids to Locomotion, price 1s; Steam Culture, price 2s.

The following are in the press:—Printing Calicoes and other Woven Fabrics; Typographic, Lithographic, and Plate Printing; Combustion of Fuel; Watches, Clocks, and other Timekeepers.

MIDDLE-CLASS EXAMINATION,

UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD.—REGULATIONS FOR THE YEAR 1859.

Under the Statute "De Examinacione Candidatorum qui non sunt de Corpore Universitatis."

The examination will commence on the morning of Tuesday, 14th of June. Junior and senior candidates will be examined at the same time; but the papers for the two examinations will be different.

Examination of Junior Candidates.

(For Certificates.)

Candidates must not be more than 15 years of age on the day when the examination begins. 1. All candidates at this examination will be required to satisfy the examiners in 1. Reading aloud a passage from some English author. 2. Writing from dictation. 3. The analysis and parsing of a passage taken from Cowper's Task, Book I. (The Sofa). A few questions suggested by this portion of the poem will be added. 4. Writing a short English composition, such as a description of a place, an account of some useful natural or artificial product, or the like. 5. Arithmetic. No candidate will be passed who cannot work the first four rules, simple and compound. 6. Geography. Every candidate will be required to fill up an outline map by inserting the chief ranges of mountains, the chief rivers, and chief towns of some country in the following list:—England, Scotland, Ireland, Europe, Asia, Africa, North America, South America, Australasia. Questions will also be set in geography. 7. The outlines of English History, including the succession of sovereigns, the chief events, and some account of the leading men in each reign. N.B. The quality of the handwriting and the spelling in the several exercises will be taken into account.

* II. The examination in the rudiments of faith and religion will consist of questions in 1. The Books of Genesis and Exodus, the Gospel of St. Luke, and the Acts of the Apostles. 2. The Catechism, the Morning and Evening Services, and the Litany.

III. Papers will also be set in the following eight subjects; and every candidate will be required to offer himself for examination in one subject at least; but no candidate will be examined in more than four:—1. Latin. A passage will be given from "Cæsar de Bello Gallico," (Books IV. V. VI.) for translation into English, with grammatical and general questions. An easy passage from some other Latin book for translation into English. 2+. Greek. A passage will be given from Xenophon's Anabasis, (Book IV.) for translation into English, with grammatical and general questions. An easy passage from some other Greek book for translation into English. 3. French. A passage will be given from Fenelon's Télémaque† (Books I.—IX.), for translation into English, with grammatical and general questions. A passage from a French newspaper for translation into English. English sentences for translation into French. 4. German. A passage will be given from Fouqué's *Undine, for translation into English, with grammatical and general questions. A passage from a German Newspaper for translation into English. English sentences for translation into German. 5. Mathematics. Euclid, Books I. II. Arithmetic. Algebra to simple equations inclusive. This amount of knowledge will enable a candidate to pass in this subject. Questions will also be set in Euclid, Books III., IV., VI., in quadratic equations, progressions, and proportion, plane trigonometry not beyond the solution of triangles, the use of logarithms, mensuration, and practical geometry. 6. Mechanics and Mechanism. The questions on mechanics will be chiefly of an elementary character. The answers should be illustrated by diagrams and drawings, where these can be introduced. Great importance will be attached to good drawing. 7. Chemistry. Questions will be set on the elementary facts of chemistry. Solutions will be given to be tested, containing each not more than one acid and one base. 8. Botany and Zoology. Questions will be set on the classification of plants and animals, their uses, and geographical distribution. British plants and parts of plants will be given for description.

IV. Candidates may also offer themselves for examination in—1. a. Drawing an outline from the flat. b. Drawing with light and shade from a cast or model. 2. The grammar of music.

The names of the successful candidates will be arranged in three divisions; those in the first division will be placed in order of merit; those in the second and third divisions, alphabetically. After each successful candidate's name will be inserted his age, the place of his residence, and the school (if any) from which he comes to attend the examination. The certificate given to each successful candidate will specify the subjects in which he has satisfied the examiners. The fact that a candidate has passed the examination in the rudiments of faith and religion, although it will not affect his place on the list, will be entered on his certificate, and signified by a mark prefixed to his name in the division lists.

EXAMINATION OF SENIOR CANDIDATES.

(For the Title of Associate in Arts)

Candidates must not be more than eighteen years of age on the day when the examination begins. I All Candidates at this examination will be required to satisfy the examiners in—1. Analysis of English sentences and parsing, and correction of faulty sentences. 2. A short English composition. 3. Arithmetic. 4. Geography. Every candidate will be required to fill up an outline map of some country in Europe to be named by the examiners, by inserting the chief ranges of mountains, the chief rivers, and the chief towns. Questions will also be set in Geography. 5. The Outlines of English history, including the succession of Sovereigns, the chief events, and the characters of the leading men in each reign.

§II. The examination in the rudiments of faith and religion will consist of questions in—1. The historical Scriptures of the Old Testament to the death of Solomon; the Gospels of St. Luke and St. John, and the Acts of the Apostles. Those who offer themselves for examination in Greek will be expected to answer questions on the same parts of the Greek Testament. 2. The Catechism, the morning and evening services, and the Litany; and the outlines of history of the Book of Common Prayer.

III. Every candidate will also be required to satisfy the examiners in two at least of the sections marked A, B, C, D; or in one of those four and in one of those marked E, F.

SECTION A—English.

This will include questions in—1. English History, from the accession of James I. to the death of Anne; and the outlines of the History of English Literature during the same period. 2. Shakspeare's King John, and Burke's Reflections on the French Revolution. 3. The outlines of Political Economy and English Law. The examination will not extend beyond the subjects treated of in the first book of Smith's Wealth of Nations, and the first volumes of Blackstone's Commentaries. 4. Physical, political, and commercial geography. A fair knowledge of one of these four classes of subjects will enable a candidate to pass in this section.

SECTION B.—Languages.

1. ¶Latin. 2. ¶Greek. 4. German. A fair knowledge of one of these languages will enable a candidate to pass in this section.

SECTION C.—Mathematics.

1. Pure mathematics, to differential calculus inclusive. 2. Mechanics, including mechanism, and hydrostatics mathematically treated, surveying, and navigation. Algebra to the end of quadratic equations and four books of Euclid will enable a candidate to pass in this section. The answers in this section should be illustrated by diagrams and drawings, where these can be introduced. Great importance will be attached to good drawing.

SECTION D.—Physics.

1. Natural Philosophy. 2. Chemistry. Questions will be set on the facts and general principles of chemical science. There will be a practical examination in the elements of analysis. 3. Vegetable and Animal Physiology. Questions will be set on Vegetable Physiology in general, and the special functions of the parts of plants; and on the general types and characteristic variations of animal structures and functions. Parts of plants and bones of vertebrata will be given for description. 4. Geology and Mineralogy; comprising the ascertained facts of the structure of the earth, the origin, composition and uses of rocks, and the history of organic remains; the chemical and physical characters, and geometrical forms of simple minerals. A fair knowledge of one of these classes of subjects will enable a candidate to pass in this section; but in all cases a practical acquaintance with the subject-matter will be indispensable. The answers in this section should be illustrated by diagrams and drawings, where these can be introduced. Great importance will be attached to good drawing.

* This section must be taken by every candidate unless his parents or guardians object to his examination in it. † Opportunity will be given for showing more advanced scholarship in Latin and in Greek. ‡ Editions of these works may be obtained at 1s 6d each of Messrs. Parker, Oxford, and 377 Strand, London. § This section must be taken by every candidate, unless his parents or guardians object to his examination in it. ¶ Opportunity will be given for showing more advanced scholarship in Latin and in Greek, and also knowledge of Roman and Greek history.

SECTION E.—Drawing and Architecture.

1. Drawing in outline from a cast or model, and also drawing with light and shade from the same. 2. Drawing in perspective. 3. Drawing in colour from a natural object. 4. Design for an ornament or pattern, or for a picture. 5. Questions founded on Wornum's *Epoch's of Painting, Books I., III., IV., V. 6. Drawings of plans, sections, and elevations, with questions on the elementary facts of construction. Candidates will be required to satisfy the examiners in 1 and 2 in order to pass in this section, and in 3 in order to be placed in the first or second section division in it.

SECTION F.—Music.

1. The grammar of music. 2. The history and principles of musical composition. The elements of thorough bass will be required in order that a candidate may pass in this section. Separate lists of those who distinguish themselves will be published for each of the Sections A, B, C, D, E, F, arranged in two divisions. The names in each first division will be arranged in order of merit: those in each second division alphabetically. The names of the other successful candidates will be printed in a general alphabetical list. After each successful candidate's name will be inserted his age, the place of his residence, and the school (if any) from which he comes to attend the examination. Every candidate who passes will receive the Vice Chancellor's certificate conferring the title of Associate in Arts, and specifying the subjects in which he has satisfied the examiners. The fact that a candidate has passed the examination in the rudiments of faith and religion, although it will not affect his place on the list, will be entered on his certificate, and signified by a mark prefixed to his name in the division lists.

* An edition of the Epochs of Painting, corrected and revised by the author, is now in the press, and is expected to be ready before the end of this year. Price 6s. Murray, London.

PLACE OF EXAMINATION.

The examination will be held in Oxford, and simultaneously in other places, if it be requested, and found expedient. Local committees wishing to have an examination held in their several districts may obtain all necessary information from the Rev. J. E. Sewell, New College, Oxford.

Time of Applying.

Candidates desirous of being examined at Oxford must apply to the secretary before the 1st of May, 1859. Candidates desirous of being examined at any other place must apply to the Secretary of the Local Committee at such place before the 1st of May, 1859. No candidates' names will be received at any place after the 30th of April. Local committees desirous of having examinations held in their several districts must apply before the 1st of February, 1859.

Fees.

Every candidate at the junior examination will be required to pay a fee of 15s. Every candidate at the senior-examination will be required to pay a fee of 30s. These fees must be paid before the 1st May, 1859.—J. E. SEWELL, Secretary. Oxford, Delegates'-room, Nov. 16, 1858.

SOCIETY OF ARTS' UNION OF INSTITUTES.

PRIZES AND CERTIFICATES, 1858.

PRIZES AWARDED TO CANDIDATES.*

Arithmetic: 1st Prize, £5, George William Wicker, 18, of the Watt Institute, Portsea, Portsmouth, a working engineer; 2nd prize, £3, Thomas Ross Howard, 22, of the Crosby Hall Evening Classes, London, clerk.

Book-keeping: 1st prizes, £5, George Harrison, 21, of the Young Men's Christian Institute, Leeds, book-keeper: £5, George Edward Skinner, 21, of the Literary Institution, Lymington, attorney's clerk; 2nd Prizes, £3, James Dawling Bennett, 18, of the Royal Polytechnic Institution, London, gas engineer: £3, Thomas Ross Howard, 22, of the Crosby Hall Evening Classes, London, clerk.

Algebra: 1st prize, £5, George William Wicker, 18, of the Watt Institute, Portsea, Portsmouth, a working engineer; 2nd prize, £4, Alfred Pickard, 16, of the Young Men's Christian Institute, Leeds, a mechanic; 3rd prize, £3, Francis Stone Evans, 18, of the Athenæum, Bristol, occupation not stated.

Geometry: 1st prize, £5, William Wheeler, 17, of the Young Men's Christian Institute, Leeds, land surveyor.

* The figures after each name state the age of each person.

Mensuration: 1st prize, £5, Geo. William Wicker, 18, of the Watt Institute, Portsea, Portsmouth, a working engineer.

Conic Sections: 1st prize, £5, Francis Stone Evans, 18, of the Athenæum, Bristol.

Chemistry: 1st prize, £5, George Warrington, 17, of the Crosby Hall Evening Classes, London; 2nd prize, £3, Frederick William Rudler, 17, Royal Polytechnic, London, a solicitor's clerk.

Botany: 1st prize, £5, George Warrington, 17, of the Crosby Hall Evening Classes, London, worker in a chemical laboratory.

Political Economy: 1st Prize, £5, John Fretwell, 20, of the Crosby Hall Evening Classes, London, clerk.

Geography: Descriptive, 1st Prize, £5, Richard Harper Stretch, 20, of the Banbury Mechanics' Institution, draper; 2nd Prize, £3, Geo. Best, 24, of the Mechanics' Institution, Leeds, book-keeper. Physical, 1st prize, £5, Richard Harper Stretch, 20, of the Banbury Mechanics' Institution, draper.

English History: 1st prize, £5, George Best, 24, of the Mechanics' Institution, Leeds, book-keeper.

English Literature: 1st prize, £5, Edward Birks, 29, of the People's College, Sheffield, bank cashier; 2nd prize, £4, Joseph Fox, 21, of the Mechanics' Institution, Halifax, timber merchant; 3rd prize, £3, Joseph Hopkins Davy, 31, of the People's College, Sheffield, grocer.

Latin and Roman History: 1st prize, £5, William Thomas Hutchinson, of the People's College, Sheffield, butcher.

Latin: 2nd prize, £3, Edward Highton, 20, of the Crosby-hall Evening Classes, London, clerk.

No prizes were awarded in Trigonometry; Navigation and Nautical Astronomy; Statics, Dynamics, and Hydrostatics; Practical Mechanics; Magnetism, Electricity, and Heat; Astronomy; Animal Physiology; French; German; Free-hand Drawing; and Mechanical or Geometrical Drawing; as no Candidate obtained a First-class Certificate in any of these subjects.

PRIZES AWARDED TO LOCAL BOARDS.

To the Local Board at Crosby-hall Evening Classes, London, one Prize of £10. To the Local Board at the London Mechanics' Institution, Southampton-buildings, one prize of £4.

SPECIAL PRIZES TO INSTITUTIONS.

The Council have awarded a Special Prize of £10 to the Watt Institute, Portsea, the Institution in which Candidate No.

29, George William Wicker, is a Student. The Council have decided that £5 be awarded to each Institution sending a Candidate that has obtained a First Prize. The following is a list of these Institutions:— London, Crosby Hall, Evening Classes (three prizes), £15; Portsea, Watt Institute (three prizes), £15; Banbury Mechanics' Institution (two prizes), £10; Leeds Young Men's Christian Institute (two prizes), £10; Sheffield People's College (two prizes), £10; Bristol Athenæum, £5; Leeds Mechanic's Institution, £5; Lymington Literary Institution, £5.

ARITHMETIC.—

BOOK-KEEPING.

First-class Certificates (Excellence).

George Harrison, 21, Young Men's Christian Institute, Leeds, book-keeper; George Edward Skinner, 21, Lit. Inst., Lymington, attorney's clerk; James Dickie, 19, London Mechanics' Institution, clerk; William Walton Snelling, 21, London Mechanics' Institution, clerk; Edwin James Kelly, 17, Useful Knowledge Society, Macclesfield; James Dawling Bennett, 18, Royal Polytechnic, London, gas engineer; John Leech, 16, M. I., Halifax, clerk; David Baxter, 21, M. I., Mossley (Yorks.), card-room hand; Wilfred Johanning, 14, Liverpool Institute, clerk; William Birk.

beck, 20, Working Man's College, Halifax, warehouseman; John Stamford Walton, jun., 19, M. I., Northallerton; Ralph Crompton, 23, Oldham Lyceum, weaver; Henry Augustus Eliot, 24, Crosby Hall, London, clerk; Robert James White, 20, Crosby Hall, London, clerk; Thomas Ross Howard, 22, Crosby Hall, London, clerk; Edward Eccles Manning, Society D. U. K., Greenwich, clerk; George Wood, 32, Crosby Hall, London, clerk.

ALGEBRA.—First Class Certificates (Excellence).—Alf. Pickard, 16 Young Men's Chris. Inst., Leeds, a mechanic; Geo. Wm. Wicker, 18, Watt Inst., Portsea, engineer; Francis Stone Evans, 18, Athenæum, Bristol. Geometry—Wm. Wheeler, 17, Young Men's Christ. Inst., Leeds, land surveyor. Mensuration—Geo. Wm. Wicker, 18 Watt Institute, Portsea, engineer. Conic Sections—Francis Stone Evans, 18, Athenæum, Bristol. Chemistry—Fredk. Wm. Rudler, 17, R. Polytechnic, London, clerk; George Warrington, 17, Crosby-hall, London, worker in a chemical laboratory. Botany—George Warrington, 17, Crosby-hall, London, worker in a chemical laboratory. Political and Social Economy: John Fretwell, 20, Crosby-hall, London, clerk. Descriptive Geography—Richard H. Stretch, 20, M. I., Banbury, draper; George Best, 24, M. I., Leeds, book-keeper; Jas. Dickie, 19, London Mech. Inst., clerk; William Walton Snelling, 21, London Mech. Inst., clerk; Thomas Eccleston Gibb, 19, Coll. Inst., Liverpool, brushmaker. Physical Geography, including Geology—Richard Harper Stretch, 20, M. I., Banbury, draper. English History—George Best, 24, M. I., Leeds, book-keeper. English Literature—Joseph Fox, 21, M. I., Halifax, timber merchant; Edward Birks, 29, People's Coll., Sheffield, bank cashier; Joshua Hopkins Davy, 31, People's Coll., Sheffield, grocer. Latin and Roman History—Wm. Thos. Hutchinson, 28, People's Coll., Sheffield, butcher. Latin (alone)—Edward Highton, 20, Crosby-hall, London, clerk.

REGULATIONS FOR THE FINAL EXAMINATION, 1859.

NOTICE TO THE INSTITUTIONS.

In 1856 the Society's Examinations were held in London. In 1857 they were held in London and Huddersfield. In 1858 they were held at—1. Banbury; 2. Berkhamstead; 3. Birmingham; 4. Blackburn; 5. Bradford; 6. Brighton; 7. Bristol; 8. Greenwich; 9. Halifax (2 Local Boards); 10. Hartlepool (West); 11. Ipswich; 12. Leeds (2 Local Boards); 13. Lewes; 14. Liverpool; 15. Lockwood; 16. London (5 Local Boards); 17. Louth; 18. Lymington; 19. Macclesfield; 20. Manchester (2 Local Boards); 21. Newcastle-on-Tyne; 22. Northowram; 23. Pembroke Dock; 24. Portsmouth; 25. Salisbury; 26. Selby; 27. Sheffield; 28. Wakefield; 29. Warminster; 30. Wigan; 31. Windsor; 32. York. In 1859, and thenceforward, it is proposed to hold them simultaneously at all places, throughout the extent of the Union, where suitable arrangements can be made by the authorities of the institutions.

The following is the list of subjects for the Final Examination in 1859:—1. Arithmetic. 2. Book-keeping, by Double Entry. 3. Algebra. 4. Geometry and Mensuration. 5. Trigonometry. 6. Conic Sections. 7. Navigation and Nautical Astronomy. 8. Statics, Dynamics, and Hydrostatics, Hydraulics, and Pneumatics. 9. Practical Mechanics. 10. Magnetism, Electricity, and Heat. 11. Astronomy. 12. Chemistry. 13. Animal Physiology. 14. Botany. 15. Agriculture. 16. Political and Social Economy. 17. Geography. 18. English History. 19. English Literature. 20. Latin and Roman History. 21. French. 22. German. 23. Theory of Music.

1.—ARITHMETIC.

Practice, Interest and Discount—Proportion, Simple and Compound—Fractions, Vulgar and Decimal. The principles of a Decimal Notation in money on the basis of the pound unit. The Examiners will take into account not only the correctness of the work, but the clearness with which it is set down, and the neatness of the figures. Round, compact figures, as nearly like as possible to old-fashioned printed numerals, will be preferred. Any of the modern Treatises on Arithmetic, such as Hunter's Text Book (National Society), Colenso, (Longmans), or Barnard Smith (Bell and Daldy), may be used.

II.—BOOKKEEPING BY DOUBLE ENTRY.

Candidates should be prepared to answer questions as to the nature and use of the different books usually kept in a merchant's office. They should be prepared to journalize a series of transactions from a waste book, and, having posted the entries to the ledger, to balance the accounts, to prove them by a trial-balance, and finally to exhibit an account of profit and loss, with a balance-sheet. Candidates will be required to draw the usual commercial forms, such as receipts, bills of exchange, promissory notes, invoices, account sales, accounts current, bills of parcels, and to explain the meanings of the technical terms used in general business. The following books, or some of them, may be consulted:—Book-keeping, Irish School Series. (Groombridge.) Rudimentary Book-keeping. (Weale's Series.) Kelly's Elements of Book-keeping. (Simpkin and Co.)

III.—ALGEBRA.

Algebraical Fractions, Square and Cube Root, Greatest Common Measure, Least Common Multiple, Simple and Quadratic Equations single and simultaneous, Ratio, and Variation. Candidates should be prepared to give explanations of Elementary Principles and proofs of Fundamental Propositions. Colenso's Algebra (Longmans), or Barnard Smith's Algebra (Bell and Daldy), may be used with advantage.

IV.—GEOMETRY AND MENSURATION.

Euclid, Books I., II., III., IV., VI., XI., and XII. Pott's smaller edition is recommended. (Parker.) A facility in solving geometrical theorems and problems, deducible from the first six books, will be expected on the part of those who desire to obtain high class certificates. The calculation in numbers of the areas and circumferences of plane figures bounded by areas of circles or right lines. The superficial and solid contents of cones, cylinders, and spheres, &c. Candidates will be expected to be familiar with the different rules for measuring and estimating artificer's work, such as joiner's, bricklayer's, mason's, slater's, and plumber's work, and to be able to prepare estimates for such work from given quantities. The following books may be consulted.—Rudimentary Treatise on Mensuration. (Weales Series.) Young's Treatise on Mensuration. (Simms and McIntyre.)

V.—TRIGONOMETRY.

In Plane Trigonometry, the formulæ for the trigonometrical functions of the sum of two angles, the numerical solution of plane triangles, and the use of logarithmic tables. Snowball's Trigonometry (Macmillan, Cambridge), Hall's Trigonometry for Schools (Christian Knowledge Society), or any of the modern treatises on Algebraical Trigonometry may be consulted. Mathematical Tables (Chambers' Series). Spherical Trigonometry, Napier's Rules, Solution of Spherical Triangles.

VI.—CONIC SECTIONS.

The properties of the three curves treated geometrically. Also as deduced from the cone. The principles of projection, orthogonal and central, applied to derive the properties of the Conic Sections from those of the circle. Drew's Conic Sections (Macmillan), or Whewell's Conic Sections (Parker), may be consulted. For Analytical Conics, Puckle's or Todhunter's Conic Sections.

VII.—NAVIGATION AND NAUTICAL ASTRONOMY.

A good knowledge of Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, of the definitions and terms used in Nautical Astronomy, and of the various measurements of time and their mutual conversions will be required, as well as skill in the use of logarithmic table, and neatness, order and accuracy, in the numerical solutions of problems. The candidate should understand the construction of charts; the nature and laws of circular storms; great circle sailing, &c. The methods of determining the latitude, longitude, variation of the compass, and error and rate of a chronometer by astronomical observations, with the demonstrations of the formulæ employed. The use of Nautical Astronomical Instruments, &c. The Nautical Almanac, Riddle's Navigation and Nautical Astronomy. (Law, Essex-street.)

VIII.—STATICS, DYNAMICS, HYDROSTATICS, HYDRAULICS, AND PNEUMATICS.

The Properties of Matter; Force and Motion: the Mechanical Powers; Regulation of Force; the Pendulum; the Strength of Materials, &c.; the Mechanical Properties of Liquids; Specific Gravity; Mechanical Properties of Air; the Barometer; Machines for raising Water, &c.

IX.—PRACTICAL MECHANICS.

The Application of the Principles of Mechanism to Simple Machines. The Steam Engine.

X.—MAGNETISM, ELECTRICITY, AND HEAT.

The following books may be consulted.—Lardner's Handbooks of Natural Philosophy. (Walton and Maberly) Brooke's edition of Golding Bird's Elements of Natural Philosophy. (John Churchill.) Herschel's Discourse on the Study of Natural Philosophy (Longmans) for a general view of the subject.

XI.—ASTRONOMY.

The principles of Plane Astronomy. Herschel's Astronomy. (Longmans.) First chapters. Airy's Lectures on Astronomy.

XII.—CHEMISTRY.

Organic and Inorganic. Candidates will be examined in the chemistry of the metalloids and of the chief metals; the laws of combining proportions; volumes of gases and vapours, &c. They are expected to be able to explain decompositions with the use of symbols. Questions illustrative of general principles will be selected from the following amongst other trades and manufactures: Metallurgy of Lead, Iron, and Copper; Bleaching, Dying, Soap-boiling, Tanning; the manufacture of Coal-Gas, Sulphuric Acid, &c.

XIII.—ANIMAL PHYSIOLOGY.

The general principles of Animal Physiology. Practical Application of them to health, and the wants of daily life. The following books are recommended:—Carpenter's Manual. (Churchill.) Lardner's Animal Physics. (Walton and Maberly.) Translation of Milne Edward's Manual of Zoology. (Renshaw.)

XIV.—BOTANY.

Scientific and Applied Botany. The leading principles of Morphology, Vegetable Physiology, and the Classification of Plants. The Examination will include the characters of important Natural Orders represented in the British Flora; and a knowledge of indigenous or commonly cultivated plants, having noxious or useful properties, will be required. The following text-books may be used:—Lindley's School Botany. (Longmans.) Henfrey's Rudiments of Botany. (Van Voorst.) Henfrey's Elementary Course of Botany. (Van Voorst.)

XV.—AGRICULTURE.

The theory of agriculture, and such a general knowledge of farm practice, and of the management of live stock as must, to some extent, have been obtained in the field. The examination in the theory of agriculture will include both the mechanical and the chemical aspects of the subject; on the one side the advantages and results of tillage operations, and on the other the influence and the operation of particular manures and of food. The questions in farm practice will test a knowledge of the cultivation of our most important crops, and of the management of our principal domesticated animals. The following books are recommended:—Lowe's Elements of Practical Agriculture. (Longmans.) Johnston's Agricultural Chemistry. (Blackwood and Sons.) Morton's Cyclopædia of Agriculture. (Blackie and Son.) Stephens' Book of the Farm. (Blackwood and Sons.)

XVI.—POLITICAL AND SOCIAL ECONOMY.

Elements of Political Economy, by James Mill. Principles of Political Economy, by John Stuart Mill. The Phenomena of Industrial Life. Edited by the Dean of Hereford. (Groombridge.) Whateley's Lectures on Political Economy. (Parker.) Dr. E. R. Humphrey's Manual of Political Science. (Longmans.) N.B.—The Principles of Political Economy, by John Stuart Mill, need be studied only by those who aspire to a first-class Certificate.

XVII.—GEOGRAPHY.

All candidates will be expected to possess a sound knowledge of Descriptive Geography, and in particular, of that of the British Empire. They will also be required to sketch from memory maps of any of the countries of Europe, showing the positions of the chief mountain chains, the largest rivers, and the most important towns. The following are useful text-books in Elementary Geography:—Anderson's Modern Geography. (Nelson.) John's Elements of Geography. (Darton.) William Hughes' General Geography. (Gleig's Series.) William Hughes' Geography of the British Empire. (Gleig's Series.) The General Atlas. (National Society.) Candidates for certificates of the first and second grade of merit should have a general acquaintance with Physical, Political, and Commercial Geography. The questions in the Examination Paper will give them an opportunity of showing also a deeper acquaintance with any of the following subjects:—a. Geology in its relation to geography. b. The distribution of Plants and Animals on the surface of the globe. c. Meteorology. e. Ethnography. The following text-books may be recommended:—William Hughes' Manual of Geography. (Longmans.) Mrs. Somerville's Physical Geography, 2 vols. (Murray.) Guyot's Earth and Man. (Parker.) Black's School Atlas. (Black.) The School Physical Atlas (either that published by the National Society, or that by Keith Johnston.) An Atlas of the Geography of the British Empire. (National Society.) Page's Introductory Text-Book to Geology. (Blackwood.) Page's Advanced Text-Book. (Blackwood.) Ansted's Ancient World. (Van Voorst.) Drew's Practical Meteorology. Latham's Man and his Migrations.

XVIII.—ENGLISH HISTORY.

A general knowledge of the outlines of English History. A special knowledge of English History from the commencement of the reign of Henry 2nd to the end of the reign of Richard 2nd. Knight's English History. Hallam's Middle Ages, chapter viii. (Murray.) Creasy's Rise and Progress of the English Constitution. (Bentley.)

XIX.—ENGLISH LITERATURE.

Candidates may take up for examination any two, but not more than two, of the authors in the following list:—Chaucer's Prologue to the Canterbury Tales. Shakespeare. Macbeth, Richard II., Tempest. Bacon. Essays. Addison's Contributions to the Spectator. Goldsmith's Poems. A fair knowledge of the great writers contemporary with the authors selected will be required for the highest Certificate.

XX.—LATIN AND ROMAN HISTORY.

Livy, Book xxi. Virgil. Æneid, Book ii. Roman History, to the death of Augustus Caesar. Liddell's History of Rome (in one volume) is recommended as a text book.

XXI.—FRENCH.

Literature:—Corneille: Le Cid. Voltaire: Siècle de Louis XIV. Montesquieu: Grandeur et Décadence des Romains. Tocqueville: L'Ancien Régime et la Révolution. Candidates may take up any two, but not more than two, of the above works. History:—Sketches of the reigns of Louis VI., Louis IX., Charles VII., and Louis XIII.

XXII.—GERMAN.

Schiller's Geschichte des Dreissigjährigen Krieges, or Schiller's Wilhelm Tell.

XXIII.—THEORY OF MUSIC.

Notation, the modern modes, intervals, time signatures, the stave, transposition, modulation, terms and characters in common use. The Elements of Harmony. Hullah's "Rudiments of Musical Grammar," and "Grammar of Musical Harmony." Arrangements should be made in the previous examination by the local boards to test candidates by oral examination in their knowledge or appreciation of the sound of musical successions and combinations. A form of the test to be used for this purpose by the local board at the previous examination will be sent to such local boards as may require it, in due time before the examination.

LIST OF EXAMINERS FOR 1859.

1. Arithmetic, Rev. Alexander Wilson, M.A., National Society, London. 2. Book-keeping, John Ball, Esq., of the firm of Messrs. Quilter and Ball. 3. Algebra, Rev. Harvey Goodwin, M.A., Cambridge. 4.

Geometry and Mensuration, Rev. B. Morgan Cowie, M.A., Professor of Geometry at Gresham College; one of H.M. Inspectors of Schools. 5. Trigonometry, William Spottiswoode, Esq., F.R.S. 6. Conic Sections, Rev. Bartholomew Price, M.A., F.R.S., Sedelian Professor of Natural Philosophy in the University of Oxford. 7. Navigation and Nautical Astronomy, John Riddle, Esq., F.R.A.S., Head Master of the Nautical Schools, Greenwich. 8. Statics, Dynamics, Hydrostatics, Hydraulics, and Pneumatics, Rev. A. Bath Power, M.A., Principal of the Diocesan Training School at Norwich. 9. Practical Mechanics, T. M. Goodeve, Esq., Professor of Natural Philosophy, King's College, London. 10. Electricity, Magnetism, and Heat, Charles Brooke, Esq., Surgeon to the Westminster Hospital. 11. Astronomy, Rev. Baden Powell, M.A., F.R.S., Savilian Professor of Geometry in the University of Oxford. 12. Chemistry, A. W. Williamson, Esq., Professor of Chemistry, University College, London. 13. Animal Physiology, William Sharpey, Esq., M.D., F.R.S., Examiner in University College, London. 14. Botany, Arthur Henfrey, Esq., F.R.S., Professor of Botany, King's College, London. 15. Agriculture, J. C. Morton, Esq. 16. Political and Social Economy, Charles Neate, Esq., M.A., Professor of Political Economy in the University of Oxford. 17. Geography, Wm. Hughes, Esq., F.R.G.S., Professor of Geography in Queen's College, London. 18. English History, E. S. Creasy, Esq., M.A., Professor of History, University College, London. 19. English Literature, Rev. Samuel Clark, M.A., F.R.G.S., Principal of the Training College, Battersea. 20. Latin and Roman History, Rev. F. Temple, D.D., Head Master of Rugby School. 21. French, Alphonse Mariette, Esq., M.A., Professor of French, King's College, London. 22. German, Dr. Bernays, Professor of German, King's College, London. 23. Theory of Music, John Hullah, Esq.

PRIZES FOR 1859.

The following Prizes are offered to the Candidates, viz.:—One first prize of £5, and one second prize of £3 in each of the twenty-three sub-divisions of the subjects of examination.

No prize in any subject will be awarded to a Candidate who does not obtain a Certificate of the first class therein. The prizes will be given in money or in books, at the option of the Candidate.

The following prizes are offered to the Institutions, viz.:—To the Institution whose Candidates obtains the above-mentioned first prize of £5 in each of the twenty-three sub-divisions of subjects, one prize of £5. An Institution can take more than one such prize: but no such prize can be taken by one Institution unless the Council of this Society are satisfied that the Candidate, in respect of whom the prize is claimed, has received at the Institution systematic instruction in the subject for a period of not less than three months.

The following prizes are offered to the Local Boards, viz.:—To the Local Board whose Candidates obtaining Certificates of the first class, not fewer than ten, bear the largest proportion to its whole number of Candidates.—One prize of £10. To the Local Board whose Candidates obtaining Certificates of the first class, not fewer than eight, bear the largest proportion to its whole number of candidates.—One prize of £8. To the Local Board whose Candidates obtaining Certificates of the first class, not fewer than six, bear the largest proportion to its whole number of Candidates.—One prize of £6. To the Local Board whose Candidates obtaining Certificates of the first class, not fewer than four, bear the largest proportion to its whole number of Candidates.—One prize of £4.

No Local Board can receive more than one of these prizes. These sums may be applied by the Local Boards to the payment of the expenses of the examination, or otherwise, as the Board may deem best, for the promotion of the objects for which it was instituted.

LOCAL BOARDS FORMED IN 1858.

The following is a list of the places at which Local Boards of Examiners were formed in 1858. At the places marked with an asterisk no Candidates were examined:—*Aberdeen, *Bocup, Banbury, *Basingstoke, *Bedford, Berkhamstead, Birmingham, Blackburn, Bradford, Yorkshire, Brighton, Bristol, Bucks and Berks Lecturers' Association, *Carlisle, *Dover, *Glasgow, Greenwich, Halifax Mechanics' Institution, Halifax Working Men's College, *Hanley, Potteries Mechanics' Institution, Hartlepool (West), Ipswich, Leeds Mechanics' Institution, Leeds Young Men's Christian Institute, Lewes, Liverpool, Lockwood, London, Crosby Hall, London, Domestic Mission, *London, Jews and General Literary Institute, London Mechanic's Institute, London, Royal Polytechnic, *London Tailors' Labour Agency Literary Institute, London, West Brompton, *Longton, Louth, Lymington, Macclesfield, Manchester Institutional Association, Manchester Mechanics' Institution, *Middlesbrough, *Neath Mechanics' Institution, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Northowram, Pembroke Dock, Portsmouth, *Richmond (Surrey), *Salford, Salisbury, Selby, Sheerness, Sheffield, *Slough, *Stourbridge, Wakefield, Warminster, Wigan, Windsor, York.

The following is a list of the Institutions from which returns of Candidates for the Final Examinations were made through the various Local Boards.—Banbury Mechanics' Institution, Berkhamstead Mechanics' Institution, Birmingham, Messrs. Chance's Glass Works Library and Reading Room, Blackburn Literary, Scientific, and Mechanics' Institution, Bradford (Yorks) Mechanics' Institution, Brighton Royal Literary and Scientific Institution, Bristol Athenæum, Churwell Mechanics' Institution, Glasgow Mechanics' Institution, Greenwich Society for the Acquisition and Diffusion of Useful Knowledge, Halifax Mechanics' Institution, Halifax Halsey-hill Working Man's College, Holbeck Church Institute, Ipswich Mechanics' Institution, Leeds Mechanics' Institution, Leeds Young Men's Christian Institute, Lewes Improvement Association, Liverpool Collegiate Institution, Liverpool Mechanics' Institution, Lockwood Mechanics' Institution, London, West Brompton Literary and Mutual Improvement Society, London, Crosby-hall, Evening Classes for Young Men, Bishopsgate, London, Domestic Mission Society, Chapel-street, Cripplegate, London, Mechanics' Institution, Southampton Buildings, London, Royal Polytechnic Institution, Regent-street, Louth Mechanics' Institution, Lymington Mechanics' Institution, Macclesfield Society for the Acquisition of Useful Knowledge, Manchester Athenæum, Manchester Mechanics' Institution, Miles Platting Mechanics' Institution, Milsbridge Mechanics' Institute, Mossley Mechanics' Institution, Newcastle-on-Tyne Church of England Institute, Northallerton Mechanics' Institution, Northowram Mechanics' Institution, Oldham Lyceum, Pembroke Dock Mechanics' Institute, Portsea, Watt Institute, Salisbury Literary and Scientific Institution, Selby Mechanics' Institute, Settle Mechanics' Institute, Sheerness Mechanics' Institution, Sheffield Mechanics' Institution, Sheffield People's College, Stockport Mechanics' Institution, Wakefield Mechanics' Institute, Warminster Athenæum, Wigan Mechanics' Institution, Windsor and Eton Literary, Scientific, and Mechanics' Institution, York Institute of Popular Science and Literature.

GOVERNMENT APPRENTICES.

A List of the first 216 Apprentices of Her Majesty's Dockyards, arranged in Order of Merit, as determined by the Examination of Her Majesty's Inspector, The Rev. J. WOOLEY, LL.D., F.R.A.S., &c., Midsummer, 1858.

SCIENTIFIC, LEARNED, AND ARTISTIC SOCIETIES OF THE METROPOLIS.

ANGLO-BIBLICAL INSTITUTE.

22 Hart-street, Bloomsbury-square, London.

The object of the Anglo-Bible Institute is,—The promotion of Biblical Criticism, having more especially in view a superior Translation of the Holy Scriptures into the English Language.

The present advanced state of Biblical knowledge, and the increasing tendency of Biblical Literature to meet the requirements of the age, have suggested to some students of the Sacred Scriptures the propriety of instituting a Society for the promotion of Biblical Criticism; having more especially in view a superior Translation of the Bible into the English Language.

Meetings of members for 1859, Tuesdays, at seven p.m. precisely: Jan. 4, Feb. 1, Mar. 1, Apr. 5, May 3 (Anniversary), June 7.

ART UNION OF LONDON.

444 West Strand. Inst. 1837, Incorpor. 1846.

Hon. Secs.: George Godwin and Lewis Pocock. Assist. Sec.: T. S. Watson.

The Art-Union of London has for its object, to promote the knowledge and love of the Fine Arts, and their general advancement in the British Empire, by a wide diffusion of the works of native artists; and to elevate Art and encourage its Professors, by creating an increased demand for their works, and an improved taste on the part of the Public. It is under the direction of a Council of the Members, whose services are honorary, and four of whom retire from office every year. Subscribers of One Guinea, or upwards, are Members of the Society for the year for which the subscription is paid.

ARUNDEL SOCIETY.

24 Old Bond Street.—Established 1849.

Treasurer: John J. Rogers, Esq. Secretary: John Norton, Esq.

The objects of this Society are, to illustrate the History and Monuments of Art, by Publications of any convenient character and form. It is managed by a Council of from ten to sixteen members.

Subscription, One Guinea annually; entitling Members to receive the annual publications gratis, and the occasional Publications at a reduced rate.

The Annual General Meeting is held in May.

A complete collection of the casts and drawings of the Arundel Society may be consulted at the Crystal Palace.

ARCHITECTURAL ASSOCIATION.

Lyons Inn Hall, Newcastle Street, Strand.

The principal objects of the Architectural Association are, Mutual Instruction and Encouragement given by the members, meeting together and reading a paper upon some architectural subject, after which a discussion follows, in which all are desired to take part. A Class of Design is established, a subject for a sketch is advertised in "The Builder," and the members produce designs, in which each gives his idea of the subject; the sketches are then handed round for mutual criticism. A register is kept of the names of all architects requiring assistance, and of all assistants requiring employment. This is open to all, whether members of the association or not, by Mr. Arthur Billing, 10 Buckingham-street, Strand, and may be consulted any day (except Sunday) between the hours of ten and four.

The meetings take place every Friday evening at Eight p.m., from October to June. Subscriptions, 10s. per annum for Town members, and 5s. per annum for Country members.

ARCHITECTURAL MUSEUM.

The purpose of this Institution is to bring within the reach of our artist-workmen those objects of study which they have not otherwise the means of visiting.

Subscription, One Guinea per Annum. Students, Half-a-Guinea per Annum. Art-workmen, Five Shillings per Annum. Non-professional Donors of Ten Guineas become Life Subscribers. Open every day (excepting Saturday), from Ten till Four.

The British Archæological Association was founded in 1843, with a view to investigate, preserve, and illustrate all ancient monuments of the history, manners, customs, and arts of our forefathers, in furtherance of the principles on which the Society of Antiquaries of London was established; and to aid the objects of that institution, by rendering available resources which had not been drawn upon, and which, indeed, did not come within the scope of any antiquarian or literary society. The principal points in relation to the History and Antiquities of these several places, will be found in the volumes of the Journal for the respective years in which they were visited. The Journals already published, are at the following prices, and may be had of the Treasurer and other Officers of the Association:—Vol. I., 1845-6, £1 11s. 6d. to the members; vols. II., 1846-7, III., 1847-8, IV., 1848-9, V., 1849-50, VI., 1850-1, VII., 1851-2, VIII., 1852-3, IX., 1853-4, X., 1854-5, XI., 1855, XII., 1856, XIII., 1857, £1 11s. 6d. each to the public, and £1 ls. each to the members. Vol. XI. and the subsequent volumes are furnished with double titles, and thus rendered independent of the previous volumes, if so desired, by such as do not possess the complete series. The vols. of Transactions of the Congresses held at Winchester and at Gloucester, to the public £1 11s. 6d., to the members £1 ls.

Persons desirous of becoming members, or of promoting in any way the objects of the Association, are requested to apply either personally or by letter, to the Secretaries; or to the Treasurer, Thomas Joseph Pettigrew, Esq., Onslow-crescent, Brompton, to whom subscriptions, by post-office order or otherwise, should be transmitted. The payment of One Guinea annually is required of the Associates, or Ten Guineas as a life subscription, by which the subscribers are entitled to a copy of the quarterly Journal as published.

EAST INDIA HOUSE LIBRARY AND MUSEUM.

Leadenhall Street.

The Library of the East India Company was established by the Court of Directors about fifty years ago, and after some years a Museum was added to it. The object of the Library is, first, to collect and preserve all printed books relating to India, and the history and administration of the East India Company, and all books upon the different languages current in India, and in the several branches of Oriental Literature, whether printed in this country, in other parts of Europe, or in India; secondly, to collect and preserve manuscripts in the different Oriental languages, Sanscrit, Arabic, Persian, Zend, and in the different dialects of India and the Eastern Archipelago, together with the block-printed books of Tibet and China. Each collection, printed and manuscripts, consists of from 6000 to 8000 volumes.

The Museum also comprehends two principal divisions,—Ethnology and Natural History; in the former are a number of specimens of Hindu sculpture, models, and costumes; in the latter, a very large collection of animals, birds, insects, &c., peculiar to India and the adjacent regions.

The Library and Museum are open at all times to literary and scientific persons, from 10 a.m. till 4 p.m. (Sundays excepted); also to general visitors with Tickets of Admission from a Director or Officer of the Establishment, on Mondays and Thursdays; and on Fridays to all comers, who are admitted without Tickets.

ENTOMOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

12 Bedford Row

President: J. E. Gray, Ph.D., F.R.S. Secs.: E. Shephard and E. W. Janson.

The Entomological Society of London was founded in 1853, with the following intentions:—1st. To form a centre of union for British Entomologists. 2nd. To form a Library of Entomological Books, and a Collection of Insects, for the use and reference of the Members. 3rd. To publish, by means of its transactions, interesting papers on entomology, which, but for this society, would, from the unremunerative nature of such publications, never issue from the press.

Members and Subscribers have the full use of the Society's Collection of Insects and Entomological Library, from which they may borrow books; they may introduce friends to the meetings of the society; and, if residing beyond fifteen miles from London, will be entitled to the transactions as they appear, gratis.

The Meetings are held at 8 p.m. on the first Monday of every month.

Members pay £2 2s. Admission Fee, and £1 1s. a-year Subscription. The Composition in lieu of annual payments is £10 10s. Library and Museum open on Mondays from 2 till 7 o'clock.

ETHNOLOGICAL SOCIETY,

23, Newman-street, Oxford-street.

President: Sir J. Clarke, Bart. Vice-Presidents: the Archbishop of Dublin, Sir B. C. Brodie, Bart., the Earl of Ellesmere, B. Botfield, M.P. Treasurer: F. Hindmarsh. Honorary Secretary: T. Wright. Council: W. F. Ainsworth, Rev. W. Arthur, L. J. Beale, Dr. Beddoe, J. S. Coleman, T. F. Dillon Croker, R. Dunn, R. N. Fowler, Dr. Hodgkin, R. Ingham, M.P., Dr. David King, M. Lewin, J. Mayer, Sir C. Paisley, Prof. Pearson, C. Robert des Ruffières, Rev. E. J. Selwyn, J. J. Stainton, R. Tait, Dr. Tuke, and Dr. Stephen Ward.

This Ethnological Society was founded in 1843, to promote the study of Ethnology. The object of this science is to ascertain the distinguishing characteristics, physical and moral, of the varieties of mankind which now inhabit, and have formerly inhabited, the earth, and to ascertain the causes of such characteristics, in order to determine the relationships of the several varieties of man to each other. The Society has formed a library, which is continually being enriched by the addition of books for the student, and for those who wish to verify the statements of writers on ethnology; and also by philological and other special works, for those engaged in advancing the science. The Society meets during the winter season, from November to June inclusive, for the reading of papers and other communications, and for the discussion of subjects connected with ethnology. The Society has issued several volumes of its journal. Fellows are admitted by ballot. There is no entrance fee, and the annual subscription is 2*l*. Fellows who reside beyond twenty miles from London may claim to be made non-resident Fellows at an annual subscription, during such residence, of one guinea.

Papers read during 1858: Some points of comparison between the Mongolian and European families of mankind, especially in relation to Chinese civilization, by Mr. Beale.

A few hints on Siam, by Mr. Christy.

On the physical characteristics of the natives of some parts of Italy, and of the Austrian dominions, by Dr. Beddoe.

Remarks on the migrations of the human race, by Admiral FitzRoy.

On the frontal view of the skull generally, and particularly on the form of the anterior nasal aperture, as a means of assisting in distinguishing the various races of men, by Dr. Williamson.

Report on the ethnological papers read at the British Association at Leeds, by Mr. Wright.

Observations on the aboriginal inhabitants of Formosa, by Mr. Swinhoe.

A short notice of the people of Oude, and of their leading characteristics, by Mr. Greenhow.

FLAXMAN GALLERY.

University College, Gower Street.—Etab. 1845.

Treasurer: Henry Crabb Robinson, Esq. Hon. Secs.: C. C. Atkinson, E. W. Field, Esqs.

This gallery consists principally of the casts in plaster, from the original models in clay, of groups of figures, statues, and compositions, in alto and basso relievo, as well as many of the noblest productions of the late John Flaxman, the first professor of sculpture in the Royal Academy.

GRAPHIC SOCIETY.

University College, Gower Street.—Instit. 1833.

Treasurer: T. Griffith, Esq. Hon. Sec.: C. C. Atkinson, Esq.

This society consists of painters, sculptors, architects, and engravers, limited in number to one hundred and twenty three artists; and a treasurer and honorary secretary, not artists. From December to May it holds a monthly conversazione, to which numerous distinguished visitors are invited. The meetings take place now at the Flaxman Hall, University College. The nature of the conversazione is thus expressed in the rules of the society:—"That in order to promote the interest and gratification to be derived from the monthly meetings of the society, it is desirable that the members do contribute to the conversazioni any rare and interesting works of art which they may possess, and can conveniently send to the place of meeting—such as drawings, sketches, studies, prints, gems, models, and other objects of virtù and interest; and to ensure a succession of such attractions, a list of the members shall be made out by lot at the beginning of each session, and divided by the number of meetings; and the gentlemen whose names are attached to each night are, particularly upon those evenings, of which they will be reminded during the preceding week, expected to furnish contributions to the interest of the conversazioni." Annual subscription, one guinea.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY OF LONDON.

Established 1804. Incorporated 1809.

President: H.R.H. the Prince Consort, K.G. Treasurer: Wm. W. Saunders, F.R.S. Secretary: Professor Lindley, F.R.S. Assist. Sec., Wm. B. Booth.

Its object is the improvement of Horticulture in all its branches, ornamental as well as useful. The Admission Fee is Two Guineas, and the Annual Subscription Four Guineas, which may be compounded for on payment of Forty Guineas. Ladies are admitted as Fellows, and may vote by proxy at all general meetings of the Society.

The Society has an extensive Garden at Chiswick, the immediate superintendence of which is with a committee nominated by the council. It is open from nine o'clock every day, except Sunday, or other days specially excepted, for the inspection of Fellows of the Society or their wives or sisters, without orders, and for visitors introduced by the Fellows, either personally or by order. From this Garden, seeds, plants, and cuttings, of species not commonly to be had in the Nurseries, are supplied gratuitously to the Fellows of the Society, under the authority of the Garden Committee.

The Society has formed a collection of Drawings of the most approved Fruits and ornamental Plants, kept for the inspection of the Fellows, in the Library, at the Society's House in Regent-Street. The Library consists principally of Books on Subjects relating to Horticulture; it has been formed by purchases and presents, and contains now the most considerable collection of Horticultural Works in the kingdom. Gentlemen possessing books on Horticultural subjects not in the Library, are invited to communicate them to the Collection.

MIDDLESEX ARCHEOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

6 Southampton-street, Covent Garden.

Hon. Secretary : Geo. Bish Webb, Esq.

This Society has for its object the investigation of the History and Antiquities of the Metropolis and Metropolitan County.

METROPOLITAN ASSOCIATION OF MEDICAL OFFICERS OF HEALTH.

This Association was formed in 1856, by the Medical Officers of Health, appointed under the Metropolis Local Management Act, for the purposes of mutual assistance and the advancement of Sanitary Science. The Association is to consist of Ordinary and Honorary Members. All the Medical Officers of Health of the Metropolis are eligible to become Ordinary Members. The entrance fee is one guinea. Honorary Members must be recommended by not less than six members; the election is by ballot, and no one can be declared elected unless four-fifths of the votes recorded be in his favour. The Officers and standing Committees are elected annually. The Ordinary Meetings of the Association are held at the General Board of Health, on the second Wednesday of October, January, April, and July, respectively, at four o'clock. Extraordinary Meetings may be called at any other time by the officers, or on the requisition of any three members.

MUSEUM OF THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF SURGEONS.

Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Hunterian Professor and Conservator : Richard Owen, F.R.S. Assistant Conservator : John T. Quekett. The museum is open to the fellows and members of the College, and to visitors introduced by them personally or by written orders, stating their names (which orders are not transferable), on the public days, which are Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, from twelve to four o'clock; except during the month of September, when the museum is closed.

The museum is likewise open on the public days to fellows and licentiates of the Royal College of Physicians in London, to peers and members of parliament, to the great officers of state and of the royal household and their immediate deputies; to all the dignitaries of the church, and of the law, to general and flag officers, and to the members of all the learned and scientific bodies in the United Kingdom. Also to learned and scientific foreigners, and to the articulated students of the College, on entering their names and ranks or stations in the book provided for that purpose.

Any one desirous of devoting especial study to particular departments of the museum, may have access for that purpose on Fridays, from twelve to four in winter, and from twelve to five in summer, on making a written application to the President.

Microscopic demonstrations are made by the assistant conservator in the theatre of the College every Wednesday, at three o'clock, from the beginning of October until the commencement of the annual course of lectures. The total number of specimens in the museum amounts so near 30,000.

The library is open to members and students of the College, and to visitors having tickets of admission daily (Sundays excepted, and except during the month of September.) from ten till four o'clock during the winter, and from ten till five during the summer.

This Society was instituted for the purpose of promoting the science of Numismatics, particularly by the reading and publication of papers on current discoveries.

NATIONAL INSTITUTION OF FINE ARTS.

Portland Gallery, 316 Regent Street.

President: R. S. Lauder, Esq., R.S.A. Treasurer: J. G. Middleton, Esq. Secretary, Bell Smith, Esq.

This Society was established by a body of Artists for the exhibition and sale of the works of living Painters, &c., the novel feature being that each Artist, by renting space on the walls, secures the privilege of having his pictures placed as he desires, under the following restrictions:—The certainty of having pictures of merit placed on the line, by which they are fairly brought before the public; an advantage which cannot be secured in any other exhibition. This certainty is acquired by the purchase of space on the walls, the charge for which is One Guinea per foot, horizontal measure. The value of line, in all exhibitions, is too well known to require comment, and it is important to know that the purchase of space on the line includes the entire extent of wall from floor to ceiling.

(NEW) SOCIETY OF PAINTERS IN WATER-COLOURS.

The admission of Associates is by ballot, on the nomination of Two Members. There are no Admission Fees of any kind. The days of meeting are on the first Monday in the months of February, May, August, and November. The exhibition opens usually a fortnight before the first Monday in May.

Rules for Admission to the Training School at South Kensington.

This school is established for the purpose of training art masters and mistresses for the United Kingdom; but general students are admitted to the advantages of the school, on payment of commensurate fees. In order to encourage the students in the prosecution of their studies, the following regulations have been adopted:—

1. General students, so long as there is room, are admitted on payment of a fee of 24 for session of five months, for the day and evening; of 12 for the half-day; or of 12 for the evening. The sessions commence on the 1st of March and the 1st of October, and end on the 31st of July and the 28th of February, respectively—see Prospectus.

2. General students who have paid fees for the two sessions, are entitled, on passing the whole of the second grade examinations, to an admission to their class for one year, at a remission of half the usual fee. They are entitled to a continuance of the same privilege for a second year, if they have obtained a maîtrise, or passed during the first year of the remission of the fee, any two of the papers in the first certificate for masters, and, by passing the remaining papers during the second year, they become eligible to the privileges stated in paragraph 3.

3. Other general students who have paid fees are entitled, on passing satisfactory examinations in any three of the subjects of the first certificate, to free admission, which will last for one year, and is renewable, if the first certificate be fully taken within that time. Students will continue free of the school provided a social media is taken annually.

As respects students in training:—4. Students proposing to qualify themselves as teachers of art schools, who are personally eligible, and have given satisfactory proof of the possession of general knowledge, are admitted free upon the submission of works in geometry, perspective free-hand drawing, drawing from nature of plants or foliage, and drawing from models, approved by the head master; or, in lieu of these, some more advanced studies of drawing from the antique, or painting. These students are eligible to receive weekly allowances, according to their progress in the school, and the certificates obtained, of 5s., 10s., 15s., 20s., or 30s., in return for which they have to perform certain duties as teachers, and must engage to accept the situations to which they are recommended.

All personal applications for admission to the school, whether by payment or otherwise, are to be made to the head master. All written communications are to be addressed to the secretary of the Science and Art Department, marked for the head master, South Kensington, London, W.—HENRY COLE, Secretary.

By order of the Committee of Council on Education.

The Royal Geographical Society was founded in the year 1830, and shortly afterwards the African and Palestine Associations were incorporated into it. The objects of the society were at an early period stated to be—1. To collect, register, digest, and print, in a cheap and convenient form, such useful and interesting facts and discoveries as the society might from time to time acquire. 2. To collect a library of geographical works, ancient and modern; voyages and travels; instruments; maps and charts; as well as such documents and materials as might convey the readiest information to persons intending to visit foreign countries, and who might again in their turn there deposit the results of their observations for the benefit of the public. 3. To prepare brief instructions for such as are setting out on their travels, pointing out the parts most desirable to be visited; the best and most practical means of proceeding thither, the researches most essential to make, phenomena to be observed, the subjects of natural history most desirable to be procured, and to obtain all such information as might tend to the extension of our geographical knowledge. 4. To correspond with similar societies in different parts of the world, with foreign individuals engaged in geographical pursuits, and with intelligent British subjects in the various settlements of the empire. 5. To reward with a medal, or otherwise, such individuals as in the opinion of the council had of

SIR JOHN SOANE'S MUSEUM.

13 Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Trustees: John Tidd Pratt, Esq., Sir Charles Barry, R.A., George Jones, Esq., R.A., Philip Hardwick, Esq., R.A. Curator: Geo. Bailey, Esq.

The Museum is open to general visitors on Tuesdays, from the first in February to the last in August; and in the months of April, May, and June, on Thursdays and Fridays, likewise from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M. Persons desirous of obtaining admission to the Museum can apply either to a trustee, by letter to the Curator, or personally at the Museum a day or two before they desire to visit it; in the latter case the applicant is expected to leave a card containing the name and address of the party desiring admission, and the number of persons proposed to be introduced, or the same can be entered in a book kept for the purpose in the Entrance-hall, when—unless there appears to the Curator any satisfactory reasons to the contrary—a card of admission for the next open day is forwarded by post to the given address. Access to the books, drawings, and MSS., or permission to copy pictures or other works of art, is to be obtained by special application to the trustees or the Curator.

Receiver of Subscriptions: Mr. Charles F. Wallis.

This Society was incorporated in 1839, by a Royal Charter granted to several noblemen and gentlemen, for the "Promotion of Botany in all its branches, and its application to Medicine, Arts and Manufactures, and also for the formation of extensive Botanical and Ornamental Gardens within the immediate vicinity of the Metropolis." It is composed of Fellows and Members elected by ballot, and its affairs are managed by a President and Council.

Lectures on Botanical subjects are delivered by eminent professors in the Museum; and to encourage the importation and cultivation of desirable plants and fruits, exhibitions for prizes take place at stated periods during the summer; provision is also made for an extensive display of American and other shrubs, especially rhododendrons and roses, in May and June.

The collection of hardy herbaceous plants consists of about 4,000 species, of which the Medical Garden contains 450. The Arboretum, spread over the garden, includes 1,400 named trees and shrubs, and the hothouses and greenhouses are ornamented with nearly 1,800 species and varieties: but these numbers are daily changing.

All persons elected Fellows pay an admission fee of five guineas and an annual contribution of two guineas, or one sum of twenty guineas, which will include the admission fee, and exempt them from all further contributions; but the wives or the husbands of deceased Fellows, upon being themselves elected Fellows, are exempted from the admission fee.

Fellows are entitled to admit two visitors daily, either personally or by orders, to the gardens. All persons elected members pay a sum of ten guineas, and have personal admission to the gardens, &c., for life.

The gates open at two o'clock on Sundays, Christmas-day, Good-Friday, and the Exhibition days; on ordinary days at nine A.M., or in the months of May, June, and July, at seven A.M., and close on all days at sunset.

Promenades, May 11, 18, June 1, 8, 22, 29, July 13, 20, 27, at half-past 3 o'clock. Lectures, May 20, 27, June 3, 10, 17, 24, July 1, 8, at 3 o'clock. Exhibitions, May 25, June 15, and July 6. American Plants in June.

Each Fellow of the Society is entitled to admission to the promenades, lectures, and exhibitions, also to 20 orders for the admission of as many friends to the promenades, and to purchase, or give orders for the purchase of, tickets for the exhibitions. N.B.—The gardens are closed until two o'clock on the exhibition-days. Last day for privileged tickets, Saturday, May 14.

Walter. Treasurer: Robert Drummond, Esq. Secretary: David Wm. Mitchell, Esq. B.A.

This society was instituted in 1826, under the auspices of Sir Humphrey Davy, Bart., Sir Stamford Raffles, and other eminent individuals, for the advancement of Zoology, and the introduction, exhibition, and acclimatization of subjects of the animal kingdom. During the period which has elapsed since the opening of the gardens in the Regent's Park, in 1828, an immense number of species of Mammalia and birds have been obtained, detailed lists of which are to be found in the successive annual reports. To these there were added in 1849, a collection of reptiles, which has given great facilities to the scientific observer of this class of animals; and more recently, a collection of fish and the lower aquatic animals, both marine and freshwater, has been commenced, which will, it hoped, afford many interesting discoveries in their habits and economy.

Fellows pay an admission fee of Five Pounds, and an annual contribution of Three Pounds, or a composition of Thirty Pounds in lieu thereof; the whole payment, including the admission fee, being Thirty-five Pounds. Annual subscribers pay a contribution of Three Pounds on the 1st of January in every year. Honorary, foreign, and corresponding members pay no contribution. The gardens are open from Nine o'clock a.m. till sunset.

Papers read before the Society from July:

July 27th. Dr. Gray: On a new genus of Lizards (Riama). Dr. Adams: On the Mammals and Birds of India.

Nov. 9th. Mr. Selater: On Birds collected by Mr. Fraser. Mr. Selater: On new species of American Birds. Dr. Hartland: On the genus Eyrthura. Mr. G. Bennett: On Scythrops Noca-Hollandiae. Mr. Hewitson: On New Butterflies. General Perronet Thompson: On Lepidosirens. Mr. Dohrn: On Paludomus. Mr. G. P. G. Smith: On a living Octopus. Dr. Gray: On Dysidepupillota Johnson.

Nov. 23rd. Mr. R. F. Tones: On five species of Bats, from Mr. Dillwyn's collection. Mr. Selater: On new species of Ant-birds. Mr. Selater: On the genus Cichlopsis, of Cabanis. Dr. Wallich: On a new Preservative Process. Mr. Hanley: On a new Cyrena and Bulla. Dr. Baird: Description of Asearis haliehoris, Owen.

Dec. 14. Mr. R. F. Tones. On Bats collected by Mr. Fraser, at Gualaguiza. Mr. Selater. On Birds collected by Mr. Fraser, at Riobamba. Mr. Holdsworth. On Zoanthus Couchii. Mr. Layard: On Testacella.

N.B.—In this List, the Institutions which have agreed to a General Interchange of Privileges are denoted by an asterisk. By means of this organisation and arrangement, a Member of one Institution, when visiting a town in which any other is situated, will be enabled to enjoy at that other, for the time being, all the advantages of membership. Any person wishing to avail himself of this privilege, needs only to present his Card of Membership, it being understood that he will abide by the Bye-Laws of the particular Institution he may visit, as well in regard to the time to which this privilege may be extended as to all other matters.

BUCKS AND BERKS LECTURES ASSOCIATION.

For the promotion, especially in country villages, of lectures, libraries, and reading rooms; in union with the Society of Arts.

PATRON: H. R. H. The Prince Consort. Committee: The Hon. and Very Rev. the Dean of Windsor, the Hon. and Rev. Lord Wriothley Russell, Rev. R. P. Bent, Lecture Secretary, Rev. T. T. Carter, Rev. H. Ellison, Rev. C. D. Goldie, Rev. E. Hale, Secretary, Rev. H. Hawtrev, W. Johnson, Esq., Rev. C. K. Paul, C. T. Phillips, Esq., Treasurer, T. H. Stevens, Esq., Rev. W. C. Bromehedge, Secretary.

The fourth annual report of this Association says, that there are now in connection with the Association six institutes (Windsor, Staines, Slough, Beaconsfield, Amersham, and Chesham,) twelve reading rooms and libraries, (Burnham, Maidenhead, Colnbrook, Eton, Cookham, Chalvey, Cumberland Lodge, Taplow, Windsor, Working Men's Association, Wooburn, Clewer, Clewer-Road,) and five class rooms, (Braeknell, Cranbourn, Clewer-Road, Shaw Farm, and Windsor night schools). The stock of books belonging to the Association has lately been increased by a munificent gift of 100 vols. from C. Knight, Esq., and a grant has also been made by the Pure Literature Society, (9, John-street, Adelphi,) to meet an outlay of £5 by this Association. Two new boxes of books will by this means be added to those now in hand, making the total number eleven.

The distribution of the prizes offered last year is as follows:—1. The gratuity of £2 to the Institute with the greatest number of pupils in proportion to the number of members. Awarded to the Slough Institute. 2. The gratuity of £2 for the best kept register of a night school or evening class. Awarded to Edwin Ashton, Cranbourn. 3. The present of books, value £1, to the pupil who has been most regular in his attendance. Awarded to Robert White, Ascot Heath night school.

An examination was held in the Windsor Institute, (kindly lent for the occasion,) in April, 1858. Eleven candidates presented themselves. The examiners were the Rev. Stephen Hawtrev, M.A.,

Mathematics; Rev. W. Mason Fenn, B.A., English History; Captain Wilson, R.N., Geography; and the Rev. W. C. Bromhead, M.A., English Grammar and Dictation. The prizes were awarded as follows:—1. £2 to Henry Sharp, Windsor. 2. £1, 10s. to David Dow, Shaw Farm. 10s. to Edward Dalton, Cranbourn night school. The merits of David Dow and Edward Dalton, being considered equal, the 2nd prize is divided equally between them. 3. £1 for an architectural drawing, to George Dowall, Slough Institute. 4. £1 for an abstract of a lecture, to Henry Sharp, Windsor

Institute. 5. £1 for an original essay, not awarded. 6. £1 for improvement in writing, to J. Eakland, Shaw Farm. 7. £1 for arithmetic, first four rules, to J. Bateman, Clewer-Green. 8. £1 for reading, confined to scholars of night schools, to D. Dow, Shaw Farm. It is proposed in the coming year, to offer the above prizes again, together with a prize of £1 for practical geometry, and two prizes of £1 each for drawing (1) from casts, and (2) from copies in outline. A prize of £1 is also offered for French.

ITINERARY LIBRARIES.

It appears from the "Blue Book" on Parliamentary Papers, 1852, that the first attempt to introduce the economical principle of Itinerary Libraries was in 1850, among the stations of the Caledonian Railway, by Mr. Richard Abbott, the auditor of the company, which merged into a general library in Glasgow for the railway servants. In March, 1851, the United Villages Itinerary Library was established in Cumberland, by Mr. George Moore, Mr. John P. Foster, and Mr. Robert Abbott. The villages are nine in number, viz.: Ireby, Torpenhow, Bothel, Mealsgate, Crookdake, Bolton Low Houses, Sandale, Boltongate, and Uldale. At each village a librarian is appointed to lend out the books to subscribers who pay 1s. a year. The books in the cases are removed by a messenger (who is the only person paid), from station to station, and a case of new books introduced into circulation every six weeks. The book-cases circulate in this direction, Ireby, Torpenhow, Bothel, &c., placed according to their locality; but the new cases are given out in the following order—this constitutes the mathematical principle which makes the working perfect: 1. Ireby; 2. Bolton Low Houses; 3. Torpenhow; 4. Sandale; 5. Bothel; 6. Bolton Gate; 7. Mealsgate; 8. Uldale; 9. Crookdake. By this arrangement the following conditions are perpetuated:—

1. Each village station receives a case of fresh books every six weeks.
2. All the stations are on a score of perfect equality as to priority in receiving the new books.
3. No station can have a superfluity, and none a deficiency of books.

The number of stations or villages make no difference in the expense for books. All the villages in a county when once introduced into the circuit, could be kept reading by the same expense as is incurred by these nine villages. For an account of the formation and working of this Itinerary Library, see the "Blue Book" above referred to.

Since the formation of the above Itinerating Library, many others have been started in Yorkshire and other northern counties, and we see from the Report of the Yorkshire Union of Mechanics' Institutes, that they are working satisfactorily.

HINTS TO PERSONS WISHING TO ESTABLISH A MECHANICS' INSTITUTE FOR A SMALL TOWN OR VILLAGE.

THE following brief description of the principal features of a Mechanics' Institute for a small town or village is published with the object of supplying hints for their formation and management.

The building should comprise a library and committee-room, a commodious reading and news-room, and at least two class-rooms. For lectures, the use of a national school-room can in most instances be obtained. The advantages offered to the Members should be a well selected Library of at least 300 volumes, a Reading and News-room, Classes for mutual improvement and for elementary instruction. Female classes for Reading, Writing, and Plain Needlework, a Class for the practice of Choral Singing, and occasional Lectures of a popular character on literature, science, music, &c.

SUBSCRIPTIONS.—Members paying 21s. a year, should be entitled to all the advantages of the Institution, with the privilege of nominating two pupils to the Elementary Classes, on the payment of one penny a week. Members paying 10s. 6d. a year, or 3s. a quarter, should have the privilege of nominating one pupil of the Elementary Classes. Pupils of Classes should pay not less than 3d. a week for males, and 2d. for females, with all the privileges of the Institute but the Reading-room during class hours. All weekly Members should pay an entrance fee of 6d. The Secretary or Librarian should attend one, or if possible, two evenings in the week, to receive subscriptions and exchange books from the Library.

THE READING AND NEWS-ROOM should be supplied with one daily, one weekly, and one or more local newspaper, with a number of cheap periodicals of good moral character, with, if possible, some of the magazines. The expense of newspapers may be considerably reduced by the resale of them. The periodicals, if bound, will form useful additions to the Library.

THE ELEMENTARY CLASSES should meet on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays, and be under the management of a competent paid Teacher, with unpaid Assistants. Wednesdays should be devoted to female classes, and Saturdays to Vocal Music. In the female classes, instruction in plain needlework should be accompanied with reading aloud to the pupils. Cheap materials may be supplied, and the garments made be sold at prime cost.

MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT CLASSES should meet in the second class-room, and the subjects selected for study should be such as would qualify the students for the Examinations of the Society of Arts.

AN ANNUAL SOIRÉE should be held some time in Autumn, at which Tea, &c. should be provided at a moderate charge, and the entertainment should comprise Musical performances, and addresses in advocacy of the claims of the Institute to public support. This should be followed immediately by the appointment of small Sub-Committees and an active canvass of the locality, with the services of a Collector who should be paid a commission on his receipts.

THE ANNUAL MEETING should be held early in the year—say in February or March, when the Report of the Committee showing the progress of the Institute during the past year, and the Treasurer's account of receipts and payments, should be presented. The Officers for the ensuing year should be elected, and other business transacted as may be required.

THE COMMITTEE of management should meet at least once a month, to arrange for Lectures, &c., make orders on the Treasurer for payments, and transact such other business as may be required.

All receipts from whatever source should pass through the hands of the Secretary, and by him be paid to the Treasurer once a-week.

Donations may be expended in the increase of the Library, except such as may be especially intended for the erection of a Building or other specific purpose.

An examination of the pupils of Evening Classes should be held once a year, towards the close of the Winter season, and small prizes may be awarded to the most deserving.

It may be interesting to state that a building to consist of a spacious Lecture room, a commodious Reading-room, a Library and Committee-room, three Class-rooms, with a living and bed-room for the housekeeper, approached by separate entrances, may be erected for about £500, exclusive of the cost of the site.

In order to facilitate the keeping of accounts of weekly receipts, and to diminish the labours of the Secretary or Librarian, a book should be kept containing the names of the members with consecutive numbers, and ruled with 52 columns, one for each week in the year. Each payment should be entered in pence, in the column of the week, against the name and number of the member paying. The addition of each column will show that week's receipts, and the addition of each horizontal line will show the amount paid by each member.

Each of the weekly paying members should be furnished with a card, to contain his name and number, with the name of the Institution, and date of the year. It should be divided by lines into squares, representing the several weeks of the year, and every payment should be entered on the corresponding square of the card.

CONDITIONS ESSENTIAL TO THE ATTAINMENT OF A PROSPEROUS MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

1. ACCOMMODATION, &c.—That its hall or local habitation be central, easy of access, commodious, cheerful, and, if possible, attractive in its external and internal appearance. The usefulness of many Institutions is contracted from the want of an adequate building for carrying their objects properly into effect. Again, undue importance is often attached to a room of large dimensions, obviously unsuited for transacting, without confusion, several parts of the business concurrently; whereas smaller rooms admit of each being appropriated and adapted to a specific purpose. When the use of a school-room is granted for the meetings of a Society, it is still generally desirable to have good permanent accommodation for the Library and Reading-rooms, the School-room being used for Classes and Lectures. A suitable building is of so much importance, that it would be well in every Institute unprovided with one, to keep it in view, by the appointment of a competent standing Committee, to make inquiries and select the more essential points of construction and cost, so as to give a definite aim to any canvass for subscriptions or shares set on foot to procure a building.

2. LIBRARY.—The purchase of books often takes place without any well-considered plan. This should be avoided, as it is of the utmost importance that the funds laid out for this purpose should be so employed as to be of the greatest service. The best mode of securing this will be by exercising a little foresight; first, by estimating at the commencement of the year the money which can be spared for books, and expending this in periodical sums; being also provided with a carefully-prepared list of works from which the selection may be made, according to their cost or importance. It is desirable that a fair proportion of any funds should be laid out on works possessing the freshness of modern interest. All books should be catalogued without delay, and should lie on the Reading-room table for a few weeks after they are purchased. A sheet of the recent additions, plainly written, should be placed conspicuously in the Reading-room. The catalogues should, in all cases, be classified into subjects, the sub-divisions being arranged in the alphabetical order of the authors' names. As it will often happen that many useful works are but little known, it will be found beneficial, especially in small institutions, to have 20 or 30 volumes on the Reading-room table, to remain for a month, and then be exchanged for a like number of others. The facility and frequency with which books may be exchanged should be as great as possible; the supply of new books regular (proportioned, of course, in amount to the funds of the society), and their character adapted to the wants, tastes, and pursuits of the members.

3. READING-ROOM.—The utility of many institutions, especially of the smaller class, is impaired from the neglect of attention to the cleanliness and general comfort of the Reading-room. It should be open every evening, or all day when the funds admit, and furnished with the best periodical works.

4. CLASSES.—That classes for Writing, Arithmetic, including its higher branches, Mechanics and Architectural Drawing, Chemistry, and specially for such other subjects as will be of direct utility to the working population of the locality in which the Institute is situate, be formed under competent masters, and assemble sufficiently often to pursue with effect the study of the respective subjects. Next to the competency of the teachers, their punctuality of attendance is of the highest importance; irregularity in this particular, besides disappointing and disheartening the pupils, will often induce in them careless and inattentive habits. A sub-committee, or even a single member of a committee, should in all cases be appointed to watch over the operations of this department. A mutual Instruction Class should be formed, for the production and reading of essays on literary and scientific subjects, and discussion on the same, as a stimulus to careful, exact, and methodical study, and to the correct and ready expression of thought.

5. LECTURES.—That attractive Lectures on popular subjects be given from time to time, so as to keep up a lively interest in the members, to relieve the tedium of regular study, and to attract public attention, thereby gaining a constant accession of fresh subscribers. The chief points requiring attention with regard to lectures are, the taking care that they are of a kind likely to be instructive and lead to further inquiry; and that instead of being scattered about the year at uncertain intervals, as far as practicable they should be periodical, and that a list be prepared and printed at the commencement of a year or half-year. Generally it is better to have a few lectures well selected, and delivered at suitable periods, than a larger number taken without regard to these considerations.

6. OFFICERS, COMMITTEES, &c.—That the general management of the Institution be as popular, that is, as much in the hands of the bulk of the members, as is consistent with the amount of their general knowledge, and their ability for conducting its affairs. The capabilities of many Institutions are but imperfectly developed, from a deficiency of the time, attention, and labour bestowed by honorary officers. Generally such parties are both zealous and diligent in the fulfilment of their duties; but subject, as they are, to other and more pressing claims, they are but too frequently of necessity irregular in their attendance, or are compelled to forego the carrying into effect valuable expansions of the principle of an Institution, because they feel their inability to do justice to it. It appears desirable in all cases to engage the services of a person to take charge of books, and to attend at prescribed hours for their issue and return, and to see that the reading-room is comfortable; and it is also worthy of consideration, whether the duties may not be distributed so that several members of the committee may assist the honorary secretaries by attending to departments, such as the library, the selection of books, the superintendence of the classes, and the lectures. The selection of subscriptions is also of great importance. Besides aiding in the maintenance of the income, it affords a ready means of ascertaining the wishes of members.

7. PUBLICITY, &c.—Committees of most institutions would do well to place the whole of the advantages offered to their members in print, and in such a form that the prospectus may be freely distributed; in many towns the institutions are really less known than the committee and members suppose. Any prospectus should at least set forth terms of membership, place, hours of attendance, and, above all, how the admission of new members is effected. A yearly canvass should be made throughout the whole district for new members.

8. FINANCES, NUMBER OF MEMBERS, &c.—That the terms be the lowest sum compatible with the efficiency of the teachers employed by the institute, the convenience and comfort of its local habitation, and the completeness and utility of its library, but not so low as to produce inefficiency or debt. The first thing to be attended to is the taking all available legitimate means of keeping up and increasing the income. The next will be the making a careful detailed estimate of receipt and expenditure for the year, and in the apportionment of the latter, to do so with the most careful attention to permanent as well as immediate advantage. In computing the number of members, it is well to record in any yearly summary the total number who have belonged to the institution during the year, the average number, and the number at the close of the year. In many instances it is worthy of consideration whether advantage may not be derived from taking subscriptions in monthly or even weekly payments; but as this manifestly increases the trouble of collecting, and may encourage instability among the members, it should be adopted cautiously. In the case of a serious reduction in numbers, it is well to have the cause searchingly sought for, in order that, if possible, a prompt and efficient remedy may be applied. As members fall off from town institutes in summer, it is worthy of consideration whether some variety in the attractions could not be introduced, and whether other suitable changes might not be made,—such as the hours of pupils' attendance and the subjects taught.

9. SECURITY OF PROPERTY.—Every Institute should invest its Property in Trustees, and its rules declare what should be done with its property in case of dissolution of a Society. The following may serve as a form:

The property of the Institution shall be vested for the use and benefit of the Members and Subscribers in the following Trustees

When the number of Trustees shall be reduced so as not to exceed the vacancies shall be filled up by new Trustees, named and appointed by the Members in General Meeting assembled, so as to make up the number of Trustees in the whole; none but Members are eligible for Trustees.

The property of the Society shall not be alienated or disposed of, unless with the consent of three-fourths of the Members assembled at a Public Meeting convened by notice in the Reading-room or Library of the Institution, and by advertisement in the papers,—the said notice being signed by not less than one-fourth of the existing Members, and published one month before the day of Meeting. Nor shall the property be alienated, or the funds arising from its sale be disposed of, except to such Institutions connected with education as the members so assembled shall think fit. Neither shall any dividend, gifts, division, or bonus in money be made unto or between any of the Members or Subscribers of the Institution.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT IN DIFFERENT COUNTRIES.

THE present laws respecting the duration of copyright in the various European nations are as follows:—In our own country, the copyright lasts forty-two years absolutely, for the author's life, and seven years after his death. In Greece and in Sardinia it lasts only fifteen years from the date of publication. In the Roman States it extends to twelve years after the author's death. In Russia it lasts for twenty-five years after the author's death, and for ten years more if a new edition has been published in the last five years of the first term. In Belgium and Sweden it lasts twenty years after the author's death, with a provision, in Sweden, that should the representative of the author neglect to continue the publication, the copyright falls to the state. In France it lasts for the benefit of children or widow (that is, to the widow if she be what is called in France, en communauté de biens, a peculiar arrangement in French marriage settlements, which establishes between husband and wife a perfect community in each other's property) thirty years after the author's death, but to other representatives only ten years. In Spain it lasts fifty years, reckoning from the author's death. In Austria, Bavaria, Portugal, Prussia, Saxony, the Kingdom of the Two Sicilies, Wurtemberg, and the States of the Germanic Confederation, it lasts thirty years from the author's death, to all his heirs and assigns without distinction; and in Denmark, till so recently as 1858, it lasted an indefinite period, provided the work was kept in print; now, however, it is restricted to a period of thirty years after the author's death, with a provision that republication by others is permitted when five years have elapsed in which a work has been out of print. In the United States copyright lasts for twenty-eight years, and an extension of fourteen years is granted to the author, if he lives, or to his widow, children, and grandchildren. With regard to lectures, sermons, &c., the law of France appears to be that professors and preachers have the sole right of reproducing their lectures and sermons in print, but that advocates and political speakers, while they alone have the right to publish their speeches in a collective or separate form, cannot prevent their being published in the journals of the time as news. A knowledge of these facts will prove of great assistance to all who may have to discuss or consider the subject of international copyright. The general inference to be drawn from them is that all countries appear, by their various restrictions in time, to consider that there is no inalienable or perpetual right of property in the productions of the brain.—The Publishers' Circular.

COPYRIGHT IN ENGLAND.

A work published during an author's life-time is copyright for forty-two years, or until his death and for seven years after,—unless the total number of years previously amount to forty-two. The copyright of a book published after the death of an author lasts for forty-two years from the date of the first publication. A book first published abroad has no copyright here; but if the work is simultaneously produced in England and abroad, the copyright is secured in each case. A printed notice, stating "the author reserves to himself the right of translation," will secure this privilege for twelve months, after which the right will expire.

Five copies of every work are required by law to be sent for the use of the British Museum and the Universities. A charge of five shillings is incurred at Stationers' Hall for registration, but the omission to register does not affect the copyright of the book, but in case of infringement it gives the right to sue for prohibition or damages.

LITERARY AND ARTISTIC COPYRIGHT CONGRESS AT BRUSSELS.

Formerly Belgians enjoyed the unenviable notoriety of being amongst the greatest freebooters of whom alien authors and artists had to complain. The piracy of foreign literary and artistic productions was then considered to be a perfectly legitimate branch of Belgian industry on the part of those who were interested in upholding so manifest an injustice. Happily the good sense and honesty of the Belgian nation at length prevailed, and in 1852 the Government commenced the termination of a state of things so disgraceful to the country, by entering into international treaties with foreign states for the mutual protection of copyright works.

This noble reform so recently, yet happily commenced, has been further promoted by M. Charles Faider, formerly Minister of Justice, and a most distinguished advocate, together with a number of other Belgian gentlemen of high position and influence. These parties, actuated by motives which do them eternal honour, proposed and succeeded in forming a Congress at Brussels of distinguished men of all countries interested in the production of original literary and artistic works. A programme of the subjects for discussion was issued, and persons and societies connected with literature and art were invited to assist at the meeting of the congress if possible, and, if not, to state their views by letter to the secretary upon the subjects proposed for discussion.

The Congress was opened on the 27th September, under the presidency of M. Charles Faider. Upwards of 500 letters were received from private individuals and societies, expressing their approval of the objects of the Congress. About 250 persons attended at the meeting of the Congress, and took part in the proceedings. Germany, England, Belgium, Denmark, Spain, the United States, France, Italy, the Low Countries, Portugal, Russia, Sweden and Norway, and Switzerland, were all represented.

The members of the Congress were then divided into five committees, for the purpose of considering and debating the several subjects for their decision. All these committees, except the second, terminated their deliberations on the 27th September. Those of the second committee extended over all the four days during which the Congress continued, that is, to the 30th.

Each committee having made its report to the general meeting of the Congress, such reports were then read and discussed.

His Majesty the King of the Belgians and the Royal Princes took great interest in the objects of the Congress, honouring the meetings with their presence during the debates, and subsequently receiving the members at the palace. The following are the RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY THE CONGRESS.

I. Questions relating to an international recognition of Literary and Artistic Property.

1. The Congress considers that the principle of an international recognition of property in works of literature and art, in favour of their authors, ought to take a place in the legislation of all civilized nations.

2. This principle ought to be admitted from country to country, even in the absence of reciprocity.

3. Foreign authors ought to be placed upon exactly the same footing as native authors.

4. There is no reason for requiring foreign authors to conform to particular formalities in order to be qualified to claim the right of property. In order to obtain the right, it ought to be sufficient that they should have complied with the formalities required by the law of the country where the original publication first appeared.

5. It is desirable that all countries should adopt, for property in works of literature and art, a legislation resting upon a uniform basis.

II. Questions relating to property in works of Literature and Art in general.

1. Authors of works of literature and art ought to enjoy, during their whole life, the exclusive right of publishing and reproducing their works, of selling them, of causing them to be sold or distributing them, and of giving up altogether or partially their property in them, or their right of reproduction.

The survivor of husband and wife ought to retain the same rights equally for life, and the persona representatives of, or other the person entitled through the author, ought to enjoy them for fifty years, commencing either from the death of the author, or from the cessation of the widow's rights, as the case may be.

2. In the applicability of these rights, there is no ground for drawing any distinction between different categories of works of literature and art, literary or musical compositions, or productions of arts of design.

There is no distinction to make between works appearing under a false name, and works published under the true name of the author.

Neither should the duration of rights be made to depend upon the condition of the persons entitled, whether children, personal representatives, or assignees.

3. The right of the first editor over an anonymous work ought to endure for thirty years, commencing from publication.

If the author makes himself known before the expiration of the term fixed by law, he ought to have the same rights which would have belonged to him if the work had originally appeared under his name.

4. With reference to posthumous works, if the rights of the author's widow, and of his personal representatives, or the persons entitled are not extinguished, the posthumous work ought to belong to them during a period equal to that which is allowed them by law.

If these rights are extinguished, the owner of a posthumous work ought to have an exclusive right to endure for thirty years, commencing from publication.

5. The exclusive right of the author should be guaranteed for publishing public lectures, sermons, and other discourses delivered in public, which cannot be published separately or in the body of a work without the consent of the authors or of their representatives. With regard to addresses by advocates in courts of law, and speeches made in political assemblies, this consent ought only to be necessary for their publication in a collection of the speaker's works.

6. The right of the author over the reproduction of his original work, ought to carry with it the right of translation, subject to the following restriction:—The author should have for ten years, commencing from publication of the translation, the exclusive right of translating, or causing to be translated, his work into all languages, on condition of exercising this right before the expiration of the third year from the publication of the original work. If, at the expiration of the third year, the author has not availed himself of this right, everybody should have the power of exercising it concurrently, except in the country where the work originally appeared. After the expiration of the ten years, although the author may have availed himself of his right, everybody should have the power of translating the original work, and of selling it in all countries except in that where it originally appeared.

7. There is no reason for subjecting authors of works of literature or of art to certain formalities according to their right. If some particular formalities may be of use, whether as a measure of administration and of regularity, or whether as a means of establishing and proving the right of property; if it is expedient to ensure the observance of these formalities by any sort of sanction, their non-observance cannot and ought not to involve a forfeiture of the right. It is important to render these formalities as simple as possible. Registration, and the depositing of one, or more copies of the work in the hands of a public functionary appointed for that purpose, seem to be the most advantageous method.

III. Questions relating to the Representation and Execution of Dramatic and Musical Works.

1. The right of representation of dramatic or musical works ought to be independent of the exclusive right of reproduction.

2. There is no reason for drawing any distinction between the two rights with regard to the duration of their enjoyment.

3. The right of property in musical compositions ought to be a barrier to the execution in public of every part of the musical work, without the consent of the composer, whatever the importance of the work may be, and whatever the mode of execution. But, where no pecuniary advantage is joined with interest in Art, the composer's right ought to be asserted for the purpose of throwing impediments in the way of concerts, whether private or public.

4. The right of property in musical compositions ought to include the right of composing arrangements founded upon the subjects (motifs) of the original work.

IV. Questions relating to Works of Design.

1. The author of a drawing, a picture, a work of sculpture, or architecture, or of any other artistic work, ought to have the right of reproducing it, or of authorising its reproduction, by a similar or distinct method in art, and upon either an analogous or a different scale.

2. The unauthorised reproducer ought to be liable to the penalties of piracy when there is usurpation of name, without prejudice to the penalties incurred by a forger, if the piracy amounts to an imitation of signature.

3. The right of property in original designs ought also to embrace the applications which may be made of those designs for industrial purposes.

4. Particular formalities ought not to be required for works of art, any more than for literary productions, as an absolute condition for acquiring and preserving property in them. Nevertheless, as in one case, so in the other, some formalities may be desirable as a measure of regularity, and for facilitating the proper exercise of the right. The works might be registered, and the certificate of registration, which would be delivered to the artist, would permit him to prove the authenticity of the work, whether it be in his own possession or in that of his grantees, and, if it should so happen, the authenticity of copies also.

V. Questions upon the Economy of the Subject.

The Congress desires :—

1. The abolition of duties on books and works of art, or, at least, the reduction of those duties to the most moderate rate, and their simplification so far as the tariff establishes different duties by category for literary productions.

2. The power of re-entry free of duty for works sent abroad on commission and not sold.

3. The diminution of the postal taxes to the utmost possible extent on all the routes, and the increase of facilities for the despatch and circulation of printed works, of engravings, and other articles capable of being despatched by post.

4. The assimilation of proofs, with corrections to the final impressions, in the countries where the regulations establish a difference.

5. The suppression of all the formalities which shackle the book trade.

These resolutions, emanating as they do from the distinguished body of men of all nations who passed them, form a new era in the history of legislation affecting property in original works of literature and of art. However, anyone acquainted with the subject may differ from the Congress upon some of the minor points included in the resolutions, it is surely impossible for anyone to differ from those involving the great point of international protection for copyright works.

Authors of literary and artistic productions are deeply indebted to the Congress for their important labours, and authors will best repay that debt by exerting themselves to the utmost to promote and carry out the chief reforms suggested by the Congress.

INSTITUTION OF CIVIL ENGINEERS.

THE MEDALS AND PRIZES

Awarded by the Institution of Civil Engineers for the best papers in 1858, and subjects for premiums for 1859.

1. A Telford medal, to James Atkinson Longridge, M. Inst. C.E., and a Council premium of books, to Charles Henry Brooks, for their paper, On submerging Telegraphic Cables.

2. A Telford medal, to George Robertson, Assoc. Inst. C.E., for his paper, An Investigation into the Theory and Practice of Hydraulic Mortar.

3. A Telford medal, to James Henderson, Assoc. Inst. C.E., for his paper, On the methods generally employed in Cornwall in dressing Tin and Copper Ores.

4. A Telford medal, to Robert Jacob Hood, M. Inst. C.E., for his paper, On the Arrangement and Construction of Railway Stations.

5. A Telford medal, to Major-General George Borlase Tremehere, Assoc. Inst. C.E., for his paper, On Public Works in the Bengal Presidency.

6. A Telford medal, to Alfred Giles, M. Inst. C.E., for his paper, On the Construction of the Southampton Docks.

7. A Watt medal, and the Manby premium, in books, to Guildford Lindsay Molesworth, Assoc. Inst. C.E., for his paper, On the Conversion of Wood by Machinery.

8. A Watt medal, to Thomas Spencer Sawyer, for his paper, On the principal Self-acting and other Tools employed in the Manufacture of Engines, Steam Boilers, &c.

9. A Council premium of books, to Frederick

Charles Webb, Assoc. Inst. C.E., for his paper, On the Practical Operations connected with Paying out and repairing Submarine Telegraph Cables.

10. A Council premium of books, to Henry Conybeare, M. Inst. C.E., for his paper, Description of Works recently executed for the Water supply of Bombay, in the East Indies.

11. A Council premium of books, to Samuel Alfred Varley, for his paper, On the Qualifications requisite in a Submarine Cable for most efficiently transmitting Messages between distant Stations.

12. A Council premium of books, to Richard Carden Despard, for his paper, Description of Improvements on the Second Division of the River Lea, with Remarks on the Position of Canals generally.

13. A Council premium of books, to Alexander Wright, Assoc. Inst. C.E., for his paper, On lighting Mines by Gas.

14. A Council premium of books, to James Brunlees, M. Inst. C.E., for his description of the Iron Viaducts erected across the Estuaries of the Leven and Kent, in Morecambe Bay, for the Ulverstone and Lancaster Railway.

SUBJECTS FOR PREMIUMS—SESSION 1859.

The Council invite communications on the following, as well as other subjects, for premiums:—

1. A Review of the plans which have been proposed at different times for the embankment of the river Thames.

2. On the principles upon which the works for the improvement of river navigation should be conducted, and the effects of the works upon the drainage and irrigation of the district; including accounts of the systems of moveable dams ("Barrages Mobiles") in rivers on the Continent.

3. On the effect of engineering works in causing injurious scour, flooding, or silting-up, in tidal estuaries or rivers.

4. The inundations of the Rhone and the Saone in the year 1856, the causes to which they may be attributed, and the means for averting their recurrence.

5. On the main natural and artificial drains of the country, the extent to which they have been affected by the increasing amount of agricultural land drainage, and the general influence upon the main river outfalls. [ries.

6. On reclaiming land from seas and estuaries.
7. On the results of the employment of steam-tugs on canals, and of other measures for the improvement of canals as a means of conveyance for heavy traffic.

8. On the methods of constructing foundations for large structures in deep water.

9. The history and practical results of timber and iron piling, for foundations or other purposes, and for wharf and dock walls; with notices of the mechanism employed in driving, and of other modes of inserting the piles.

10. On raising submerged vessels, and on submarine operations by means of diving, or other apparatus.

11. Description of cast or wrought iron cranes, scaffolding, and machinery, employed in large works, in stone quarries, hoists, or lifts on quays, in warehouses, etc., especially where either steam or water is used as a motive power.

12. On the results of experiments on the crushing weights of different materials, particularly as to the resisting powers of rubble masonry, set in different limes and cements.

13. The selection of sites for the construction of docks on the course of tidal streams, with reference to communication with railways and with inland navigation.

14. The selection of sites for, and the principles of, the construction of breakwaters, harbours of refuge, piers, moles (whether solid or on arches), sea walls, and shore defences; illustrated by examples of known constructions.

15. The construction of lighthouses, their machinery and lighting apparatus; with notices of the methods in use for distinguishing the different lights.

16. On the mechanical methods of boring and of sinking large shafts, of introducing the tubbing and the impervious lining, and of traversing running sand and other difficult strata.

17. The results of contrivances for facilitating the driving of tunnels or drifts in rock.

18. The results of a series of observations on the flow of water from the ground, in any large district; with accurately recorded rain-gauge registries in the same locality, for a period of not less than twelve months.

19. On the construction of catch-water reservoirs in mountain districts for the supply of towns or for manufacturing purposes.

20. Accounts of existing water-works, showing the methods of supply, the distribution throughout the streets of towns, and the general practical results.

21. The comparative duty performed by, and improvements in the construction of, modern pumping engines for raising water for the supply of towns, or for the drainage of mines; noticing in the latter cases the depth and length of the underground workings, the height of the surface above the sea, the geological formation, the contiguity of streams, &c.

22. The results of the use of bucket and rotary pumps, for lifting large quantities of water to a limited height; as at the Haarlem Meer, or at Whittesca Mere, with descriptions of the machinery employed, and the application of such machinery to the raising of the sewage of large towns.

23. On the methods in use in various countries for raising water for the purposes of irrigation.

24. The drainage and sewerage of large towns; exemplified by accounts of the system at present pursued with regard to the level and position of the outfall, the form, dimensions, and material of the sewers, the prevention of emanations from them, the arrangements for connecting the house drains with the public sewers, and the disposal of the sewage, whether in a liquid form, as irrigation, or in a solid form after deodorisation.

25. On boiler inspection as practised in this country and on the Continent, with remarks as to the comparative merits of the two systems.

26. On the most recent systems of smoke prevention, in stationary, marine, and locomotive boilers; and a discussion of the existing difficulties.

27. On the causes of the alleged failure in economising fuel in working steam expansively, and the probable conditions for insuring success.

28. A practical exposition of the doctrine of the mechanical equivalence of heat.

29. On the results of the use of superheated steam.

30. On substitutes for steam, and the causes of their failure.

31. On the results of the use of tubular boilers, and of steam at an increased pressure, for marine and other engines, noticing particularly the difference in weight and in speed, in proportion to the horse power and the tonnage.

32. On the best methods of reducing the temperature of the engine and boiler-room of steam vessels, and of preventing the danger arising from the over-heating of the base of the funnel.

33. The substitution of machinery for manual labour, for raising, lowering, and reefing the sails, weighing the anchor, &c., on board ship.

34. On steam vessels of light draught for the shallow rivers of India, &c.

35. On the form and materials for floating batteries ("Vaisseau bélier"), and the points requiring attention in their construction.

36. On the ascertained duration and other qualities of the numerous systems of permanent way in use in England and in other countries, with their original cost and expense of maintenance.

37. Improvements in the construction of railway carriages and waggons, with a view to the reduction of the gross weight of passenger trains; also of railway wheels, axles, bearings, axle-boxes and breaks, and of bearing, traction, and buffer springs; treating particularly their ascertained duration and their relative friction.

38. Descriptions of the various kinds of machinery in use in the principal shipping ports, for the shipment of coal; noticing particularly those in which the greatest expedition is combined with the least amount of breakage of the coal; and also accounts of the means of unshipping and measuring or weighing the coal, on its arrival in port.

39. On the means of utilizing the products of the distillation of coal, so as to make coke commercially as cheap as coal; with descriptions of the ovens, and of the best processes used in Great Britain and on the Continent in the manufacture of coke.

40. The precautions adopted for guarding against accidents by fire-damp and after-damp in mines.

41. The most effective arrangement and form of centrifugal and reciprocating blowing apparatus.

42. The chemical analysis, and the application to economic purposes, of the gases generated in iron blast furnaces.

43. Description of modifications of the present systems of smelting iron ores, of improvements in the conversion of cast iron into the malleable state, and of the manufacture of iron generally, comprising the distribution and management of iron works.

44. An investigation of the causes of "red" and of "cold-shortness" in malleable iron, and other chemical characteristics which affect the physical properties of cast or of wrought iron.

43. On flaws in boiler plates and forgings of large dimensions, with suggestions for diminishing the liability of their recurrence.

46. Improvements in the manufacture of iron for rails and wheel tyres, having special reference to the increased capability of resisting lamination and abrasion; and accounts of the machinery required for rolling heavy rails, shafts, and bars of iron of large sectional area.

47. On the use of steel bars and plates in engine work and machinery for boilers and for ship-building.

48. The process of manufacture, and mode of treatment of aluminium.

49. On the importance of balancing the rotating or alternating parts of machinery.

50. On the forms and dimensions of journals of machine-shafts, axles, &c., with the best composition for the linings of bearings, and the most approved methods of lubricating.

51. On the mechanism of astronomical instruments, with suggestions for its improvement.

52. On machinery adapted for the better separation of the various substances found in combination with metallic productions.

53. On machinery for crushing ores.

54. On the substitution of machinery for manual labour in mining operations; and on hydraulic machinery in mines.

55. On the improvements which may be effected in the buildings, machinery, and apparatus for producing sugar from the cane in the plantations and sugar-works of the British Colonies, and the comparison with beet-root with regard to quantity, quality, and economy of manufacture.

56. Accounts of the improved systems of storing, cleansing, and drying corn, and of producing flour.

57. Description of the machinery adapted for the preparation of Indian cotton.

58. Improvements in flax machinery, and in the processes for preparing the flax for manipulation.

59. The uses of vulcanized or mineralized caoutchouc; the means of increasing its durability, and the modes of causing its adhesion to metal.

60. On the application of photography to engineering.

61. The construction of clocks to be moved simultaneously by the agency of galvanic electricity.

62. On the form and construction of submarine telegraph cables, most suitable for certain specified depths; and an investigation into the nature of any new substances adapted for the insulating medium.

63. Memoirs and accounts of the works and inventions of any of the following Engineers:—Sir Hugh Middleton, Arthur Woolf, Jonathan Hornblower, Richard Trevithick, William Murdoch (of Soho), Alexander Nimmo, and John Rennie.

Original papers, reports, or designs of these or other eminent individuals, are particularly valuable for the Library of the Institution.

The communications must be forwarded on or before the 30th of January, 1859, to the house of the Institution, No. 25 Great George-street, Westminster, S.W., where copies of this paper and any further information may be obtained.

CHARLES MANBY, Secretary.

25 Great George-street, Westminster, S.W.,
October, 1858.

SUBJECTS FOR PREMIUMS DURING THE SESSIONS 1858-59 AND 1859-60.

THE COUNCIL, in issuing the subjoined list of desiderata, would urge upon the Members of the Society generally, and others, the importance of communicating detailed accounts of new processes in Arts or methods of Manufacture, of any modifications by which these may be simplified, or labour saved, and of any novel application of Raw Materials, whether previously known or not, to useful purposes. It is quite possible that some of the things here set down as to be done, may have been already accomplished: but in such cases the knowledge of them is limited. One of the objects of this Society is to elicit discussion on the subjects with which it deals, to see that nothing is concealed which may in any way tend to promote the good of all, and to record facts and opinions. The weekly meetings, and the Journal of the Society of Arts, afford the requisite facilities for effecting this, and the Council earnestly hope that the opportunities thus given may be taken advantage of.

Patented Inventions are not excluded from receiving the Society's rewards.

The Society is willing to receive communications on subjects not included in the following list, but in all cases expressly reserves the power of rewarding any communication according to its merit, or of withholding the premium altogether.

The degree of originality and extent of suggestions for improvements will have material influence on the adjudication of the award.

All communications must be written on foolscap paper, on one side only, with an inch and a quarter margin. They must be accompanied by such drawings, models, or specimens, as may be necessary to illustrate the subject. The drawings should be on a sufficiently large scale to be seen from a distance when suspended on the walls of a meeting-room.

In regard to colonial produce of all kinds, it is absolutely necessary that a certificate from the Governor, or other qualified person, should accompany the samples sent to the Society, certifying that they really are the produce of the particular district referred to. The samples should be sufficient in quantity to enable experiments to be made, and an opinion to be formed of their quality; and it is desirable that the cost price in the district from which they are forwarded should be given. In every instance the probable extent of supply, with the average yield, if cultivated, and whether similar articles have hitherto been exported from the Colony or not, and in what quantities, should be stated.

All communications and articles intended for competition must be delivered, addressed to the Secretary, at the Society's House, free of expense, either on or before the 31st of March, 1859, or on or before the 31st of March, 1860. In the first case they will be considered during the Session 1858-59; in the second case, during the Session 1859-60. This restriction, as to the date of receipt, does not apply to articles of colonial produce, in respect of which this list is valid until the 31st of December, 1860.

Any communication rewarded by the Society, or any paper read at an ordinary meeting, will be considered as the property of the Society. Should the Council delay its publication beyond twelve months after the date of its being rewarded or read, the author will be permitted to take copy of the same, and to publish it in any way he thinks fit.

Unrewarded communications and articles must be applied for at the close of each Session, between the third Wednesday in June and the last Wednesday in July, after which the Society will be no longer responsible for their return.

By order,

P. LE NEVE FOSTER, Secretary.
December, 1858.

THE SOCIETY'S GOLD MEDAL (SPECIAL.)

A donation by Benjamin Oliveira, Esq., having been placed at the disposal of the Council, to be awarded as a special premium, they have decided to offer the Society's Gold Medal.

For the discovery of a substitute for Cotton, to be produced in such quantities and at such cost as will render it available for commercial and manufacturing purposes.

FOTHERGILL PRIZE (SPECIAL.)

A GOLD MEDAL.

This is offered in conformity with the will of the late Dr. Fothergill.

For the production of an Incombustible Paper, so as to render the ledgers of commercial men, bankers, &c., indestructible by fire.

STOCK PRIZE (SPECIAL). SILVER MEDALLION.

This is offered in conformity with the will of the late John Stock.

For a design for an Institute, comprising a hall for lectures and music, two or three class rooms, a reading room, and a library, which must be in one or in communication, offices, and apartments for the librarian. The principal rooms should be so arranged that they may be easily used together for the purposes of exhibition. The plan must be suited for an Institution having two hundred members, and be capable of extension so as to meet the wants of Institutions having 1000 members. Provision must be made for lighting and ventilating the whole of the building. The design must be exhibited in the following drawings, which must be to a scale of $\frac{1}{4}$ th of an inch to a foot:—

1. A general block plan.
2. A plan of each floor.
3. At least two elevations.
4. Sections showing the construction of all parts of the building.
5. An estimate of the cost.

N.B.—All the dimensions must be figured on the drawings.

GENERAL LIST.

The society's gold and silver medals will be awarded for communications on the following subjects:—

CLASSES I. TO IV.*

1. For an account of the mode of occurrence, and of the uses of Cornish, Devonshire, and Dorsetshire clays, and the quantities annually worked.
2. For an account of the different natural stones, whether limestones or sandstones, used for architectural purposes in the different large towns in the United Kingdom, stating the comparative durability, price, special use, and general statistics of each, together with suggestions for preventing decay.
3. For an account of the methods at present in use in the various coal-mining districts for ventilating and lighting the mines, with suggestions for their improvement.
4. For an account of the various commercial copper ores, of the smelting processes, and the methods by which the precious metals can be separated from copper.
5. For the application of silicium economically as an alloy with copper.
6. For an account of the treatment of tin, and

* The classification of this list is that adopted at the Great Exhibition of 1851.

its application to the arts and manufactures, and of recent discoveries of new sources of supply.

7. For an account of the modes by which wolfram can be separated from other ores; and of the uses of tungsten in the arts.

8. For any new application of tungsten in the arts.

9. For an account of menaccanite or iserine, and suggestions for obtaining titanium from these ores.

10. For an account of the processes now in use for smelting zinc ores, with suggestions for their improvement.

11. For improvements in the process of condensing the fumes in the smelting of lead slags.

12. For the most ready and economical method of separating lead from antimony or antimony ores.

13. For the best account of the production of sulphur and arsenic from the metalliferous ores of the United Kingdom, with statistics of the use and export of these substances.

14. For an account of mineral veins in the various mining districts in the British Islands, with particular reference to the differences that exist between copper and lead lodes, and the relations of copper with tin, and of silver and zinc with lead.

15. For an account of the methods now in use for separating silver from lead ores, with suggestions for their improvement.

16. For an account of a new and economic means of producing aluminium commercially, with suggestions of the purposes to which it may be employed with advantage.

17. For the discovery or manufacture of a new smokeless fuel, which shall not occupy more space, or be of greater weight than the fuel now in use; and shall be equal in the amount of heating power, without liability to injure metals in contact with it.

18. For a description of the manufacture of salt-petre, and its preparation for the market in the East or West Indies.

19. For the economical production of cyanogen compounds for employment in the arts, or as manures.

20. For the production of ammonia or nitric acid from their elements, by methods which would admit of practical application.

21. For the best collection of Cinchona barks, capable of elucidating upon analysis the question of the relative richness in alkaloids of the young and old barks of particular species. Such a collection must be formed in the barks districts of South America. The specimens must be accompanied by pressed and dried flowers, fruits, and leaves of the trees of which the bark are sent. Samples of bark must be of not less than 6 lbs. each.

22. For an account of the processes at present employed for the extraction of dyes and colouring matters from animal, vegetable, or mineral substances.

23. For an account of foreign dyeing and colouring substances, distinguishing those at present used from those generally unknown to commerce.

24. For an account of the principal dyes and dye stuffs at present employed in the woollen and silk trades, their sources of supply and modes of application.

25. For the production of a good and permanent purple or violet dye for silk and other fabrics, by a process free from injurious effects upon those engaged in its production.

26. For an account of the principal dyes and dye stuffs at present employed in the cotton trade, their sources of supply and modes of application.

27. For the production from coal of colouring or dyeing materials, capable of being used economically as substitutes for indigo or madder.

28. For an economical means of increasing the purity and illuminating power of coal gas, and for a simple method of detecting and removing the sulphur compounds not shown by the usual salts of lead test.

29. For an elastic material for tubing suited to the conveyance of gas, and not liable to be affected by alterations in temperature, or to be acted upon by the gas itself.

30. For an economical means of supply and application of hydrogen gas for heating purposes.

31. For the best means of utilizing refuse ores, refuse coal, and impure approximation to coal.

32. For the discovery of a practical means of utilizing naphthalene.

33. For the discovery of a practical process for converting the refuse naphthalene of gas works into alizarine or madder red.

34. For an account of the processes employed in obtaining different products (as paraffine) from shale, and the uses to which they may be applied.

35. For the best account of coal, shale, and other mineral oils applicable to illuminating purposes, and the best means of rendering them inodorous.

36. For the production of glass by the use of the constituents of which the French sands are composed, such glass to be of a quality equal to that produced from those sands.

37. For an account of the various materials, white lead, white zinc, and carbonate of barytes, used in the manufacture of white paint, and the advantages and disadvantages of each.

38. For a good and permanent bright green colour suitable for paperhangings, which shall be free from the objections stated to exist in that prepared from arsenic.

39. For a green colour suitable for use both in water and oil, which shall be more permanent and generally superior in quality to that known as "Brunswick" green.

40. For the preparation of any colour, applicable to the japanned surfaces of papier maché, that shall be free from the brightness (or glare) of the varnished colours now used, but possess the same degree of hardness and durability.

41. For the production of a blue similar to Prussian blue, which either on cotton or otherwise, shall not be attacked by soap, or moderately dilute caustic alkalies, in the cold.

42. For the preparation of light colours to be used in enamelling or japanning slate or iron, which will stand the action of heat from the fire without blistering or discoloration, and be sufficiently hard to resist scratches.

43. For a cheap substitute for pitch, tar, &c., equally impervious to air and moisture, but non-inflammable.

44. For an account of tanning substances, distinguishing those at present used from those generally unknown to commerce.

45. For an account of the materials and methods at present employed in preparing and dressing skins, and the colours and treatments to which they are submitted in dyeing.

46. For an account of the methods at present practised in France and Russia for dyeing and dressing morocco leather.

47. For an efficient means of removing the fatty matters from skins, so as to render them capable of receiving mordants by the ordinary printing process.

48. For an account of the sources of supply of furs, and of the methods of preparing, dressing, and dyeing them for the market.

49. For the introduction commercially of a supply of hair for manufacturing purposes, obtained from animals not hitherto resorted to, such as the musk ox, &c.

50. For the best substitute for horsehair, for stuffing cushions, mattresses, &c.

51. For an account of the sources of supply and processes of manufacture of the various lubricants employed in working machinery and rolling stock.

52. For an account of the spices of commerce, with suggestions in reference to new sources of supply.

53. For the importation into this country of samples of sugar, not less than 25 lbs. weight each, the produce of the Australian colonies. Details of the extent of land cultivated, yield of sugar per acre, and cost of production per ton of sugar to be given.

54. For an account of palms and similar trees which yield meal, saccharine and other juices, fibres, edible fruits, &c., with a statement of the cost and commercial value of their products.

55. For the best essay on the theory and practice of fermentation, particularly as applied to the art of brewing, with an account of any successful means by which the process of malting may be modified or dispensed with.

56. For an account of the processes employed in the manufacture of starch, the sources from whence it is obtained, and the purposes to which it is applied.

57. For the largest and best sample of Starch, produced from a non-edible substance, as cheap as any at present in use, and obtainable in large quantities.

58. For the best and most economical means of applying carbonic acid gas to the preservation of Meat.

59. For the production of a perfectly colourless copal varnish, not liable to change or contract, or to injure the colours over which it is applied.

60. For a pure colourless oil suitable for artists, or for a decolorising agent for linseed oil which will leave its other properties unimpaired.

61. For an account of the manufacture of garancine, as now practised in France, commencing with the best processes for grinding the root to powder; with observations as to the modifications which might be necessary for rendering similar machinery available for grinding Indian munjeet or madder.

62. For the production of cheap purple and yellow lakes, of good quality, suitable for carriage-builders, &c., and not liable to fade or change colour.

63. For the discovery of a substitute for wood blocks used by the wood engraver, so as to supersede the necessity of uniting several blocks.

64. For an account of the origin, development, and present condition of the pearl fisheries of Ceylon, the Persian Gulf, and the Gulfs of Mexico and Panama.

65. For an account of the sponge or coral fisheries, with suggestions for the development of new sources of supply.

66. For an account giving the results of investigations into the nature and character of the various woods, the produce of India and the Colonies, with a view to ascertain their value for local use in railways in those countries, as compared with the woods used in Europe; the most effective and economical means of preserving such material, when brought into use, against the destructive effect of extreme heat and moisture, and the ravages of white ants and other insects.

67. For an account of animal substances, raw and manufactured, illustrating the natural resources of any one of the following British possessions:—The East or West Indies, Ceylon, Australia, Canada, the Cape Colony, Natal, or New Zealand.

68. For an account of vegetable substances, raw and manufactured, illustrating the natural resources of any one of the following British possessions:—The East or West Indies, Ceylon, Australia, Canada, the Cape Colony, Natal, or New Zealand.

69. For an account of mineral substances, raw and manufactured, illustrating the natural resources of any one of the following British possessions:—The East or West Indies, Ceylon, Australia, Canada, the Cape Colony, Natal, or New Zealand.

70. For the best treatise on the commercial products of the Islands of the Eastern Archipelago and their facilities and openings for trade.

71. For an economical method of rendering the refuse from scrolls in making size, and the waste alkali and filth extracted from rags in process of boiling, available each separately as a manure.

72. For an account of the means at present employed in the utilization of so-called "refuse products" generally.

CLASSES V. TO X.

73. For the introduction of an economic system of railway transit applicable to common roads, so as to connect thinly populated districts with each other, and with the main lines of railways.

74. For the introduction upon common roads and in the streets of towns of a cheap and effective system of railways for goods and passengers.

75. For the economical application of iron in the construction of railways in tropical countries, as a substitute for wood.

76. For the best method of preparing pure water for locomotive engines, either by distilling or otherwise, so as to prevent incrustation in the boiler, and the necessity for "blowing off," thus saving fuel and time.

77. For an account of the machinery and processes employed in the manufacture of nails.

78. For an account of the machinery and processes employed in rolling metals into sheets, bars, and rods.

79. For an account of the best machinery for preparing, grinding, and dressing barley and oats into their respective manufactured constituents, pearl barley, groats, &c.

80. For a cheap and effective machine for cleaning and hulling rice, so that it may be prepared and shipped at the seat of production in a marketable condition.

81. For an account of improvements in the manufacture and refining of sugar.

82. For an account of improvements in consuming or preventing smoke in dye-houses and chemical works.

83. For the best method of converting precipitated or extracted sewage matter into a dry state, valuable for agricultural purposes.

84. For the best and most convenient method of welding together the frame-work and covering of iron vessels for navigation, so as to dispense with bolting and rivetting, thereby increasing the strength, diminishing the weight, and increasing the floating power.

85. For a system of light and sound signals, for use in steam vessels, to prevent collisions at sea in fog or darkness, and more effective than any hitherto known.

86. For an account of improvements in the construction and arrangement of machinery for spinning and doubling cotton and other fibrous materials.

87. For an account of improvements in the machinery and processes employed in the manufacture of woollen cloths.

88. For an account of improvements in the machinery and processes employed in the manufacture of silk fabrics.

89. For a mechanical substitute for hand labour in running in the outline to the figures in machine-wrought lace.

90. For the best mode of finishing the edges of machine-made bobbin lace (in imitation of pillow lace), so as to supersede the use of the separate pearl edge, usually sewn on.

91. For improvements in machinery for weaving lace, whereby the outline of the pattern produced shall be worked simultaneously with the production of the fabric, without the intervention of hand labour.

92. For a bobbin for silk which shall possess exact uniformity of weight, shall be incapable of being made heavier without detection, and which will not absorb moisture. The material employed must not be liable to chip, or to affect the colour of the silk wound on it.

93. For a machine to serve as a substitute for hand labour, in cutting the pile of silk velvets and similar fabrics.

94. For an account of the machinery and processes other than hand labour employed in the production of embroidered fabrics.

95. For a composition for feeding-rollers for printing paper hangings by cylinder machinery, similar in consistency and texture to the gelatine rollers used in letter-press printing, but adapted for working in water colours.

96. For an account of improvements in the modes of printing, including the manufacture of types, stereotyping, and printers' plant in general.

97. For a rapid means of reproducing artistic designs or sketches, without the intervention of hand labour, for surface printing by machinery.

98. For an effectual and economical means of producing steel or copper plates or surface blocks by the action of light, electricity, magnetism, or otherwise.

99. For a rapid means of reproducing artistic designs or sketches, and also for reproducing copper-plate engravings (from the plate or from the impression) for surface-printing by hand-press or machinery, without the intervention of hand labour.

100. For an essay on mechanical and other contrivances for reducing, enlarging, copying, and reproducing drawings, maps, &c.

101. For a portable instrument capable of showing the velocity of movement of fluids in closed pipes, adapted for insertion through a stop cock, and possessing a statal indication.

102. For an instrument which shall be applicable to determine the velocity of sub-aqueous currents at considerable depths, with or without the necessity of being brought to the surface to be read off.

103. For the discovery of any simple and efficient apparatus for detecting and registering impure states of the atmosphere, either in mines or in over-crowded and ill-ventilated buildings.

104. For the discovery of a galvanic battery for electromotive machines and other purposes, capable of producing greater results, and at a cheaper rate than any hitherto known.

105. For the production of an efficient means of carrying out the system of oceanic electric telegraphs between distant countries. The plan must insure perfect insulation, a minimum of resistance to the current sent, rapidity of communication, the use of a minimum power, freedom from liability to injurious action either from air or water, and a power of resisting mechanical strains.

106. For the production of a covering for the wires of electric telegraphs with a vitreous non-conducting coating, which shall be capable of resisting the ordinary wear and tear of telegraphic lines, atmospheric influences, acids, and sea-water.

107. For the discovery of a natural or artificial substitute for gutta percha, possessing, amongst others, the following properties:—It must be insoluble in water, a perfect non-conductor of electricity, as flexible and as easily worked as gutta percha, firm at a temperature of 150°, but soft and plastic in boiling water, and weldable at 212°.

108. For any new and simple method of producing works of art in the compound metal bronze, or other metals, either by improved methods of casting, in the material employed as moulds, or by electro deposit.

109. For the invention of a simple electrometer, to be sold at a moderate price, for determining the amount and kind of atmospheric electricity; and which will show uniform results under uniform circumstances.

110. For the invention of a self-registering electrometer showing the kind as well as the amount of electricity.

111. For a self-registering maximum or minimum hygrometer.

112. For the invention of a marine mercurial barometer, which will obviate the oscillation of the mercury, and fulfil all the conditions necessary to make it a good and reliable instrument.

113. For the invention of an anemometer, for measuring the force and direction of the wind on board ship correctly, distinguishing the amount due to the wind and that due to the ship's velocity, varying with the angle.

114. For a machine that will satisfactorily determine great depths at sea by compression, free from the errors of absorption of air, if that be employed, or from the inequalities of a spring, if that be used; and upon a scale of sufficiently large dimensions throughout to be practically useful and correct.

115. For an instrument that will detect the local attraction of a ship at sea with reference to the compass, by direct observation of the heavenly bodies, without the process of turning the ship.

116. For an artificial horizon that can be practically employed at sea, to be used with a sextant, and which will enable the altitude of a heavenly body to be taken with sufficient accuracy for the purposes of navigation.

117. For a self-registering minimum thermometer for great depths at sea, that will not be deranged by checking and hauling up the line, or by the pressure of the water on the bulb, and that will give the minimum of temperature passed through.

118. For the invention of a mercurial self-registering minimum thermometer.

119. For a ready means of combining the practice of great-circle sailing with the principles of physical geography.

120. For the production, in a reliable form, of maps on a spherical surface which will be portions of globes fit to be suspended on walls or laid on a table, or for use on board ship in place of Mercator's charts.

CLASSES XI to XXIX.

121. For the economic production of articles of outer clothing, woven in the loom, so as to economise the cost of production, and reduce the amount of hand labour.

122. For the best specimens of woollen velvets and velveteens, of a moderate price, not liable to fade or become rusty, and especially suitable for the furniture and the interior of carriages.

123. For an account of an improved method of transferring the pattern from the original design to the Jacquard loom.

124. For an economical means of producing figured patterns in the loom by means of electricity.

125. For a means of producing by the electrotype process a gilded pattern or portion of a pattern on textile fabrics, or of gilding the fibre previous to weaving.

126. For the successful application of some new means (as electricity or photography, for instance) for producing ornamental coloured designs in woven fabrics, which shall be cheaper and easier of application than those at present employed.

127. For the best series of tinted writing and packing papers coloured in the pulp, made from materials not suited for the manufacture of white paper.

128. For the best method of colouring paper in the pulp with indigo, and with greens of various hues, the colours not to be liable to be affected by gases.

129. For a method of more thoroughly sizing machine-made papers with animal size.

130. For an account of the processes at present used in the re-conversion of woollen or mixed woollen rags, with specimens illustrative of the manufactures in which they are or may be employed.

131. For an account of the machinery and processes used in cutting, working, and embossing veneers in imitation of carved work.

132. For the best essay on ancient goldsmiths' work.

133. For an account of any new and improved processes for economically producing vitreous reflecting surfaces applicable to lighthouses, or for general purposes.

134. For an account of the processes and materials employed in chromatic painting on glass, porcelain, clay, lava, and materials susceptible of vitrification, or capable of receiving an enamelled surface.

135. For a chemical means of engraving on glass and crystal, avoiding the injurious fumes of fluoric acid, and producing finely-detailed designs.

136. For a chemical or mechanical process for fixing or engraving the collodion photographic image on its plate of glass, so that it may be employed ornamentally in windows, &c., or as a matrix for obtaining impressions on paper.

137. For a process for transferring to porcelain photographic images which may be permanently fixed by being burnt in, or enamelled on the surface.

138. For an essay on the manufacture of earthenware pipes and stone ware in general with an account of the improvements introduced in the construction of the kilns used in burning such wares.

139. For an account of the various artificial stones and terra-cottas introduced and employed for purposes of construction, stating their properties, advantages, and imperfections, and their relative cost as manufactured, both inclusive and exclusive of loss by breakage in the kiln.

140. For the production of paperhangings printed from blocks by machinery, thereby enabling a larger number of colours and increased surface to be worked economically.

141. For the production of paperhangings in which effects are economically produced by the action of chemical re-agents in the body of the paper, as is the case in photographic processes and in calico printing.

142. For an account of processes at present employed in the preparation of artificial perfumes and essences.

143. For an essay on evaporation, condensation, and refrigeration, with the results of systematic experiments, and the economical results, both as to time, fuel, and surface, the comparative degrees of heat used and produced, and a comparison of those results with theoretical maxima.

144. For a connected series of practical observations on natural or atmospheric evaporation, as taking place from the surface of cultivated or uncultivated land, and a comparison of the same with the local rainfall.

145. For an essay on the various branches of industry which are known to be unhealthy, pointing out the causes of their injurious effects, with suggestions for prevention or relief.

TO ADVERTISERS.

To advertise judiciously, so as to secure the greatest benefit at the least cost is an art only to be learned by long experience. It is a very difficult thing to know where, and when, and how to advertise with effect. There are few persons who have not occasion to advertise sometimes, and every person who has at any time advertised will confess the difficulty he experienced in determining where to insert his advertisement, because he did not possess the information necessary to enable him to make a proper choice.

The first thing to be considered is the nature of the advertisement, and to whom it is addressed, for that will determine the kind of journal in which to insert it.

Some advertisements are addressed almost exclusively to the wealthy and the educated. It would be absurd to insert such in journals that circulate chiefly among the poorer classes, however numerous their sale. On the contrary, it would be an equal waste of money to insert in the journals of the higher classes, advertisements addressed to the poorer and uneducated classes.

The mere numbers circulated of a journal is not the only, nor always the best test that should guide an advertiser. Some journals, owing to the peculiar character of their circulation, would be far more profitable to an advertiser with a circulation of one thousand than others with a circulation of ten thousand. This is particularly the case with class journals, for reasons which will be presently specified.

The number of advertisements that appear in a journal is also to be taken into account. Amid a great multitude, a single one has lessened chances of being seen, unless it is one of those advertisements which persons look for, and which is not intended merely to catch the eye of the reader. Thus it is that an advertisement inserted in a paper having a circulation of 20,000, and also having a great crowd of advertisements, might not be seen by so many persons as it would be in a paper with a circulation of 2,000, because the very number among which it is crowded precludes the possibility of the reader perusing the advertisement columns, and if it appear in a supplement composed entirely of advertisements, it is practically lost altogether, for it is notorious that nobody ever looks through supplements.

RULES FOR ADVERTISING.

1. Character of circulation is of more importance than number. A journal that circulates a thousand among the upper or middle classes is a better medium than would be one that circulated a hundred thousand among the lower classes.

2. Consider what class of persons you desire to address, and send to those papers only that circulate among that class.

3. The Times is the best medium for advertisements, addressed to persons who are looking for them; as situations or servants wanted, lodgings and houses to let, and so forth. Papers of very much less circulation are, however, almost equally good for general advertisements, intended to catch the eye of the casual reader.

4. Class papers are by far the best for general advertisements, addressed to the upper and middle classes, because every advertisement in a class paper is sure to be there inspected by almost every reader.

5. By judicious and extensive advertising of anything, in its nature likely to be largely used, a large fortune may be certainly acquired: but remember that it is useless to attempt it on a small scale. A few advertisements are worthless for such a purpose. It is only by being before the public eye at all times, and everywhere, that this unfailing road to riches can be secured.

6. Unless you resolve to adopt this indiscriminate advertising, your success will depend upon the judgment with which you make your selection.

HOW BOOKS ARE MADE.

WHEN "copy" is received from an author, it is collated and prepared in the office, and sent down to the composing department, when the overseer divides it into "takes," and distributes it among the compositors. When "set up" in type it is "made up" into pages, and "imposed" into sheets, when a "first proof" is read carefully by the reader and reading boy, after which a second proof or "revise" is corrected previous to "pulling" the author's proof, which is forthwith sent to the author for correction. If necessary, there is an author's revise; and then there is a press revise, after the whole has been carefully re-read by the reader on the establishment. One "form" or sheet of type is then taken into the press department, when it is "made ready" by the pressmen, where great attention is requisite that the paper is properly wetted, the "colour" clear and equal, and the impression perfect. When the whole number is "worked off," the sheets are hung on poles to dry, care being taken to provide against dust and dirt. They are then placed between glazed boards, one by one, and put into the standing-press, where, subjected to a heavy or hydraulic pressure, the sheets are made perfectly smooth and finished. These two last operations are called "warehousing." It also includes the "gathering" of the sheets together to constitute the complete work. These are passed over to the bookbinding department, where they are "folded" and "stitched" by the women employed on this description of work. In the meantime the bookbinders or "forwarders" have cut the cloth and the millboard, and manufactured the covers. The "finishers" then "letter" and "block" them at the embossing presses, and return them to the "forwarders," who, after supplying the "side papers," fill and fasten the covers. Each book is placed between suitable boards and tins, and subjected to heavy pressure for some hours. Finally, they are looked over to detect any imperfection that may have occurred in the different processes, and packed and despatched to their destination.

Much care should be taken in the selection of a suitable size, appropriate type, and characteristic binding. Considerable importance attaches to the guise in which a book makes its first appearance. A proper regard to the dress of the book is an evidence of good taste on the part of the author, and prepossesses the public to an examination of its claims. Let various specimens be examined, and judicious advice taken from those who have had lengthened experience, or who are distinguished for good taste and judgment, and a disappointment can rarely be the result.

PREPARATION OF COPY.

No pains should be considered too great to make the manuscripts as perfect as possible. Nothing lends more to ensure accuracy than well-prepared "copy" placed in the hands of the printer, besides preventing those vexatious expenses that must result from corrections of type set up from an ill-adjusted, ill-arranged, or badly written manuscript. The most convenient size for paper is note or letter, which should be written only on one side—paragraphs distinctly made—and the divisions into parts and chapters carefully distinguished. There need be no "extras" if the copy is well prepared, not only so, but it lessens the chances of misconception and error. Select a good title for the book—terse, striking, and suggestive of its real character. It must not be too copious, and generality must be avoided. Authors who put long and rambling titles to their books would be surprised to hear the short practical names they go by in the trade—often far more appropriate and telling than their lengthy originals. Notice the distinction between "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and "A Brief and Faithful Narrative of the Life, Sufferings, and Death of the late deeply lamented Thomas Wilson, commonly called 'Uncle Tom.'" Where would Mrs. Stowe's book have been with such a title?

In correcting proofs the marks should be made with distinctness, by striking out the deleted parts, and inserting in the margin the words desired to be substituted. Printed matter of this description will go by the book post at the rate of fourpence the pound weight; this privilege is, by a recent alteration of the post-office laws, extended to all manuscripts, not being letters, or communications of a similar order. A fine is imposed where this rule is infringed. It is also requisite that the ends of such packages remain uncovered.—From "Counsels to Authors." Judd & Glass.

OBITUARY FOR THE YEAR 1858.

At Vienna, aged fifty-two years, Herr Carl Beethoven, nephew to the great composer.

In August, Mr. F. E. Bache, of Birmingham, who should have done good service to English music, yielded to "the common lot," which is doubly sorrowful to bystanders when it falls on the young.

At Nürnberg, Meister Burgschmiet, the celebrated bronze founder, and friend of Rauch the sculptor. Bergschmiet was born at Nürnberg, on the 11th of October, 1796. His father was a poor stone-mason, and left him soon an orphan. His first important work was the statue of Melancthon, on the square before the Gymnasium at Nürnberg. He was next entrusted with the Professorship of Plastic Art at the Polytechnic School, during which time he made his first attempts in casting. His first work of note in this line was a bust of King Maximilian the First. In 1827, the casting of the statue of Albrecht Dürer, modelled by Rauch, was conferred on him. On the 21st of May, 1840, the uncovering of the statue took place; and, with tears of joy in his eyes, Rauch, who would not look at the statue before it was uncovered, embraced him. On that day, Bergschmiet's fame as an artist was established. Of his great many works, we name the monuments of Beethoven at Bonn, and Emperor Charles the Fourth at Prague,—both after Hähnel. His last important work is the monument of Radetzky, begun in 1856, with the assistance of his son-in-law, Lenz. It is almost completed, and was just to receive the last finishing touches when death snatched the master away.

M. Chapsal, author of the well-known French Grammar of Noël and Chapsal, died on the 27th of January, at the Castle of Polangis, of which he was the proprietor. M. Chapsal was Maire of Joinville le Pont, member of the Council of the Arrondissement de Sceaux, and Chevalier of the Legion of Honour.

Mr. William Henry Curran, at Dublin, on the 25th of August. He was favourably known in the literary world by his biography of his father, the orator, and also by the "Sketches of the Irish Bar," in which series he was joined by Shiel. His best writing was his personal sketch of a day of O'Connell's life, in his "Sketches of the Irish Bar," and his humorous and racy portraiture of Mr. Serjeant Gould. He died in the sixty-ninth year of his age. He had practised at the bar with much success, and he filled for many years, the important office of Insolvent Commissioner in Ireland,—so that he may be fairly cited as one of the few barristers who united literary and professional laurels.

The Gazette Musicale, announced, at one time, the death of an aged Hungarian prima donna, Madame Czibulka, at Pesth, ninety-four years old,—the second, which took place at Aix-la-Chapelle, of Signor Colosanti, the well-known performer on the ophicleide.

In August, George Combe, the author of the "Constitution of Man," "Travels in America," &c. He was born in 1788, and married a daughter of Mr. Siddons, the actor, in 1833. He was not only an eloquent and original writer on the physical and moral laws which govern men, but an able expositor of political economy and monetary science. He was to all intents and purposes a sincere and earnest teacher and reformer, and in everything he did he had in view the education and elevation of the mass of the people.

At Leamington, in the sixty-second year of his age, the Rev. John Clay, the chaplain of Preston jail. Mr. Clay not only performed his duty in the most satisfactory manner, but he investigated with great care the circumstances and condition of the unfortunate creatures it was his mission to improve. He ascertained their past life, gauged their morals and intelligence, and then in the most methodical manner tabulated the results. His prison reports exhibited much originality of conception, painstaking industry, and definiteness of aim. He afforded facts to philanthropists and statesmen, and directed public attention to the causes as well as to the consequences of crime. He poured a flood of light on the condition of the indigent and neglected poor, and contributed in no small degree to lift the great questions of social science into public importance.

On the 17th of July, S. Astley Dunham, LL.D., with whose name the public were familiar but a few years since, and whose works will long survive. There was always a mystery about this unfortunate gentleman. He flashed upon the public, and startled even the learned. Dr. Southey, we know, spoke of his knowledge as marvellous, and that, too, in a department where Southey himself was considered especially informed—the history of the Middle Ages. His "History of Spain and Portugal" won the admiration of distinguished Spanish scholars; and we have heard learned Spaniards speak with amazement of the original research by which it was distinguished—not to be surpassed even by their own standard historians. Yet as he came suddenly upon the public, so he as suddenly disappeared; and we fear the general public will only learn that he was lately alive amongst us on now hearing of his death.—Athenæum.

The Courrier du Bas Rhin announced the death of M. Emile Dollfus, President of the Industrial Society at Mulhouse, formerly deputy of the town, and one of the principal representatives of the manufacturing interests of the country. He died suddenly at Baden, on the 27th ult., from the rupture of an aneurism. He was one of the most influential free-traders in France, and his death may be considered as a national loss.

On the 16th of March, the natural philosopher, Gottfried Nees von Eesenbeck, died at Breslau, at the age of eighty-two years. In 1817, he was named Professor of Botany at the University of Erlangen; was chosen in the same year, President of the Imperial and Royal Academy of Natural Philosophers, at Vienna; lived from 1818 to 1830, as a public lecturer at the University of Bonn, and was then called in the same capacity to the University of Breslau. In 1848 and 1849, a partisan of the Revolutionary movement, he, in 1852, was dismissed, without a pension, from public service. In consequence of this the last years of the veteran were passed in indigence and want. He parted with his valuable library and scientific collections, and had, besides, to recur to the assistance of his friends and former pupils for the modest maintenance of a rapidly declining life.

—The eminent German writer, Varnhagen von Ense, passed away at Berlin, suddenly and unexpectedly; for, although the deceased reached the advanced age of seventy-four years, yet he enjoyed good health up to the very moment of his death, which surprised him at a game of chess, and was brought on by a fit of pulmonic apoplexy. Humboldt and a host of literary and scientific celebrities attended his funeral.

At the age of sixty-two, Mr. Richard Ford, the well-known author of the "Handbook of Spain." Mr. Ford was considered an authority on the subject of Fine Art; and that he really was, so, they who remember, among other things, his contributions to the Athenæum, will readily allow.

Mr. M'Glashan, formerly of Dublin, and for several years editor and proprietor of the Dublin University Magazine.

In November, at Folkstone, Stanley Lees Giffard, Esq., LL.D., of Trinity College, Dublin, and of the Middle Temple, barrister-at-law, but who was much better known as having exercised, for considerably more than a quarter of a century, the office of editor of the Standard. Dr. Giffard died of an excruciatingly painful disease—cancer.

Dr. William Gregory, the distinguished Professor of Chemistry in the University of Edinburgh, died on the 24th of April. Gregory has long been a distinguished name in the Scotch Universities. The founder of this family, whose members have now held seventeen professorships in the Scotch Universities, was a minister at Dunnouth, in Aberdeenshire. He had three sons, David, James, and Charles, all of whom held Professorships in Scotland. Dr. William Gregory was descended from James, who was Professor of Mathematics in Edinburgh in 1674. His son John and grandson James were successively professors of the practice of medicine in Edinburgh. William, the late Professor of Chemistry, was the son of the latter. He studied medicine and took his degree of Doctor of Medicine in the University of Edinburgh. He devoted himself, however, more particularly to the study of chemistry. For the purpose of completing his studies he repaired to Giessen, and became the pupil and friend of the celebrated Liebig. His name was first familiarly brought before the British public by his translation into the English language of some of Liebig's chemical works. He translated the "Animal Chemistry, or Chemistry in its Application to Physiology and Pathology," of this distinguished chemist. This work was translated from the author's manuscript, and appeared in 1842. He also translated Liebig's "Chemistry of Food," which appeared in 1847, and his "Principles of Agricultural Chemistry," in 1855. As an author on his own account, Dr. Gregory was most favourably known by his "Outlines of Inorganic and of Organic Chemistry." He also edited, with Baron Liebig, the later editions of Turner's "Elements of Chemistry." His first opportunity as a teacher of chemistry was in the Andersonian University of Glasgow. He was afterwards elected to the chair of chemistry in King's College, Aberdeen; and in 1843 was appointed Professor of Chemistry, in Edinburgh.

Mr. Hogan, the Irish sculptor,—known in London chiefly by his busts of Daniel O'Connell and Lord Cloncurry, went from among us in April, leaving the arts of his country poorer for his loss.

Dr. H. M. Hughes, author of "A Clinical Introduction to the Practice of Auscultation."

In America, Henry W. Herbert (by his own hand), well known by his popular romance of Oliver Cromwell, that Horace Smith edited; he has left the request that his tombstone may simply bear his name and age, with word "infelice," a sad record of an English exile.

Prof. Franz Kugler, known by his many excellent works on the history of Art, died suddenly, on the 18th of March, at Berlin, where he had filled for some years an important position in the Ministry of Public Instruction. Kugler was born on the 19th of January, 1808, thus reaching an age of only fifty years.

On the 15th of November, Frau Johanna Kinkel. She was a woman of no ordinary powers; many of her musical compositions have become popular, and her novels rank amongst the best of which German literature may boast.

Signor Lablache, at Naples, on January the 23rd inst. The Athenæum says of him, the mould in which Nature had cast Lablache was colossal. His head was the head of Jupiter, his figure the figure of Milo, his voice (and what a voice it was!) that of Boanerges. One might have excused one of so vast and so grandiose a presence, with an organ so overpowering as Lablache's, had been heavy and untamable, if correct as a singer. But the fire and the life of a true artist were in him, and though not Neapolitan by blood, the spirit of Naples ran in his veins,—and the whole science of the schools of Naples (now no more), was shown in his training. Thus, in his day, Lablache was equal to the most brilliant music of Signor Rossini. He had made an organ—the mighty sonority of which could not be equalled—flexible, supple, brilliant.

Mrs. Loudon, the well-known Botanist and writer, died in July. Her works were principally on botanical subjects, of which "The Ladies' Flower Garden," in six quarto volumes, "The Amateur Gardener's Calendar," "The Ladies' Country Companion," "Botany for Ladies," "Gardening for Ladies," "British Wild Flowers," and "The Ladies' Companion to the Flower Garden," were the principal. Most of these works have been extremely popular, and they are all interesting and useful. "The Ladies' Companion to the Flower Garden" has been through seven large editions, and had a circulation of more than 20,000 copies. Mrs. Loudon's last literary labour was preparing a new edition of that and "The Amateur Gardener's Calendar," both of which were completed shortly before her death. Many of Mrs. Loudon's books were published since Mr. Loudon's decease, and she has also prepared new editions of several of Mr. Loudon's works, and written several interesting works on natural history for young people, which we have not enumerated in the foregoing list.

M. Miehaud père, father of the Academician, and author of the "History of the Crusades," died in the village of Ternes, near Paris, at the advanced age of eighty-five years. The deceased was editor of the "Biographie Universelle," in fifty-two volumes, and wrote besides, the witty and much read "Memoirs from the life of a Statesman." It is asserted that he left six volumes of autobiographical memoirs. Miehaud père had served under Dumoriez in the army of the Sambre and Meuse, assisting at the battles of Jemappes and Valmy, and was a decided opponent of Napoleon in 1814 and 1815. Nevertheless, he died a firm partizan of the present empire.

The University of Berlin has to bear a heavy loss. One of its most celebrated members, Prof. Johannes Müller, the physiologist, died suddenly of apoplexy, on the 28th of April, not quite fifty-seven years. Müller was born at Coblenz, on the 14th of July, 1801, and has been living at Berlin ever since 1833.

Mr. Edward Moxon, of Dover Street, who had long been in delicate health. Mr. Moxon was associated for many years with some of the most eminent writers of his day, not only as a respected publisher, but as an esteemed friend. He was the companion in his early life of men whose fame is already posthumous, such as Coleridge, Lamb, Rogers, and Hazlitt, and was himself the author of a small volume of poems of no mean reputation, while he was the publisher of some of the best works of the new, and the best reprints of the old poets, which our day has seen issued from the press.

At Paris, in April, the Chevalier Segismund Neukomm, at the patriarchal age of eighty. He was born at Salzburg, and was carefully educated by his father for the musical profession. After he had held musical appointments in Russia, figured in the society of the Duke of Luxembourg, at the Court of Don Pedro in the Brazils, and composed a Requiem for Louis Seize, which was performed at the Congress of Vienna, he came about thirty years since to this country, where he gained considerable popularity by the amazing rapidity with which he composed oratorios, psalms, and songs. But his fame subsided almost as quickly as it rose amongst us. He continued to write and to accumulate manuscripts till a very late period of his life, a portion of which we suppose will soon be published.

A man of singular character was Robert Owen, whose death took place at Newtown, in Montgomeryshire, in November, at the great age of eighty-eight. Pure and unworldly, fired with a passionate desire of doing good, and sustained by an eccentric belief in the faculties of machinery to educate human beings into higher types; during the best years of his life he spent his time and his fortune in conducting educational experiments. Infant schools will long remember Robert Owen. But unsatisfied with his fame as a founder of schools, he must needs try his force as founder of a sect. Studying man in the nursery, he fancied he perceived the fundamental error of human systems—the neglect of beautiful and ennobling circumstances.—Athenæum.

Intelligence from Berlin related the death of Panofka, the veteran archaeologist, whose publications on the Etruscan vases were, together with Millingen's, the first to convey a just idea of the various styles of painting and drawing which enriched them. Tischbein and Millin perverted the outlines of the paintings they published by reducing them to the academic purity of form which David and Gérard had so insidiously laboured for. His most popular work was, "The Manners and Customs of the Ancient Greeks, illustrated by their Vase Paintings." One of his earliest was the "Vasi di Premio," and he continued to the last to issue archaeological essays with numerous illustrations. Panofka had long contemplated an illustrated edition of Pausanias.

Frau Ida Pfeiffer, the well-known traveller, after long sufferings, died at Vienna, on the 28th of October. The intrepid tourist had just arrived at Vienna in a rather suffering state of health.

In November, Dr. George Peacock, Dean of Ely, in the sixty-fifth year of his age. He was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge, and took the B.A. with high honour in 1813, being the second wrangler, and Sir John Herschel the first. Peacock, with Herschel, Babbage, and Maule (afterwards Judge), formed an Analytic Society at Cambridge, in order to introduce continental mathematics, and they published a volume of Memoirs in 1813. They translated the work of Lacroix on the "Differential Calculus," and prepared a volume of "Examples," of which Peacock compiled the larger part, in a manner which showed extraordinary reading for a man of his age. He became Moderator in 1817, and again in 1819. He afterwards became a tutor of the College, and gained a high reputation as a teacher and a guardian of his pupils. In 1826 he appeared in the "Encyclopædia Metropolitana" his article on the "History of Arithmetic," which has been called the most valuable essay on the subject ever written. In 1830 appeared his great work on Trigonometry, and in 1842-45 appeared another, digesting the subject in two volumes; the first containing arithmetical algebra, the second containing symbolical algebra. His last writing was a collection of short pithy and effective answers to Lord Overstone's questions on the decimal coinage. In 1839 Dr. Peacock was made Dean of Ely, and that city is much indebted to him for the introduction of the Public Health Act and other improvements. He steadily upheld the liberal side in politics during the times of greatest discouragement, and he made himself particularly distinguished for his writings on university reform. He exercised great influence over his contemporaries by soundness of judgment, extent of knowledge, and sauvoy of manners. His various qualities and attainments were perfectly blended, and lent force to each other: the combination was one of power; for he was a man of business, of science, of learning, and of character.

In November passed away, in the sixty-first year of his age, Hugh Lee Pattinson, a name closely connected with education and science. In 1829, Mr. Pattinson made the remarkable discovery of separating in a comparatively easy manner silver from lead. The result of the application of the "Pattinson Process" of desilverizing lead has been that the lead ores of these islands now produce 500,000 ounces of silver annually, whereas not more than one-half of that quantity was separated by the old oxidizing process, or an addition has been made of upwards of 60,000*l.* to our annual national wealth by this important discovery. Many of Mr. Pattinson's contributions to science will be found in the pages of the "Philosophical Magazine" and the "Transactions of the British Association." Chemistry and Metallurgy formed the business of his busy life; but, from youth to age, various branches of Physics, especially Electricity, engaged his attention. Mr. Pattinson appears to have been the first to observe the electricity of a jet of steam; and he undertook, at the wish of the British Association, an extensive series of investigations into the electricity of rocks and mineral veins. For those inquiries and his general scientific abilities Hugh Lee Pattinson was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society, after he had long been a member of the Royal Astronomical and the Geological Societies.

Madame Rachel, the great dramatic artist, after a painful illness died in Paris. This gifted lady was born in 1820 of very poor parents. Her genius and ambition removed all barriers to her advancement, and while still young she made her name one of the most famous in Europe. The play-going public has heard so much of Camille, Ermoine, Phédre,—of the imperious Sultana in "Bajazet," and the converted Christian woman in "Polyeucte,"—of Lucretia and Joan of Arc and Mario Stuart,—that it is hardly necessary once more to enumerate the successive triumphs of the actress. She realised fabulous sums for her services, and died in the prime of life immensely rich and vastly lamented.

Almost immediately upon the announcement that that long-established journal, The Spectator, had changed hands, the newspapers had to record the death of its projector and editor, Mr. Rintoul. Upon a point more immediately interesting to publishers, we may remark that, in the article of reviews, no newspaper has ever surpassed for just criticism, although perhaps with a slight tendency towards severity, The Spectator. There was not that appearance, so common in journalism, of reviews having been written after a hasty or careless examination of a book; the spirit of the work reviewed was always seized on, and its characteristics pointed out, and in this, as in every other department of the paper, not a line appeared without Mr. Rintoul's supervision. He will be a loss to the newspaper literature of the day, and must be regretted as a thoroughly honest and able member of the world of letters.—Publishers' Circular.

In November, Major-Gen. Reid, late governor of Malta. He not only distinguished himself as a brave and able soldier, but as an industrious investigator of science. He made his name remarkable as Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Great Exhibition, and as the author of "A Theory of the Law of Storms." As Chairman of the Great Exhibition he contributed significantly to its success.

Alexis Soyer, the ex-chef of the Reform Club. As a writer of books on food and cookery—of "The Gastronomic Regenerator," the "Pantropheon, or History of Food," the "Shilling Cookery," and the "Culinary Campaign,"—he may fairly claim a word of notice from a literary chronicler.

From India information arrived of the death of the explorer and naturalist, Adolphe Schlagentweit, one of the three brothers well known for their scientific researches, pursued under the auspices of the East India Company, in India and among the Himalayas. It appears (says the Times correspondent) that a party of Khokandpas, belonging to a tribe in revolt against the Chinese, came in to the Yorkand territory in the spring, and drove the few Chinese troops in the villages into the town of Yorkand. In one of the villages near the town the Khokandpas found Schlagentweit residing; and, in the course of conversation, he asked them why they did not attack Yorkand itself, where the Chinese force was so small and they were so numerous. For some unexplained reason they were offended at this question. They retired and held a consultation; the result of which was, that they decided he must be a friend of the Chinese, and wished to ensnare them; and in the dead of night, they surrounded his house and killed him, to the great regret of their chief, who has saved some of the unfortunate traveller's instruments.

Thomas Tooke, author of the "History of Russia," and other works, and brother to Mr. William Tooke, the editor of Churchill's, joined the "great majority." Mr. Tooke was born in 1774, in St. Petersburg, and had nearly completed the eighty-fifth year of his age when he died. In early life Mr. Tooke was a merchant, and it was not till he had reached his fiftieth year that he commenced authorship. He was the author of "Thoughts and Details on High and Low Prices," and the "History of Prices," two works which materially advanced the study of the science of political economy in this country. The Royal Society admitted him a Fellow on the evidence of his first work. The French Academy more recently elected him a Corresponding Member. For a long period he presided as Governor over the oldest and largest of our insurance offices—the Royal Exchange Assurance Corporation,—and for a period almost as long over the St. Katherine's Dock Company. A public writer says of him: "Eminently endowed by nature with an intellect observant, sagacious, and patient, aided by a judgment remarkable for clearness and solidity, and pursuing truth with a fervent singleness of purpose, he was enabled to extend the boundaries of positive knowledge in directions where success was a public good of no mean order: and working with materials apparently so common as the ordinary experience of a merchant, he drew from them profound economical laws for the guidance of philosophers and legislators."

On the 20th of June, at his residence at Old Brompton, Mr. Dawson Turner, the celebrated botanist. He was a native of Great Yarmouth, and was born in October, 1775; his father was an eminent banker; and his son Dawson was educated first at the Grammar School at North Walsham in Norfolk, and was afterwards placed, for private tuition, under the care of the Rev. Robert Firby, of Barton, in the same county. In 1793, he was entered of Pembroke College, Cambridge, of which his uncle, afterwards Dean of Norwich, was Master; but he did not graduate. At the death of his parent, he succeeded to the extensive banking concern in Yarmouth, and married the daughter of the late William Palgrave, Esq., of Coltishall, in Norfolk. No botanist of his day was better acquainted with the genera and species of lichens and mosses, of which his admirable "Synopsis of the British Fuci," his "Muscologia Hibernica Spicilegium," and, above all, his "Fuci, sive Plantarum Fusorum Generi a Botanica descriptarum Icones, Descriptiones ac Historia," in four large volumes, in Latin and English, with 258 coloured figures, give conclusive proofs. The last was such a work as none but an ardent lover of science, with a princely fortune at his command, could have accomplished. "The Botanist's Guide," compiled in conjunction with J. W. Dillwyn, Esq., was at the time of its publication a work of value, and laid the foundation for "Watson's Botanist's Guide to the Localities of the Rarer Plants of Britain," and other works by the same author. His knowledge of British plants was very considerable and very correct, as his numerous communications to the "English Botany" of Sir James Smith abundantly testify. His botanical collections form part of those at Kew, and are under the care of his son-in-law, Sir W. J. Hooker. He was elected a Fellow of the Linnean Society in 1797; and his valuable papers in the "Transactions," on Algæ, Lichens, and Mosses, attest his worth as a member of that body. In 1809 he was chosen a member of the Imperial Academy; in 1802, of the Royal Society; in 1803, of the Society of Antiquaries; and he was ultimately elected a member of nearly all the most distinguished Literary and Scientific Societies in Europe. His works on "The Architectural Antiquities of Normandy" reflected credit on his taste and judgment. It is remarkable (says the Athenæum) that Brown and Turner, born within a year or two of each other, connected for a long period by kindred pursuits, should lie dying at the same time, within a few miles of each other. Brown's death had the precedence of a week; and when Sir W. J. Hooker made the fact of his death known to Mr. Turner, he said, as soon as he comprehended it, "Poor fellow,"—and these were the last words he distinctly uttered.

Mynheer Temminck, Director of the Museum of Natural History, at Leyden, and author of one of the best works on Netherlands-India, died at the advanced age of eighty.

The death of the Marquis (Oliver de St. George) de Verac, at the age of ninety, in his old château du Tremblay, cannot pass without a word on our part. When a boy he filled the post of private secretary to the Baron de Breteuil, then a resident at Soleure. Baron and boy alone possessed the secret (out of Paris) of the intended royal journey to Varennes. The gallant lad more than once put his life in jeopardy by secret visits to the capital, and even after the arrest of the unhappy sovereigns, he contrived to put himself in communication with the royal prisoners. M. de Verac retained in his possession several letters and fragments of letters written by Louis the Sixteenth and Marie-Antoinette, and the hoped-for publication of these would tend, we are assured, to raise in the general esteem the king and queen to whom misfortune gave such terrible dignity.

William Weir, the editor of the Daily News, was added to the list of the departed; he had occupied that honourable position since the death of Mr. Hunt, in 1851, and he had maintained it with such straightforwardness of spirit, such honesty of principle, such vigour and such courtesy, as to win for himself not only the affection of his friends and colleagues, but the respect and admiration of his political opponents. For about thirty years he had pursued with honour and advantage a literary and political career in his native country, Scotland, first, and subsequently in England; beginning that career when he was about twenty-five years old, and after a brief essay of the legal profession at the Scottish bar. He was a man of great endowments, of strong natural sense, of gentle heart—a learned, a modest, and a wise man—in the ranks of literature there was not a nobler or more unassuming soldier than he; and if the nearest and dearest to him may look on his grave with weeping eyes, they may turn from it too with a mournful pride in their aching hearts, —Athenæum.

NEW PERIODICAL.

On the first of March next will be published, price 6d., No. 1 of the Literary Record, a new monthly periodical, to be conducted on a new principle, and which will differ from every existing periodical as much as chalk differs from cheese! The Literary Record will, to all intents and purposes, supply a want, and will be found a vade mecum for Authors, Editors, Journalists, Artists, and the whole Book-making, Book-selling, and Book-reading public. If the projector's idea be realised in fact—and there is no reason why it should not be—then the Literary Record will become the constant companion of every public Reading-room, Editor's-desk, and Bookseller's-counter in the country.

SOME OF THE OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

ON

"THE LITERARY AND EDUCATIONAL YEAR BOOK FOR 1859."

"To the class for the use of which it is designed, this Year-Book will be valuable. In future issues, errors may be corrected and additions made: but, as it stands, the compilation has been very carefully developed. It contains a List of Books, English, American, and Foreign, published in 1858, with new editions and reduced re-issues, engravings and maps, a catalogue of lecturers, newspapers in town, country, and colonies, and publishers. After these come Records of the Oxford Middle-Class Examinations, and the Society of Arts proceedings. The 'Year-Book' is also the directory of London Penny Reading-rooms, the dictionary of Universities, Colleges, and Public Schools: it supplies an account of Learned and Scientific Societies and Societies of Art. All Mechanics' Institutes find themselves indicated in it. In a word, it is a very full and careful compendium of whatever should be comprised in a practical literary and educational annual. We trust that its success may be such as will induce the proprietors to improve it year by year, until it acquires a standard reputation."—The Athenæum.

"It is the first attempt of the kind, and is most ably executed. We have ourselves found it exceedingly useful for purposes of reference."—Literary Gazette.

"Here are more than 300 pages of useful information for half-a-crown. It is, indeed, a most extraordinary collection of matter, and the utility of the work is immense."—The Leader.

"A very useful annual, containing a vast mass of information connected with literature, art, science, and education. As for the information directly or indirectly connected with education, it occupies nearly one hundred pages, and is really an extraordinary display for the number of colleges, schools, societies, institutions, and the like, which exists in this favoured country."—The Spectator.

"A highly useful volume. A great deal of the matter here inserted cannot be found elsewhere. The information is very full, and, as far as we have been able to test it, perfectly correct."—The Morning Chronicle.

"As an educational manual it is useful and complete; giving in its comprehensive range of information just the facts which every class of students and teachers need to know. It contains, for example, all the regulations of the Oxford Middle-Class Examinations, with the results that have attended the working of the scheme. We notice this merely as an illustration of its usefulness as a manual of educational information. Scarcely any fact that may be needed in connexion with the whole subject will be here looked for in vain. We heartily commend it to the attention of our readers as an excellent text-book of literary and educational facts."—The Daily News.

"The appearance of this publication will be welcomed by the community. It is a general calendar of literature, education, and science—a desideratum long wanted."—The Morning Post.

"If a bookseller, secretary of a book society, or any other person wants to know the price, size, and publisher of any book, map, or print published during 1858, he can find it here. If news-agents or advertisers want to know the name, age, price, politics, or day of publication of any newspaper, or weekly, or monthly, or quarterly periodical they can find it here. If a lecturer wants a list of mechanics' and literary institutions, or if the members of such institutions want a list of lecturers, with the addresses, and subject on which they lecture, they can find it at a glance in the 'Literary and Educational Year-Book.' Or should anybody want to know the nature and objects of the metropolitan learned societies, with the names of their officers, and the papers read before each society during 1858, or the names of the successful candidates of the Oxford Middle-Class Examination, with all the information for the 1859 examination, or the names of the graduates at the universities, or the names of the professors, tutors, masters, examiners, &c., of the universities themselves, or of the principal grammar schools, or the schools of art and design, book-hawking societies, young men's associations, &c., he can find what he requires in this book. The book contains 300 closely printed pages, has evidently been edited with great care, and will no doubt be consulted as a valuable work of reference on all matters appertaining to literature, education, science, and art; and we have, therefore, great pleasure in heartily recommending it to our readers."—The Morning Star.

"The publishers of this work have commenced an annual publication which cannot but prove very valuable to scholars, literary men, lecturers, librarians, and biblioplists. To the possessors of libraries and book clubs, and authors generally, the work cannot but be acceptable. The design is excellent, and of a character that the older it gets the more real value it acquires. It is to be regretted that a work on this plan had not long since been adopted."—The Daily Telegraph.

"This plan is admirably worked out, and is an octavo, containing 300 pages of packed information, with a carefully prepared index, and will be found to be an interesting compendium of the educational status of the country, and a very useful companion."—The Newcastle Daily Chronicle.

"An admirable compilation, and a prodigious product of intelligent industry."—The Sunday Times.

"This is a compilation meant chiefly for professional persons; but from its excellent arrangement, and the great variety of information it contains, useful to all who have need of references to literature, education, or their professors. Besides lists of publishers, books published, periodicals, and publications of every class, with names, addresses, and such general notations added as may guide the reader in the direction which his need requires, it contains an obituary of eminent personages connected with literature, science, and art, an abstract of the copyright law, hints on many literary matters that will be found beneficial, and a general reference to the principles advocated by the several newspapers of the United Kingdom. It would be superfluous to add that the information afforded on educational subjects is equally correct, general, and, in some cases, particular. We have examined the book thoroughly, and can safely recommend it."—The Weekly Times.

"A new annual, containing many elaborate lists and tables useful to those engaged in literature and education."—The Statesman.

"It contains a fund of information useful to every class interested in literature and education; and has well earned a place on every library table."—The Inquirer.

"It would be difficult to conceive of a person to whom this work would not be found of great use. To many it will be invaluable. We are very glad to find that the editor has had the good sense to give scientific persons and scientific subjects their just position, which is a very prominent one. It only remains for us to recommend it to every reader, as being far the most voluminous, complete, and accurate compilation that has ever yet appeared. It deserves to sell, and we have no doubt will sell, to an unprecedented extent."—The Mechanics' Magazine.

"When we see a useful compilation like this for the first time the question arises, why such an annual has not made its appearance before? Now, however, it has appeared, there cannot be a doubt of its great and deserved success."—The Illustrated London News.

"Authors, editors, publishers, booksellers, lecturers, teachers, scientific men and artists, the secretaries of literary and other public institutions, and all interested in literature and education, must be thankful to the proprietors of this work, as it contains, within the space of 300 pages, lists of 5,500 English and American books, maps, and prints published in 1858, with the size, price, and publisher of each; lists of about 1,500 London and provincial newspapers and periodicals, and a list of foreign and colonial newspapers; the names, addresses, and subjects treated on by 700 professional and gratuitous lecturers; a list of the learned societies of the metropolis, stating the nature and objects of each, and the titles of the papers read before each in 1858; lists of nearly 2,000 mechanics' and literary institutions, schools of art and science, young men's associations, universities and grammar schools, successful candidates of the middle class, and society of arts union of institutions examination, and all the information pertaining to the examination, 1858; the titles of 210 subjects for prizes and premiums offered by the institution of civil engineers, and society of arts, and a variety of information on literary and artistic copyright law, publishing, advertising, &c."—The Carlisle Examiner.

"Those of our readers who desire to obtain a birdseye-view of the current Literature of Europe, and of England especially, should possess themselves of this admirably edited work."—Boston Recorder (United States).

"Information about Literary matters will be found in this work that cannot be derived from any publication extant. No end of labour must have been put forth in its compilation."—New Brunswick Presbyterian.

"There has been published in London, this year, a book which will be found exceedingly valuable to literary men—'The Literary and Educational Year-Book.' It is an octavo volume of 300 pages, crowded with facts such as persons who have to do with literary and educational matters are constantly requiring, and often find it impossible to obtain. For the English public it must be of essential service."—Toronto Globe.

"The information it affords is of the amplest order. We cannot, in fact, perceive that it is deficient in any single matter that should be found in its pages."—The Weekly Dispatch.

"It contains all the information that is so continually required for reference by librarians, editors, lecturers, secretaries, and indeed by the literary public in general."—The Beacon.

"This is a Year-book for editors, lecturers, teachers, secretaries of societies, proprietors of schools, students of art and science, aspirants to fame, and even everyday readers of current literature. It is a solid octavo of 300 pages, beautifully printed and admirably arranged, and contains complete lists of all the books published, at home and abroad, in 1858, with names of authors and publishers, and the prices; lists of literary institutions and lecturers; lists of publishers, newspapers, and periodicals, both English and Foreign; lists of the articles which have appeared in all the Quarterly Reviews ; a full account of all the great seminaries, sections of study, exhibitions, prizes, &c. ; notices of all the learned societies, and lists of the papers read before them during the past year, to which are added hundreds of notes, jottings, &c., on matters literary, scientific, and scholastic, so arranged as to convey matters of fact only in the forms most convenient for reference. It might truly be called a university and scientific, as well as a 'Literary Year-Book,' for it is the best index to all that exists in the shape of machinery for advancing and diffusing knowledge ever yet attempted, and will take its place as a valuable work of reference on all that pertains to literature, science, and art. It is, indeed, the intellect of the whole world melted down into one shining globule."—The City Press.

"This work combines within a compass of 300 pages more reference information for scholars, authors, publishers, booksellers, lecturers, teachers, scientific men, and artists, than was ever before collected in so small a space. It is a microcosm of the literary and educational life of England, and must be consulted to be duly valued."—Bent's Literary Advertiser.

"The book is indispensable to all persons interested in literature and education."—Bath Express.

"In an age like this, it is difficult to find any place in the realm of literature unoccupied. This work has, however, been fortunate enough to discover such a position and to take it, and in that position is admirably fitted to serve the cause of letters and progress."—The Homilist.

"This is a book, excellent in idea, novel in design, well executed, and likely to be extensively useful."—The Weekly Record.

"The 'Literary Year-Book' is decidedly the most useful annual of literary information that has ever been compiled. It is as impartial as it is various."—The Reasoner.

"This is an extraordinary publication. It is a perfect treasury of information on literary and educational subjects, and, for the first issue, the book is wonderfully complete."—The Christian World.

"The compiler of this work is entitled to warm thanks for this valuable result of persevering industry. It is the very book which literary men, librarians and secretaries of literary institutions, booksellers, and, indeed, all persons who wish to know anything about modern authors and their productions, have long wished for, but hardly expected to find. Here it is, in a portable, compendious, and yet copious form. We anticipate for the volume a most extensive circulation."—The Wesleyan Times.

"This manual cannot be too highly spoken of. It is to literature just what Kelly's London Directory' is to trade and commerce, and will be highly prized by all who read and study, as a means of saving time. All the information it contains has been most carefully compiled and arranged."—Bell's Weekly Messenger.

NEW WEEKLY MAGAZINE

Politics, Legislation, Literature, Science, and Art.

THE OLD-FASHIONED WEEKLY NEWSPAPER, as regards mere intelligence, is fast being superseded by the Cheap Daily Press in Town and Country, and must be replaced by that still superior species of publication which is exemplified in its leading articles; and in compliance with this remarkable necessity,

On Saturday, 7th January,

THE LONG-ESTABLISHED AND INTELLECTUAL PAPER,

THE LEADER,

WAS ISSUED AS

The Leader and Saturday Analyst,

CONSISTING ENTIRELY OF

ORIGINAL ARTICLES AND ESSAYS,

BY WRITERS OF THE HIGHEST ABILITY IN THEIR VARIOUS PURSUITS.

The character of a newspaper is so far abandoned that nothing is admitted but

SPECIALLY WRITTEN ARTICLES,

Which analyse and record all the POLITICAL, LITERARY, SCIENTIFIC, AND ARTISTIC EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

A RECORD of the most important events is afforded, and occasionally highly important and historical Documents will be reprinted for future reference; but nothing will be inserted that has not undergone such revision or re-writing as to entitle it to rank with the original compositions. In truth, to use the apt phrase of a witty modern essayist, "The paste-pot and scissors are banished from the sub-editor's room."

The FEARLESS INDEPENDENCY which has always characterized THE LEADER will be continued and carried out to the extremest limit as

THE LEADER AND SATURDAY ANALYST,

and the new career thus designed for it is, indeed, only carrying out to the extreme its original intention of treating intellectually all Public and Social matters. The abandonment of the mere news, and the substitution of cannot, it is hoped, be displeasing either to its old Subscribers or its new readers; for, being news-crammed by the daily papers, it is anticipated that they must prefer to the unavoidably stale intelligence able commentary and powerful elucidation of the topics of the week.

No expense or labour will be spared in keeping together

A Numerous Staff of Able, Informed, and Influential Writers,

Who will pass in review, analyse, and record all the important

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS, POLITICAL EVENTS,
LITERARY PRODUCTIONS,

ARTISTIC WORKS,
SCIENTIFIC MATTERS, AND SOCIAL OCCURRENCES

Of the week.

THE LEADER AND SATURDAY ANALYST,

A Weekly Review and Record of Political, Literary, and Artistic Events,

Was issued on the 7th inst., and will therefore henceforth be published every Saturday in time for the Morning Mails, with a Friday Evening Edition in time for the Country Mails.

PRICE FIVEPENCE — STAMPED, SIXPENCE.

A QUARTER, 6s. 6d. per Post.

OFFICE :—18 CATHERINE STREET. STRAND. LONDON. W.C.

Published on the 1st of each Month, beautifully printed, copiously illustrated, and containing contributions from many of the leading popular writers of the day,

M. Bellow; a Pulpit Sketch—Sundown; a Novel. By EDWARD COPPING—The Heart of Commerce—The Story of the Syren, &c. Engravings:—Maternal Education—A Winter Scene—Incident in the Reformation at Paris—Grandpapa.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"A feature in this magazine are the political sketches by Mr. Ritchie. This month we have Lord John Russell photographed from the life. The amount of readable matter which is interspersed with the engravings is far beyond the proportion which might be expected in a periodical of the peculiar description of the 'National,' which exhibits practised editorial skill."—Illustrated London News.

"The 'National Magazine' contains a great variety of light and amusing articles—so many, indeed, that we can only find room to advert to some of the most prominent."—Morning Star.

"The 'National Magazine' contains good biographical articles on Lord John Russell and the Rev. Charles Kingsley."—Literary Gazette.

"This comes fairly under the denomination of a Christmas number, and both letter-press and illustrations claim praise. The 'Burial of Harold' is a fine specimen of wood-engraving, and in other respects the part is almost all that can be wished."—Weekly Dispatch.

"Mr. Ritchie is improving the 'National Magazine,' not only by the vigour and ability of his own articles, but by the more careful attention which is paid to the details—literary, artistic, and mechanical—of the publication."—Sunday Times.

"The 'National Magazine' for the present month contains a number of short and very readable papers. We consider it at least equal to its competitor, 'Once a Week,' both as a pictorial and literary work. Among other papers that we have read with considerable interest is the graphic pulpit of the Rev. C. Kingsley."—Critic.

"The 'National Magazine.'—A most appropriate number for the season, fraught with talent and amusement. 'The Breaking-up,' with its beautiful engraving, will fill many a young heart with joyful anticipations, and bring back to many an old one pensive shadows of the days that are gone. The sketch of Lord John Russell, though in many respects graphic and discriminative, we regard as thoroughly one-sided, and in some particulars most unjust. But we must not quarrel with writers for holding their own opinions, and there is abundance of good things in the 'National' for this month to sweeten the bitter, though spicy, sauce of Mr. J. Ewing Ritchie."—Illustrated News of the World.

"The 'National Magazine' has, we understand, passed under a different management, and a considerable improvement is perceptible. It is more varied and entertaining in its character, and the type has been improved. Mr. Ewing Ritchie, who is furnishing a series of political sketches, shows us the character of our present Foreign Secretary. Lord John is fairly and smartly sketched; but when Mr. Ritchie speaks of his courtly and in debate, we think he overlooks sundry passages in 'Hansard.'"—Sun.

BRISTOL SCHOOL OF CHEMISTRY, KINGSDOWN PARADE,

Conducted by F. W. GRIFFIN, Ph.D., Author of "A Compendium of Analysis," &c.

PHARMACEUTISTS, AGRICULTURISTS, MANUFACTURERS, and Others, will find in the well-appointed Laboratory every facility for obtaining a speedy knowledge of CHEMICAL ANALYSIS, with the USE of THE MICROSCOPE, as applied to their respective pursuits. An extensively illustrated COURSE OF LECTURES is given annually. A detailed Prospectus may be had free by post.

Testimonial from W. T. BRANDE, Esq., D.C.L., F.R.S., of the Royal Institution, Professor of Chemistry, and Materia Medica to the Apothecary's Company, &c., &c.

Dear Sir,

Royal Mint, Feb. 1, 1854.

You desire my opinion of the fitness of your Laboratory and Lecture Room as a Private School of Practical Chemistry. I have no hesitation in pronouncing them well adapted for that purpose, and in assuring you that, on my late visit to Bristol, I was much pleased with the efficiency and convenience of your arrangements, which seem to include all that can be required by the student for the purpose of instruction and research.

I remain, my dear Sir, faithfully yours, WILLIAM THOMAS BRANDE.

* * Dr. GRIFFIN performs Analyses of Drugs and other Commercial Products, Soils, Manures, Waters, Ores, &c., by the most recent and accurate methods.

A COMPENDIUM OF QUALITATIVE ANALYSIS

Arranged in a Series of Tables,

Separately Mounted on Boards and Varnished, for Laboratory use, or neatly Half-bound, for the Library.

REVIEWS.

"These Tables will be found exceedingly convenient, and should command the attention of both Teachers and Students. A Laboratory will henceforth be absolutely incomplete without these excellent Tables."—Chemist, December, 1857.

"The adoption of these Tables would, we feel convinced, materially lessen the labour of both Teachers and Students of Practical Chemistry, and we can therefore recommend them very warmly."—Med. Times, Feb. 1858.

"Compiled with great care.... The junior student will find these Tables of use as a guide to his progress, while the more advanced Chemist will find them economically valuable for the purpose of refreshing his memory."—Athenaeum, June 12, 1858.

"The learned author of this work has filled a void. The directions are plain, pertinent, and sufficient, and the classification of the whole is perfect. It is the most satisfactory guide the language affords."—World, January, 1859.

MODERN DOMESTIC MEDICINE, forming a Comprehensive Medical Guide for the Clergy, Families, and Emigrants. By T. J. GRAHAM, M.D., Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England.

"Of all the medical guides that have come to our hands, this is by far the best. For fulness and completeness they all yield the palm to Dr. Graham's."—Banner.

"Undoubtedly the best medical work for private families in the English Language. It is invaluable."—Literary Times.

"We always rejoice in an opportunity of calling attention to Dr. Graham's 'Domestic Medicine' which we have long considered as far excelling every publication of its class."—British Standard, February, 1859.

A bookseller of Wrexham, to whom the editor of the "Literary and Educational Year-Book" applied for facts respecting Literary Institutions, promptly and courteously complied with the request, and added the following suggestive information :—

"Wrexham, November 22, 1859.

"DEAR SIR,

"I have made two additions to your list of Wrexham Associations. As to the other towns and villages in this county : the towns are small, and the prevailing language of the middle and working population is Welsh, except for purely commercial purposes. The daily Liverpool, Manchester, and London papers are now sold in such places as Ruabon, Llangollen, &c. ; and in the sale of the cheap Welsh papers there is a large circulation, and of Welsh periodicals a much larger circulation, amongst the working class than the same class in England. There is scarcely a village in Wales without having its annual literary meeting, at which prizes of books are given for the best compositions on useful and literary subjects ; and at these meetings a day is taken up to hear the opinions of the judges, and often the reading of the composition. We sell a large number of books in the Welsh language for these associations. It is usual to charge threepence or sixpence admission, and the proceeds go towards the prize fund for the next literary gathering ; and it is pleasing to note that at these gatherings working men and women and their children take the management, and are the competitors for the honours. This movement has greatly increased the demand for Welsh and English grammars and Welsh and English dictionaries."

MIDDLE-CLASS EXAMINATION.

UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD.—REGULATIONS FOR THE YEAR 1860.

Under the Statute "De Examinatione Candidatorum qui non sunt de Corpore Universitatis."

The examination will commence on the morning of Tuesday, the 5th of June. Junior and senior candidates will be examined at the same time; but the papers for the two examinations will be different.

EXAMINATION OF JUNIOR CANDIDATES.

(For Certificates.)

Candidates must not be more than 15 years of age on the day when the examination begins. 1. All candidates at this examination will be required to satisfy the examiners in—1. Reading aloud a passage from some English author. 2. Writing from dictation. The analysis and parsing of a passage taken from Cowper's Task, Book II. (The Time-piece). A few questions suggested by this portion of the poem will be added. 4. Writing a short English composition, such as a description of a place, an account of some useful natural or artificial product, or the like. 5. Arithmetic. No candidate will be passed who cannot work the first four rules, simple and compound. 6. Geography. Every candidate will be required to fill up an outline map of either of England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Spain, or Italy, by inserting the chief ranges of mountains, the chief rivers, and chief towns. Questions will also be set in geography. 7. The outlines of English history, including the succession of sovereigns, the chief events, and some account of the leading men, in each reign. N.B. The quality of the handwriting, and the spelling, in the several exercises will be taken into account.

*II. The examination in the rudiments of faith and religion will consist of questions in—1. The Books of Genesis and Exodus, and the Gospel of St. Mark. The Catechism, the Morning and Evening Services, and the Litany.

III. Papers will also be set in the following eight subjects; and every candidate will be required to offer himself for examination in one subject at least; but no candidate will be examined in more than four:—1. †Latin. A passage will be given from "Cæsar de Bello Gallico," (Books I. II.) for translation into English, with grammatical and general questions. An easy passage from some Latin poet for translation into English. A passage of English (with the Latin words supplied) for translation into Latin. 2. †Greek. A passage will be given from Xenophon's Cyropædia (Book I.), for translation into English, with grammatical and general questions. An easy passage from some Greek poet for translation into English. 3. French. A passage will be given from Fenelon's Télémaque, † (Books I.—V.), for translation into English, with grammatical and general questions. A passage from a French newspaper for translation into English. English sentences for translation into French. 4. German. A passage will be given from Fouqué's Undine, † for translation into English, with grammatical and general questions. A passage from a German paper for translation into English. English sentences for translation into German. 5. Mathematics. Euclid, Books I. II. Arithmetic. Algebra to simple equations inclusive. This amount of knowledge will enable a candidate to pass in this subject. Questions will also be set in Euclid,

Books III. IV. VI., in quadratic equations, progressions, and proportion, plane trigonometry not beyond the solution of triangles, the use of logarithms, mensuration, and practical geometry. 6. Mechanics and Mechanism. The questions on Mechanics will be chiefly of an elementary character. The answers should be illustrated by diagrams and drawings, where these can be introduced. Great importance will be attached to good drawing. 7. Chemistry. Questions will be set on the elementary facts of chemistry. Solutions will be given to be tested, containing each not more than one acid and one base. 8. Botany and Zoology. Questions will be set on the classification of plants and animals, their uses, and geographical distribution. British plants and parts of plants will be given for description.

IV. Candidates may also offer themselves for examination in—1. a. Drawing in outline from the flat. b. Drawing with light and shade from a cast or model. 2. The grammar of music.

The names of the successful candidates will be arranged in three divisions; those in the first division will be placed in order of merit; those in the second and third divisions alphabetically. After each successful candidate's name will be inserted his age, the place of his residence, and the school (if any) from which he comes to attend the examination. The certificate given to each successful candidate will specify the subjects in which he has satisfied the Examiners. The fact that a candidate has passed the examination in the rudiments of faith and religion, although it will not affect his place on the list, will be entered on his certificate, and signified by a mark prefixed to his name in the division lists.

EXAMINATION OF SENIOR CANDIDATES.

(For the Title of Associate in Arts.)

Candidates must not be more than 18 years of age on the day when the examination begins. I. All Candidates at this examination will be required to satisfy the examiners in—1. Analysis of English sentences and parsing, and correction of faulty sentences. 2. A short English composition. 3. Arithmetic. 4. Geography. Every candidate will be required to fill up an outline map of some country in Europe to be named by the examiners, by inserting the chief ranges of mountains, the chief rivers, and the chief towns. Questions will also be set in geography. 5. The outlines of English history, including the succession of sovereigns, the chief events, and the characters of the leading men in each reign. N.B. The quality of the handwriting, and the spelling, in the several exercises will be taken into account.

§II. The examination in the rudiments of faith and religion will consist of questions in—1. The historical Scriptures of the Old Testament to the death of Solomon; the Gospels of St. Mark and St. John, and the Acts of the Apostles. Those who offer themselves for examination in Greek will be expected to answer questions on the same parts of the Greek Testament. 2. The Catechism, the Morning and Evening Services, and the Litany; and the outlines of the history of the Book of Common Prayer.

III. Every candidate will also be required to satisfy the examiners in two at least of the sections marked A, B, C, D; or in one of those four and in one of those marked E, F.

SECTION A.—English.

This will include questions in—1. English history from the accession of James I. to the death of Anne; and the outlines of the history of English literature during the same period. 2. Shakspeare's King Henry VIII., and Johnson's Rasselas. 3. The outlines of political economy and English law. The examination will not extend beyond the subjects treated of in the first book of Smith's Wealth of Nations, and the first volume of Blackstone's Commentaries. 4. Physical, political, and commercial geography. A fair knowledge of one of these four classes of subjects will enable a candidate to pass in this section.

SECTION B.—Languages.

1. ¶Latin. 2. ¶Greek. 3. French. 4. German. A fair knowledge of one of these languages will enable a candidate to pass in this section.

SECTION C.—Mathematics.

1. Pure mathematics, to differential calculus inclusive. 2. Mechanics (including mechanism) and hydrostatics mathematically treated, surveying, and navigation. Algebra to the end of quadratic equations and four books of Euclid will enable a candidate to pass in this section. The answers in this section should be illustrated by diagrams and drawings, where these can be introduced. Great importance will be attached to good drawing.

SECTION D.—Physics.

1. Natural philosophy. 2. Chemistry. Questions will be set on the facts and general principles of chemical science. There will be a practical examination in the elements of analysis. 3. Vegetable and animal physiology. Questions will be set on vegetable physiology in general, and the special functions of the parts of plants; and on the general types and characteristic variations of animal structures and functions. Parts of plants and bones of vertebrata will be given for description. 4. Geology and mineralogy; comprising the ascertained facts of the structure of the earth, the origin, composition, and uses of rocks, and the history of organic remains; the chemical and physical characters, and geometrical forms, of simple minerals. A fair knowledge of one of these four classes of subjects will enable a candidate to pass in this section; but in all cases a practical acquaintance with the subject-matter will be indispensable. The answers in this section should be illustrated by diagrams and drawings, where these can be introduced. Great importance will be attached to good drawing.

SECTION E.—Drawing and Architecture.

1. Drawing in outline from a cast or model, and also drawing with light and shade from the same. 2. Drawing in perspective. 3. Drawing in colour from a natural object. 4. Design for an ornament of pattern; or, for a picture. 5. Questions founded on Wornum's Epochs of Painting,* Books I. III. IV. V. 6. Drawing of plans, sections, and elevations, with questions on the elementary facts of construction. Candidates will be required to satisfy the examiners in 1 and 2 in order to pass in this section, and in 3 in order to be placed in the first and second division of it.

SECTION F.—Music.

1. The grammar of music. 2. The history and principles of musical composition. The elements of thorough bass will be required in order that a candidate may pass in this section. Separate lists of those who distinguish themselves will be published for each of the sections A, B, C, D, E, F, arranged in two divisions. The names in each first division will be arranged in order of merit; those in each second division alphabetically. The names of the other successful candidates will be printed in a general alphabetical list. After each successful candidate's name will be inserted his age, the place of his residence, and the school (if any) from which he comes to attend the examination. Every candidate who passes will receive the Vice-Chancellor's certificate conferring the title of Associate in Arts, and specifying the subjects in which he has satisfied the examiners. The fact that a candidate has passed the examination in the rudiments of faith and religion, although it will not affect his place on the list, will be entered on his certificate, and signified by a mark prefixed to his name in the division lists.

PLACE OF EXAMINATION.

The examination will be held in Oxford, and simultaneously, in other places, if it be requested and found expedient. Local committees wishing to have an examination held in their several districts, may obtain all necessary information from the Rev. J. E. Sewell, New College, Oxford.

Time of Applying.

Candidates desirous of being examined at Oxford must apply to the secretary on or before Saturday the 21st of April, 1860. Candidates desirous of being examined at any other place must apply to the secretary of the local committee at such place on or before Saturday, the 21st of April, 1860. No candidate's name will be received at any place after the 21st of April. Local committees desirous of having examinations held in their several districts must apply on or before the 1st of February, 1860.

Fees.

Every candidate at the junior examination will be required to pay a fee of 15s. Every candidate at the senior examination will be required to pay a fee of 30s. These fees must be paid on or before Saturday, the 21st of April, 1860.—J. E. SEWELL, Secretary. Oxford, Delegates' Room, Oct. 27, 1859.

* An edition of the Epochs of Painting, corrected and revised by the Author, is now ready. Price 6s. Murray, London.

SOCIETY OF ARTS UNION OF INSTITUTES.

FINAL EXAMINATION BY THE SOCIETY'S EXAMINERS, 1860.

The following is the list of subjects for the Final Examinations in 1860:—

I. Arithmetic.

II. Book-keeping, by Double Entry.

III. Algebra.

IV. Geometry.

V. Mensuration.

VI. Trigonometry.

VII. Conic Sections.

VIII. Navigation and Nautical Astronomy.

- IX. Principles of Mechanics.
- X. Practical Mechanics.
- XI. Magnetism, Electricity, and Heat.
- XII. Astronomy.
- XIII. Chemistry.
- XIV. Animal Physiology.
- XV. Botany.
- XVI. Agriculture.
- XVII. Political and Social Economy.
- XVIII. Geography.
- XIX. English History.
- XX. English Literature.
- XXI. Logic.
- XXII. Latin and Roman History.
- XXIII. French.
- XXIV. German.
- XXV. Theory of Music.

Drawing has been withdrawn from the list of subjects, not because the Council considers that Drawing is unimportant—for everyone ought to be able to draw—but because the Government has provided, in all parts of the kingdom, for the Annual Examination of Candidates in Drawing; and the Council thinks that it would be a waste of resources for the Society of Arts to follow in the steps of the Government with similar proceedings. An account of the Government Examinations in Drawing is given in the Appendix, page 12.

To indicate the portions of the subjects that will be taken in the Examinations, the Examiners in the several departments have set down certain Text-books. But they desire it to be distinctly understood that in so doing they do not pronounce any opinion as to the comparative merit of the works named. The selection is in many cases determined by the cheapness of the book, or by its being in common use. Real knowledge, however or wherever acquired, will be accepted by the Examiners of the Society of Arts.

I.—ARITHMETIC.

Practice—Proportion, Simple and Compound—Greatest Common Measure—Fractions, Vulgar and Decimal—Interest, Discount, and Insurance. The principles of a Decimal Notation in money on the basis of the pound unit.

The Examiners will take into account not only the correctness of the answers, but the excellence of the methods by which they are worked out, and the clearness and neatness of the working (which must always be shown). Round, compact figures, as nearly like as possible to old-fashioned printed numerals, will be preferred.

Text Books:—Any of the Modern Treatises on Arithmetic, such as Hunter's Text Book (National Society), Colenso (Longmans), or Barnard Smith (Bell and Daldy).

II.—BOOK-KEEPING BY DOUBLE ENTRY.

Candidates should be prepared to answer questions as to the nature and use of the different books usually kept in a merchant's office. They should be prepared to journalise a series of transactions from a waste-book, and, having posted the entries to the ledger, to balance the accounts, to prove them by a trial-balance, and finally to exhibit an account of profit and loss, with a balance-sheet.

Candidates should be prepared to draw the usual commercial forms, such as receipts, bills of exchange, promissory notes, invoices, account sales, accounts current, bills of parcels, and to explain the meanings of technical terms used in general business.

Text Books:—Book-keeping, Irish School Series. (Groombridge).

Rudimentary Book-keeping. (Weale's Series.)

Kelly's Elements of Book-keeping. (Simpkins and Co.)

III.—ALGEBRA.

Algebraical Fractions, Square and Cube Root, Greatest Common Measure, Least Common Multiple, Simple and Quadratic Equations single and simultaneous, Ratio, and Variation. Candidates should be prepared to give Explanations of Elementary Principles and proofs of Fundamental Propositions.

Text Books:—Colenso's Algebra (Longmans), or Barnard Smiths Algebra. (Bell and Daldy).

IV.—GEOMETRY.

A facility in solving geometrical theorems and problems, deducible from the first six books of Euclid, will be expected on the part of those who desire to obtain certificates of the first or second class.

Text Books:—Euclid, Books I., II., III., IV., VI., XI., and XII. Potts' smaller edition. (Parker.)

V.—MENSURATION.

The calculation in numbers of the areas and circumferences of plano figures bounded by arcs of circles or right lines. The superficial and solid contents of cones, cylinders, and spheres, &c.

Candidates will be expected to be familiar with the different rules of measuring and estimating artificer's work, such as joiner's, bricklayer's, mason's, slater's, and plumber's work, and to be able to prepare estimates of such work from given quantities.

Text Books:—Tate's Mensuration. Young's Treatise on Mensuration. (Simms and McIntyre.)

VI.—TRIGONOMETRY.

In Plane Trigonometry, the formulæ for the trigonometrical functions of the sum of two angles, the numerical solution of plane triangles, and the use of logarithmic tables, &c.

Spherical Trigonometry, Napier's Rules, Solution of Spherical Triangles.

Text Books :—Snowball's Trigonometry, (Macmillan, Cambridge,) Hall's Trigonometry for Schools, (Christian Knowledge Society), or any of the modern treatises on Algebraical Trigonometry. Mathematical Tables (Chambers' Series).

VII.—CONIC SECTIONS.

The properties of the three curves treated geometrically ; also as deduced from the conic. The principles of projection, orthogonal and central, applied to derive the properties of the Conic Sections from those of the circle.

Analytical Conics, including the equations of the straight line, the circle, the three conic sections, and the general equation of the second degree.

Text Books :—Puckle's Conic Sections (Macmillan). Todhunter's Conic Sections (Macmillan). Salmon's Conic Sections (Longmans). Drew's Conic Sections (Macmillan). Whewell's Conic Sections (Parker).

VIII.—NAVIGATION AND NAUTICAL ASTRONOMY.

A good knowledge of Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, of the definitions and terms used in Nautical Astronomy, and of the various measurements of time and their mutual conversions, will be required, as well as skill in the use of logarithmic tables, and neatness, order and accuracy in the numerical solutions of problems. The candidate should understand the construction of charts ; the nature and laws of circular storms ; great circle sailing, &c. ; the methods of determining the latitude, longitude, variation of the compass, and error and rate of a chronometer by astronomical observations, with the demonstrations of the formulæ employed ; the use of Nautical Astronomical Instruments, &c.

Text Books :—The Nautical Almanac (Murray). Riddle's Navigation and Nautical Astronomy (Law, Essex-street).

IX.—PRINCIPLES OF MECHANICS.

The properties of matter, solid, fluid, and gaseous.

Statics : The composition, resolution, and equilibrium of pressures acting on a material particle ; constrained particles ; machines ; attractions.

Dynamics : Gravitation ; collision ; constrained motions ; projectiles ; oscillations.

Rigid Dynamics : Motion of a rigid body about a point ;—of a free rigid body ;—of a system of rigid bodies.

Hydrostatics : Pressures of fluids ; equilibrium of floating bodies ; specific gravity ; elastic fluids ; machines ; temperature and heat ; steam ; evaporation.

Hydrodynamics : Motion and resistance of fluids in tubes, &c. ; waves and tides.

Pneumatics : Mechanical properties of the air ; the barometer.

Text Books :

Wood's or Todhunter's Mechanics.

Goodwin's Mathematics.

Miller's, Phear's, or Webster's Hydrostatics.

Webster's Theory of Fluids.

Orr's Circle of the Sciences.

Golding Bird's Elements of Natural Philosophy, by C. Brooke. (Churchill.)

Lardner's Handbooks on Natural Philosophy.

X.—PRACTICAL MECHANICS.

The Application of the Principles of Mechanism to Simple Machines. The Steam Engine.

Text Books :—Lardner on the Steam Engine. Nasmyth's Elements of Mechanism, with remarks on Tools and Machinery. (Weale.)

XI.—MAGNETISM, ELECTRICITY, AND HEAT.

The Properties of Magnets ; Terrestrial Magnetism ; Diamagnetism. Statical or Franklinic Electricity ; Voltaic Electricity ; Electrodynamic ; Thermo-Electricity ; the Electric Telegraph.

Conduction, Convection, and Radiation of Heat ; Instruments for Measuring Heat ; Specific and Latent Heat ; Diathermancy.

Text Books :—Lardner's Handbooks of Natural Philosophy. (Walton and Maberly.)

Herschel's Discourse on the Study of Natural Philosophy (Longmans) for a general view of the subject.

XII.—ASTRONOMY.

The principles of Plane Astronomy.

Text Books :—Herschel's Astronomy. (Longmans.) First chapters.

Airy's Lectures on Astronomy.

XIII.—CHEMISTRY.

Physical. Elementary laws of heat, light, and electricity, in connexion with chemical action.

Inorganic. Chemistry of the metalloids and metals, laws of combining proportions, volumes of gases, vapours, &c.

Organic. Composition, properties and decompositions of alcohols, acids, &c.

Candidates are expected to be able to explain decompositions by the use of symbols. Questions illustrative of general principles will be selected from the following, amongst other trades and manufactures: Metallurgy of Lead, Iron, and Copper; Bleaching, Dyeing, Soap-boiling, Tanning; the manufacture of Coal-Gas, Sulphuric Acid, &c.

Text Books:—Fownes' Manual of Elementary Chemistry. Miller's Elements of Chemistry.

XIV.—ANIMAL PHYSIOLOGY.

The general principles of Animal Physiology, Practical Application of them to health and the wants of daily life.

Text Books:—Carpenter's Animal Physiology, 1859. (Bohn.)

Lardner's Animal Physics. (Walton and Maberly).

Translation of Milne-Edward's Manual of Zoology. (Renshaw.)

XV.—BOTANY.

Scientific and Applied Botany. The leading principles of Morphology, Vegetable Physiology, and the Classification of Plants. The Examination will include the characters of important Natural Orders represented in the British Flora; and of indigenous commonly cultivated plants, having noxious or useful properties; also definitions of terms used in descriptive botany.

Text Books:—Lindley's School Botany. (Longmans.)

Henfrey's Rudiments of Botany. (Van Voorst.)

Honfrey's Elementary Course of Botany. (Van Voorst.)

XVI.—AGRICULTURE.

The Theory of Agriculture, and such a general knowledge of farm practice, and of the management of live stock, as must, to some extent, have been obtained in the field. The Examination in the theory of agriculture will include both the mechanical and the chemical aspects of the subject; on the one side the advantages and results of tillage operations, and on the other the influence and the operation of particular manures and foods. The questions in farm practice will test a knowledge of the cultivation of our most important crops, and of the management of our principal domesticated animals.

Text Books:—Lowe's Elements of Practical Agriculture. (Longmans.)

Johnston's Agricultural Chemistry. (Blackwood and Sons.)

Morton's Cyclopædia of Agriculture. (Blackie and Son.)

Stewart's Book of the Farm. (Blackwood and Sons.)

XVII.—POLITICAL AND SOCIAL ECONOMY

Text Books:—Elements of Political Economy, by James Mill. Principles of Political Economy, by John Stuart Mill.

The Phenomena of Industrial Life. Edited by the Dean of Hereford. (Groombridge.)

Whateley's Lectures on Political Economy. (Parker.)

Some knowledge of the Commercial, Financial, and Statistical History of the United Kingdom will be required, for which "Porter's Progress of the Nation," and "Maculloch's Commercial Dictionary" may be consulted.

N.B.—The Principles of Political Economy, by John Stuart Mill, need be studied only by those who aspire to a first-class Certificate.

XVIII.—GEOGRAPHY.

All candidates will be expected to possess a sound knowledge of Elementary Geography, both physical and descriptive. Such knowledge will of necessity embrace an acquaintance with at least the outlines of the great natural features of the globe, the political divisions of countries, and the localities of towns and other places of importance. This kind of knowledge will be looked for in fuller extent with regard to the British Islands, and the various portions of the British Empire, than in respect of other countries. Among the tests applied to it, will be the requirement of the candidate to make, from memory, a sketch, showing the chief features of any particular country in Europe named by the Examiner, and also to sketch a map of the county in which the candidate may be resident. It will of course not be expected that such sketches should exhibit accuracy of detail, but they should at least show the general direction of coast-lines, mountain-chains, or river-courses, with the localities and names of the principal towns. The map of any particular county should embody the chief natural features which the district may include (with the situation of coal-fields, if any), and should have marked upon it any localities which are distinguished as seats of manufacturing or commercial industry.

In addition to the above, candidates who aim at the highest class of certificate should be prepared to answer questions bearing upon Geography in its relation to the Physical Sciences and the History of Mankind—that is, such questions as involve a general acquaintance with the subject of Climate, the laws of Meteorology, the Distribution of Plants and Animals over the Globe, the leading outlines of Geology, the Ethnographic Division of the Human race, and the commercial resources of different lands.

This kind of knowledge is looked for, not in place of geographical knowledge of a more elementary kind, but as supplementary to the latter, and throughout based upon it.

XIX.—ENGLISH HISTORY.

A general knowledge of the outlines of English History. A special knowledge of English History from the Conquest to the end of the reign of Stephen.

Text Books :—Hallam's Middle Ages, chapter viii. (Murray.)

Creasy's Rise and Progress of the English Constitution. (Bentley.)

The Student's Hume. (Murray.)

XX.—ENGLISH LITERATURE.

Any two, but not more than two, of the authors in the following list may be taken up for examination :—

Spenser. Faerie Queen, Book I.

Shakspeare. Julius Cæsar, Henry V., Midsummer Night's Dream.

Milton. Comus, Samson Agonistes, Lycidas, L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, Christmas Hymn, and Sonnets.

Bacon. Advancement of Learning, Book I.

Helps. Essays written in the Intervals of Business.

Wordsworth. The Excursion.

Craik's History of the English Language.

Trench on the Study of Words.

Candidates are recommended to make a very careful study of the text of the authors they may select. The questions on each author will be divided into two sections, the first intended to test the candidate's acquaintance with the text, the second his knowledge of the subject-matter and his critical and literary information. Full marks will not be given for answers to the second section, if those to the first section do not prove satisfactory.

XXI.—LOGIC.

Candidates will be expected to answer questions on the different processes of thought, and on the connexion of thought and language; to analyse examples of reasoning on various subjects, and to detect fallacies.

Text Books : Whateley's Elements of Logic; Thomson's Outline of the Laws of Thought.

XXII.—LATIN AND ROMAN HISTORY.

Livy, Book ii.

Virgil. Æneid, Book vi.

Roman History to the death of Augustus Cæsar.

Text Book :—Liddell's History of Rome (in one volume).

XXIII.—FRENCH.

The Examination paper will be divided into three parts.

The first will comprise questions on any portion of the French Grammar (to be answered in French, if possible), and an extract from a contemporary French writer to be translated into English. Candidates, in order to obtain a third-class certificate, should do full justice to this part.

The second part will comprise an English extract to be translated into French, and a list of idiomatic expressions to be rendered from French into English, or vice versa. This should be done satisfactorily by the candidate who aims at a second-class certificate.

In the third part, candidates for the first-class certificate will have, in addition to the above, to answer properly some elementary questions on the three following subjects :

1. French literature from 1830 to 1848.

2. French Weights and Measures, as compared with the English.

3. The Religious Wars in France in the sixteenth century.

Text Book :—Michelet's Réform (volume viii. of his Histoire de France).

XXIV.—GERMAN.

Schiller's Geschichte des Dreissigjährigen Krieges.

Schiller's Gedichte.

Goethe's Egmont.

Kohlrausch's Deutsche Gesichte.

Pieces from each of the above works will be given for translation. Every candidate must translate one piece. First-class certificates will be given to those only who translate well from English, and write in German a good essay relating to German history since the Reformation.

XXV.—THEORY OF MUSIC.

Notation, the modern modes, intervals, time, signatures, the staff, transposition, modulation, terms and characters in common use.

The Elements of Harmony.

Arrangements must be made in the Previous Examination by the Local Boards, to test Candidates, by oral examination, in their knowledge or appreciation of the sound of musical successions and combinations. A form of the test to be used for this purpose by the Local Board at the Previous Examination will be sent by the Council to such Local Boards as may apply for it, in due time before the Examination.

TERMS OF ADMISSION TO THE EXAMINATIONS.

Every Candidate for Examination must be "passed" by a Local Board; and (except in the cases provided for in pars. 89, 90, and 92) must be a member of, or student of a class in, an Institution in union with the Society of Arts.

INSTITUTIONS IN UNION WITH THE SOCIETY OF ARTS may present any of their members or students, above the age of 16, as Candidates for Examination, through the Local Boards, without the payment of any Examination fee.

PROVINCIAL UNIONS IN UNION WITH THE SOCIETY OF ARTS may present as Candidates for Examination, through the Local Boards, on payment to the Society of Arts of an Examination fee of 2s. 6d. by each Candidate, any persons, above the age of 16, who may be members of any Institution not in direct union with the Society of Arts, but in union with such Provincial Unions, provided that the Institution has less than 75 members, or an income of less than £75 a year.

LOCAL BOARDS, THAT DO NOT EXERCISE THE PRIVILEGE DESCRIBED IN THIS PARAGRAPH, NEED MAKE NO PAYMENT TO THE SOCIETY OF ARTS; but LOCAL BOARDS PAYING ONE GUINEA A YEAR TO THE SOCIETY OF ARTS may admit as Candidates for Examination on payment of the Examination fee of 2s. 6d. by each Candidate, any persons, above the age of 16, who reside within the limits of such Boards, at any place where there is no Institution in union with the Society of Arts, and no Institution at all having either 75 members, or an annual income of £75.

The whole of the Candidates referred to in the three last preceding paragraphs are understood to belong to those classes which, in the preliminary notice prefixed to this programme, are described as being the classes for whose benefit the Examinations of the Society of Arts are primarily designed.

LOCAL BOARDS may also admit as Candidates for Examination, any persons above 18 years of age, who do not belong to the classes last referred to, on payment to the Society of Arts of an Examination fee of 10s. 6d. by each Candidate.

It will be seen that provision is made whereby any member of an Institution, any student of a class in an Institution, or in an evening school, or any isolated pupil, or self-instructing student, or any other person, of the required ages, in any part of the United Kingdom, may be admitted to the SOCIETY'S EXAMINATION.

PRIZES FOR 1860.

The following Prizes are offered to the Candidates, viz. :—

One First Prize of £5, and one Second Prize of £3, in each of the twenty-five subjects of Examination.

No Prize in any subject will be awarded to a Candidate who does not obtain a Certificate of the first class therein.

The Prize will be given in money or in books, at the option of the Candidate.

The following Prizes are offered to the Institutions, viz. :—

To the Institution whose Candidate obtains the above-mentioned First Prize of £5 in any one of the 25 Subjects, one Prize of £5. An Institution can take more than one such Prize; but no such Prize can be taken by an Institution, unless the Council of the Society of Arts are satisfied that the Candidate, in respect of whom the Prize is claimed, has received in a class at the Institution systematic instruction in the subject for a period of not less than three months.

The following Prizes are offered to the Local Boards, viz. :—

To the Local Board whose Candidates (not fewer than twenty) obtaining Certificates bear the largest proportion (not less than three-fourths) to its whole number of Candidates :—One Prize of £10.

To the Local Board whose Candidates (not fewer than sixteen) obtaining Certificates bear the largest proportion (not less than three-fourths) to its whole number of Candidates :—One Prize of £8.

To the Local Board whose Candidates (not fewer than twelve) obtaining Certificates bear the largest proportion (not less than three-fourths) to its whole number of Candidates :

—One Prize of £6.

To the Local Board whose Candidates (not fewer than eight) obtaining Certificates bear the largest proportion (not less than three-fourths) to its whole number of Candidates :
—One Prize of £4.

No Local Board can receive more than one of these Prizes. These sums may be applied by the Local Boards to the payment of the expenses of the Examination, or otherwise, as the Board may deem best for the promotion of the objects for which it was instituted.

No Prize of any kind can be awarded to, or in respect of, any of the persons referred to in the second and third paragraphs of the Preliminary Notice.

LIST OF EXAMINERS FOR 1860.

1. Arithmetic, Rev. Alexander Wilson, M.A., National Society, London
2. Book-keeping, John Ball, Esq., of the firm of Messrs. Quilter and Ball
3. Algebra, the Very Rev. Harvey Goodwin, D.D., Dean of Ely
4. Geometry, Rev. B. Morgan Cowie, M.A., Professor of Geometry at Gresham College ; one of H.M. Inspectors of Schools
5. Mensuration, John Sykes, Esq., M.A., Fellow of Pembroke College, Cambridge, Assistant Secretary to the Committee of Privy Council on Education
6. Trigonometry, William Spottiswoode, Esq., F.R.S.
7. Conic Sections, Rev. Bartholomew Price, M.A., F.R.S., Sedleian Professor of Natural Philosophy in the University of Oxford
8. Navigation and Nautical Astronomy, John Riddle, Esq., F.R.A.S., Head Master of the Nautical Schools, Greenwich.
9. Principles of Mechanics, Rev. Jonathan Bates, M.A., Fellow of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge

13. Chemistry, A. W. Williamson, Esq., Professor of Chemistry, University College, London
14. Animal Physiology, William Sharpey, Esq., M.D., F.R.S., Examiner in the University of London.
15. Botany, Arthur Henfrey, Esq., F.R.S., Professor of Botany, King's College, London.
16. Agriculture, J. C. Morton, Esq.
17. Political and Social Economy, Charles Neate, Esq., M.A., Professor of Political Economy in the University of Oxford.
18. Geography, William Hughes, Esq., F.R.G.S., Professor of Geography in Queen's College, London.
19. English History, E. S. Creasy, Esq., Professor of History, University College, London
20. English Literature, Rev. Samuel Clark, M.A., F.R.G.S., Principal of the Training College, Battersea.
21. Logic, Rev. William Thomson, D.D., Provost of Queen's College, Oxford
22. Latin and Roman History, Rev. F. Temple, D.D., Head Master of Rugby School
23. French, Alphonse Mariette, Esq., M.A., Professor of French, King's College, London
24. German, Dr. Bernays, Professor of German, King's College, London
25. Theory of Music, John Hullah, Esq.

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE.

GENERAL REGULATIONS for the Examination of STUDENTS who are not Members of the UNIVERSITY.

There will be two Examinations in December; one for Students who are under sixteen years of age, and the other for Students who are under eighteen years of age. An examination will be held in any place where it can be ascertained that there will be thirty candidates for examination. Local committees, wishing to have examinations held in their several districts, may obtain all necessary information from the Honorary Secretary to the Syndicate, H. J. Roby, Esq., St. John's College, Cambridge. Students will be examined in such places and at such a time as the Syndics, appointed by the University, may determine.* After each examination the names of the students who pass with credit will

* In December, 1859, Students were examined at the following Local Centres, to which are annexed the names of the Local Secretaries, from whom Students may obtain all necessary information :—

Brighton	Barclay Phillips, Esq.	Liverpool	N. Waterhouse, Esq.
Birmingham	C. T. Saunders, Esq.	London	John Simmonds, Esq.
Bristol	A. R. Miller, Esq.	Northampton	Rev. H. J. Barton
Cambridge	R. Potts, Esq.	Norwich	Rev. Hinds Howell
Exeter	Rev. H. Newport	Plymouth	Rev. T. G. Postlethwaite.
Grantham	H. Beaumont, Esq.

be placed alphabetically in three honour classes, and the names of those who pass to the satisfaction of the examiners, yet not so as to deserve honours, will be placed alphabetically in a separate class. Marks of distinction will be attached to the name of any candidate who may specially distinguish himself in particular parts of the examination. After the name of every student will be added his place of residence, the school (if any) from which he comes to attend the examination, and the name of his schoolmaster.

In determining the classes, account will be taken of every part of the examination; but no credit will be given for knowledge in any section, unless the student shows enough to satisfy the examiners in that section. Regard will be paid to the handwriting and spelling throughout the examinations. The students who pass with credit, or satisfy the examiners, will also be entitled to receive certificates to that effect. Every certificate will specify the subjects in which the student has passed with credit, or satisfied the examiners, and the class in which his name is placed. Every one, admitted to examination, will be required to pay a fee of twenty shillings.

EXAMINATION OF STUDENTS WHO ARE UNDER SIXTEEN YEARS OF AGE.

Students must be under sixteen years of age on the day when the examination begins.

Part I. Preliminary. Every student will be required to satisfy the examiners in—

1. Reading aloud a passage from some standard English prose author.
2. Writing from dictation.
3. The rudiments of English Grammar.
4. The first four rules of Arithmetic, simple and compound, vulgar fractions, practice, and the Rule of Three.
5. Geography.

Every student will be required to answer questions on the subject, and to draw from memory an outline map showing the coast line, the chief ranges of mountains, and the chief rivers of one of the countries in the following list:—England, Scotland, Ireland, Europe, Asia, Africa, North America, South America, Australasia. 6. The outlines of English History since the Conquest; that is, the succession of Sovereigns, the chief events, and some account of the leading men in each reign.

PART II. The examination will comprise the subjects mentioned in the following ten sections: and every student will be required to satisfy the examiners in three of those sections at least, but no one will be examined in more than six. Section I. must be taken by every student, unless the parents or guardians of the student object to his examination in that section. 1. Religious knowledge: Questions will be set on (a) A previously selected portion of the Old and of the New Testament.* (b) The Church Catechism. (c) Whately's "Easy Lessons on Christian Evidences." Every student who is examined in this section will be required to satisfy the examiners in the subject marked (a), and in one at least of the subjects marked (b) and (c). 2. English: every student, who is examined in this section, will be required to write an original English composition. He will also be examined in a portion of English History,† Physical, Political, and Commercial Geography: Trench, "On the Study of Words." 3. Latin: Passages will be given from two Latin authors, one in prose and one in verse,‡ for translation into English, with questions on the historical and geographical allusions, and also on grammar and parsing: also an easy passage for translation from some other Latin author: and a passage of English, with Latin words supplied, for translation into Latin. 4. Greek. Passages will be given from two Greek authors, one in prose and one in verse,§ for translation into English, with questions on the historical and geographical allusions, and also on grammar and parsing: also an easy passage for translation from some other Greek author. 5. French. Passages will be given from a French author in prose,|| for translation into English, with questions on the historical and geographical allusions, and also on grammar and parsing: also a passage from some modern French author for translation into English: and easy English sentences for translation into French. 6. German. Passages will be given from a German author¶ for translation into English,

* In 1858, the portions assigned were the two Books of Samuel, the Gospel of St. Matthew, and the Acts of the Apostles.

† In 1859, the portions assigned were the two Books of Samuel and the Gospel of St. Luke.

‡ 1858, the portion of English History assigned was "from the Battle of Bosworth Field to the Restoration."

§ In 1859, the portion was "from the Accession of James I. to the death of Anne."

|| In 1858, the selected passages were Sallust's "Bellum Catilinarium," and Virgil's "Æneid," book vi.

¶ In 1859, the selected passages were, "Cæsar de Bello Civili," lib. i., and Virgil's "Æneid," book ii.

§ In 1858, the selected passages were from Xenophon's "Anabasis," book ii., and Homer's "Iliad," book vi.

¶ In 1858 and 1859, the author selected was Voltaire's "Charles XII."

¶ In 1858, the subject selected was Lessing's "Fables, prose and verse:" in 1859, Schiller's "William Tell."

with questions on grammar and parsing : also a passage from some modern German author for translation into English : and easy English sentences for translation into German.

7. Pure Mathematics. Every student, who is examined in this section, will be required to satisfy the examiners in Euclid, Books I. and II., Arithmetic, and Algebra to simple Equations inclusive. Credit will be given for a knowledge of Book-keeping. Questions will also be set in Euclid, Books III., IV., and VI., in quadratic equations, progressions, proportion, plane trigonometry not beyond the solution of triangles, the use of logarithms and mensuration.

8. The elementary principles of Mechanics and Hydrostatics : questions will be set, embracing the proofs of the leading propositions. In Mechanics they will not extend beyond the parallelogram of forces, the centre of gravity, and the mechanical powers. In Hydrostatics they will not extend beyond the transmission of fluid pressure, the equilibrium of inelastic fluids and of floating bodies, and the description of the steam engine and of simple hydraulic machines. A fair knowledge of Mechanics will enable a student to pass in this section.

9. Chemistry. Questions will be set on the elementary facts of chemistry, and the laws of chemical combination. Solutions will be given to be tested, containing not more than one acid and one base.

10. Zoology and Botany. Elementary questions will be set on the description and classification of animals, their habits and geographical distribution ; and on the mercantile and industrial uses of animal products : also on the description and classification of plants, their uses and geographical distribution : plants and parts of plants will be given for description.

PART III. Students may also offer themselves for examination in—1. Geometrical and mechanical drawing, and linear perspective. 2. Drawing from the flat, from models, from memory. 3. Music. A clear knowledge of harmony up to the inversions of the dominant seventh will enable students to pass in this section ; but all exercises in harmony must be written for the usual voices of a choir and in the suitable clefs : soprano, alto, tenor and bass.

EXAMINATIONS OF STUDENTS WHO ARE UNDER EIGHTEEN YEARS OF AGE.

Students must be under eighteen years of age on the day when the examination begins.

PART I. Preliminary. Every student will be required to satisfy the examiners in—1. Reading aloud a passage from some standard English poet. 2. The rudiments of English Grammar. 3. Writing a short English composition. 4. The principles and practice of Arithmetic. 5. Geography. Every student will be required to answer questions on the subject, and to draw from memory an outline map of some country in Europe, showing the boundary lines, the chief ranges of mountains, the chief rivers, and the chief towns. 6. The outlines of English History ; that is, the succession of Sovereigns, the chief events, and some account of the leading men in each reign.

PART II. The examination will comprise the subjects mentioned in the following nine sections ; and every Student will be required to satisfy the examiners in three at least of the sections marked A, B, C, D, E, F, G ; or in two of them, and in one of the sections marked H, I : but no one will be examined in more than five. Section A must be taken by every student, unless his parents or guardians object to his examination in that section.

SECTION A.

Religious knowledge. The examination will consist of questions in—1. An assigned portion of the Historical Scriptures of the Old Testament.* An assigned portion of the New Testament.† Credit will be given for a knowledge of the original Greek. 2. An assigned portion of the Book of Common Prayer.‡ 3. Paley's "Horæ Paulinæ." Every student who is examined in this section, will be required to satisfy the examiners in the subject marked 1, and in one at least of the subjects marked 2 and 3.

SECTION B.

1. An assigned portion of English History,§ and the outlines of English Literature during the same period. 2. A subject from an English author.|| The outlines of Political Economy,

* 1838 and 1859, the portion assigned of the Old Testament was "the historical Scriptures of the Old Testament till the death of Solomon."

† In 1858 and 1859, the portion assigned of the New Testament was, "the Gospel of St. Luke and the Acts of the Apostles."

‡ In 1858 and 1859, the assigned portions were, "the Morning and Evening Services, and the Apostles' Creed."

§ In 1858, the portion assigned was "from the Battle of Bosworth Field to the Restoration."

not including currency, international trade, and taxation.* 4. English Law.† 5. Physical, Political, and Commercial Geography. A fair knowledge of one of these five divisions will enable a student to pass in this section.

SECTION C.

1. Latin. Passages will be given from two Latin authors, one in prose and one in verse,‡ for translation into English, with questions on the historical and geographical allusions, and on Grammar: also passages for translation from some other Latin authors: and a passage of English for translation into Latin. 2. Greek. Passages will be given from two Greek authors, one in prose and one in verse,§ for translation into English, with questions on the historical and geographical allusions, and on grammar: also passages for translation from some other Greek authors. A fair knowledge of either of these languages will enable a student to pass in this section.

SECTION D.

1. French. Passages will be given from two French authors, one in prose and one in verse,|| for translation into English, with questions on the historical allusions and on grammar: also passages from some other French authors for translation into English: and a passage of English for translation into French. 2. German. Passages will be given from two German authors, one in prose and one in verse,¶ for translation into English, with questions on the historical and geographical allusions, and on grammar: also passages from some other German authors for translation into English: and a passage of English for translation into German. A fair knowledge of either of these languages will enable a student to pass in this section.

SECTION E.

Every student, who is examined in this section, will be required to satisfy the examiners in—Euclid, Books I., II., III., IV., VI. and XI. to proposition 21, inclusive. Arithmetic and Algebra. Questions will also be set in the following subjects:—Plane Trigonometry, including Land-surveying. The simpler properties of the Conic Sections. The elementary parts of Statics, including the equilibrium of forces acting in one plane, the laws of friction, the conditions of stable and unstable equilibrium, and the principle of virtual velocities. The elementary parts of Dynamics, namely, the doctrines of uniform and uniformly accelerated motion, of projectiles and collision. The elements of Mechanism. The elementary parts of Hydrostatics, namely, the pressure of elastic and inelastic fluids, specific gravities, floating bodies, and the construction and use of the more simple instruments and machines. The elementary parts of Astronomy, so far as they are necessary for the explanation of the more simple phenomena.

SECTION F.

1. Chemistry. Questions will be set on the facts and general principles of chemical science. There will also be a practical examination in the elements of Analysis. 2. The experimental laws and elementary principles of heat, magnetism, and electricity. 3. The elementary principles of Physical Optics according to the undulatory theory, and Acoustics, with descriptions of the fundamental experiments. A fair knowledge of Inorganic Chemistry, or of one of the divisions 2 and 3, will enable a student to pass in this section.

SECTION G.

1. Comparative Anatomy and Animal Physiology. The examination will be confined to the active and passive organs of locomotion. 2. Botany, and the elements of Vegetable

* In 1858, the examination did not extend beyond the first book of "Smith's Wealth of Nations."

¶ In 1858, the selected portions were, "The Olynthiacs" of Demosthenes, and the "Alcestis" of Euripides.

|| In 1859, the portions were, "The Apology" of Plato, and the "Medea" of Euripides.

¶ In 1858, the subjects assigned were, La Bruyère's "Characters," and Molière's "Misanthrope."

In 1859, the subjects were, Molière's "Misanthrope," and Mignet's "History of the French Revolution to the death of Robespierre."

¶ In 1858, the subjects assigned were Schiller's "History of the Revolt of the Netherlands," and Goethe's "Hermann and Dorothea."

In 1859, the subjects assigned were, Schiller's "History of the Revolt in the Netherlands," and Goethe's "Iphigenia."

Physiology. 3. Physical Geography and Geology. Explanations of geological terms will be required, and simple questions set respecting stratified and unstratified rocks, the modes of their formation, and organic remains. A fair knowledge of one of these three divisions, including a practical acquaintance with specimens, will enable a student to pass in this section.

SECTION H.

Drawing from the flat, from models, from memory, and in perspective; imitative colouring; and drawing of plans, sections, and elevations. A fair degree of skill in free-hand drawing will be required in order that a student may pass in this section. Questions also will be set on the history of Painting in Italy to the middle of the sixteenth century.

SECTION I.

Music. A knowledge of the elements of harmony and musical composition will be required, in order that a student may pass in this section. Questions will also be set upon the history and principles of the art.

Last year the changeable subjects were fixed by the Syndicate, and published by the Vice-Chancellor, in February. The Examination Papers both for the year 1858 and 1859 have been published, and may be obtained through any bookseller from the Cambridge Warehouse, 32, Paternoster Row, London.

THE OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE LOCAL EXAMINATIONS.

WE regard it as one of the most satisfactory signs of the times, that the Oxford and Cambridge system of Local Examination should, in so short a time, be so extensively appreciated. As inquiries are continually being made on the subject, we think we cannot do better than transmit to our pages a portion of an article which appeared in a recent number of "The British Controversialist":—

"In the reply to the addresses of the two ancient Universities of England on her Majesty's accession to the throne, they were informed that it was her Majesty's intention to extend the sphere of the utility of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge. These venerable seats of learning, it was then believed, were not so extensively useful to the nation as they might be made. They were restrained in their freedom of action by statutes which, however well adapted for the state of society in the times of Queen Elizabeth, were ill suited for the requirements of the middle of the nineteenth century. The universities had no power of themselves to alter or amend the royal statutes under which they were governed. In 1851, an address of the House of Commons was presented to the Throne, praying her Majesty to issue a commission of inquiry into the state and condition of the universities and colleges of Oxford and Cambridge. Two Royal Commissions of Inquiry were issued, and reports were made on the evidence, with recommendations for reform in both universities. The subject of university reform then came before the Legislature, and two Acts were passed—one for Oxford, and one for Cambridge; and commissioners were appointed under each Act to approve, and, if need be, to frame, new statutes under those Acts for the future government of the colleges and universities of Oxford and Cambridge. The powers of the Oxford commissioners have expired, and those of the Cambridge commissioners will expire at the end of the present year. The universities have not been unmindful of her Majesty's intention, and, in the meantime, many useful improvements have been made, which did not require the authority of the Legislature.

"The institution of local examinations for students who are not members of the universities is not the least important of the measures undertaken for extending the beneficial influence of the ancient universities. This work has been taken up in a generous and liberal spirit. They propose to admit students, from all ranks of society, without distinction, to these examinations, just as all students are admitted as members of the universities who desire to avail themselves of the advantages of an academical education. The fees required to be paid by the students are fixed at so small a sum as is considered will be simply sufficient to defray the necessary expenses, on the part of the universities, of holding the examinations.

"These university examinations have been called 'Middle Class Examinations' without any authority, as this designation has not been adopted either by Oxford or by Cambridge. The expression is, besides, most inappropriate, and calculated to create both prejudice and misapprehension. It is perhaps difficult to define where 'the middle class' begins, and where it ends. It is generally applied to mean that part of the community which in social rank is above the lowest, but below the higher ranks of society. The Oxford statute for instituting these local examinations is entitled, 'De Examinatione Candidatorum qui non sunt de Corpore Universitatis;' and the University of Cambridge has simply named their scheme—'Examination of Students who are not Members of the University.' The expression 'University Local Examinations'—has been suggested as fitly expressing the design of the universities, as they have declared their readiness to hold examinations in any locality in England from which they may receive an invitation.

"The examinations are comprehensive, including all the subjects of a sound English, Classical, and Mathematical education. They embrace the English, Latin, Greek, French, and German languages; the pure mathematics—arithmetic, algebra, geometry, &c., and the mixed—mechanics, hydrostatics, &c.; drawing and perspective; history, geography, English law, &c.; and the following special subjects—botany, chemistry, geology, mineralogy, music, &c. &c. Oxford also offers an examination on 'the Rudiments of Faith and Religion,' and Cambridge on 'Religious Knowledge.'

"The schemes of examination issued by the two universities exhibit some differences in the details. Oxford has fixed fifteen as the maximum age of the junior candidates. Cambridge has extended the maximum age to sixteen, but requiring a greater number of subjects of examination from each candidate. Both have fixed eighteen years as the maximum age of the senior candidates. Oxford requires a university fee of ten shillings from a junior, and thirty from a senior candidate. Cambridge makes one uniform university fee of twenty shillings for all candidates, without distinction.

"The classification of the candidates who pass the examination to the satisfaction of the examiners is different under the Oxford and Cambridge schemes. Under the Oxford scheme the results of the examination are valued separately; in the Cambridge scheme, the aggregate results of the examination are valued together.

"The successful junior candidates at the Oxford examinations are arranged in two honour divisions; the names in the first division being placed in order of merit, and those in the second alphabetically. There is a third division arranged alphabetically of such candidates as have satisfied the examiners. Every successful candidate receives a certificate, which specifies the subjects in which he has passed a satisfactory examination. The names of the successful senior candidates are arranged in two honour divisions, under each of the six sections which embrace the different subjects of examination. The name of the first divisions are placed in order of merit; those of the second alphabetically; and the names of the other successful candidates are arranged together in one general alphabetical list. Each of the successful senior candidates receives the Vice-Chancellor's certificate, conferring the title (A.A.) Associate in Arts, and specifying the subjects in which he has satisfied the examiners.

"The names of the candidates who pass the Cambridge examinations are placed in two divisions, one division containing the names of the senior, and the other the names of the junior candidates. The names of each division are arranged in three honour classes, and letters are attached to the names of the students, indicating the subjects in which they distinguish themselves. The names of those who pass to the satisfaction of the examiners, yet not so as to deserve honours, are placed alphabetically in a fourth class, after the senior and junior honour classes respectively. Every student who passes the examination receives a certificate signed by the Vice-Chancellor, specifying the subjects in which he has passed with credit, or has only satisfied the examiners.

"In the Oxford scheme, 'The Rudiments of Faith and Religion' are not considered essential, either for the certificate, or the honorary distinction of Associate in Arts. The examination in these subjects is purely optional, and no candidate's place in the examination is affected, whether he exhibit a sound and accurate knowledge of these subjects, or omit them altogether. Those candidates, however, who do satisfy the examiners in these subjects, have a mark attached to their names in the general list, as having passed that part of the examination.

"In the Cambridge scheme, 'Religious Knowledge' stands in the same rank as other knowledge, and the student's place is affected according to the manner in which he may acquit himself. The scheme, however, so far agrees with the Oxford scheme, as it makes the examination in 'Religious Knowledge' voluntary; but it grants that a student may be admitted to an examination in the Scriptures alone, apart from the liturgy of the Church of England. The religious knowledge in the Cambridge scheme includes the Scriptures, the liturgy, and the Christian evidences ; and a student has the option of being examined in any two or in all three of these subjects. . . .

"It may also be remarked, in reference to any extension of the functions of the University of Cambridge in connection with education, it appears that the university cannot require, as essential, a knowledge of Christianity and its evidences from one class of candidates for its examinations, and leave it optional with another class, without the appearance of inconsistency. The University of Cambridge requires of all its members, who may proceed to any degree, a knowledge of the Holy Scriptures and of the evidences of Christianity. In every college in Cambridge the New Testament, in the original Greek, forms a subject of study and lectures, and its meaning and interpretation are based on sound principles of grammar and philology.

"The first Oxford examination was held at eleven different centres in June 1858, and 1,151 candidates presented themselves for examination, of whom 429 were successful ; and 435 out of the whole 1,151 declined to be examined in 'the Rudiments of Faith and Religion.'

"The first Cambridge examination was held at eight different centres in December, 1858, and 386 candidates were examined, of whom 240 satisfied the examiners, and only 11 out of the 386 objected to be examined in religious knowledge, according to the Cambridge scheme.

"These examinations, conducted under the authority of the universities, afford all possible security for their impartiality, and are calculated to be of especial service both to parents, scholars, and schoolmasters.

"The masters of those schools, who shrink from their work being tested by independent examiners, are not likely to command confidence in the soundness and judiciousness of their teaching ; whereas those who do not, afford to parents an evidence that their system of education is good, and they desire to have it declared so by an independent judgment.

"These examinations will also afford to parents some means of judging what schools are ably administered, and afford proofs of the judicious skill of the schoolmaster, combined with the careful attention of the pupil.

"They will also tend to produce in schools a more steady attention to study among the scholars, when they know that their attainments will be strictly and severely tried, and that careless habits and slovenly work will be certain of becoming manifest at the examinations. And, in the case of those students who may not have succeeded at their first trial, even their failure may be of invaluable use as a discipline, if it suggest care and caution, and prevent more serious failures afterwards in the great business of life."

EAST INDIA HOUSE LIBRARY AND MUSEUM, Leadenhall-street, E.C.

The Library of the East India Company was established by the Court of Directors about fifty years ago, and after some years a Museum was added to it. The object of the Library is, first, to collect and preserve all printed books relating to India, and the history and administration of the East India Company, and all books upon the different languages current in India, and in the several branches of Oriental Literature, whether printed in this country, in other parts of Europe, or in India ; secondly, to collect and preserve manuscripts in the different Oriental languages, Sanscrit, Arabic, Persian, Zend, and in the different dialects of India and the Eastern Archipelago, together with the block-printed books of Tibet and China. Each collection, printed and manuscripts, consists of from 6000 to 8000 volumes.

The Museum also comprehends two principal divisions—Ethnology and Natural History ; in the former are a number of specimens of Hindu sculpture, models, and costumes ; in the latter, a very large collection of animals, birds, insects, &c., peculiar to India and the adjacent regions.

The Library and Museum are open at all times to literary and scientific persons, from 10 A.M. till 4 P.M. (Sundays excepted) ; also to general visitors with Tickets of Admission from a Director or Officer of the Establishment, on Mondays and Thursdays ; and on Fridays to all comers, who are admitted without Tickets.

GENEALOGICAL AND HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF GREAT BRITAIN, 208, Piccadilly, W.

President: Earl of Ellesmere. Secretary: Rycroft Reeve.

GENERAL COUNCIL OF MEDICAL EDUCATION AND REGISTRATION OF THE UNITED KINGDOM, 32, Soho-square, W.C. President: Sir B. C. Brodie, Bt.

GEOLOGICAL SOCIETY, Somerset House.

President: Professor John Phillips, M.A., Vice-Presidents: John J. Bigsby, M.D.; Hugh Falconer, M.D., F.R.S.; Sir Charles Lyell, F.R.S. and L.S.; Major-General Portlock, LL.D., F.R.S. Secretaries: Professor T. H. Huxley, F.R.S.; Warrington W. Smyth, M.A. Foreign Secretary: W. J. Hamilton, F.R.S. Treasurer: Joseph Prestwich, F.R.S. Assistant Secretary: T. Rupert Jones.

This Society was instituted for the purpose of investigating the mineral structure of the earth. The admission fee for resident Fellows is six guineas, and the annual contribution three guineas, which may be compounded for by payment of the sum of thirty guineas. Non-resident Fellows pay a Guinea and a half a-year, which may be compounded for by paying fifteen Guineas. The papers read before the Society are published in the Society's Quarterly Journal and Transactions. Every Candidate for admission to the Society must be proposed by three or more members.

Fellows of the Society are entitled to borrow books, maps, drawings, plans, specimens, &c., under certain regulations, from the Library and Museum. They receive (in the British Isles) abstracts of the Proceedings every month, and are entitled to introduce visitors to the Museum and Library, which are open daily from eleven to five o'clock, and two visitors to the evening meetings held fortnightly during the session.

GEOLOGISTS' ASSOCIATION, 5, Cavendish-square, W.

President: Rev. Thomas Wiltshire, M.A. Honorary Secretary: W. H. T. Allen.

The object of this Association is to afford opportunity of cultivating the Science of Geology among those "who, while not devoting their lives to the pursuit, yet take an active interest in its facts and teachings. The 'Geological Society' is too far advanced in the strict course of scientific method and treatment, to be found available by the increasing numbers of those who desire modestly to seek mutual help as learners, but shrink from the assumption of ranking themselves among the illustrious Professors and Masters in the Science." To meet this want this Association has been formed.

Admission Fee for Town Members Ten Shillings, for Country Members Five Shillings. Annual Subscription for Town Members Ten Shillings, for Country Members Five Shillings. All members within the metropolitan postal delivery to be deemed town members. Ladies eligible as members. Candidates for admission into the Association must be proposed by two or more members.

Chief: The Prince Consort. President: Earl of Fife: Treasurers: Sir Charles Forbes, Bt., F. H. Caldwell, Esq., A. R. Irvine, Esq. Chaplains: Rev. J. Cumming, D.D., Rev. Charles Mackenzie. Hon. Secretary: George Bain, Esq., 18, Parliament-street. Piper and Officer: Mr. William Ross. Officer and Collector: Mr. D. Douglas.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY OF LONDON, 8, St. Martin's Lane, W.C.

President: H. R. H. the Prince Consort, K.G. Treasurer: Wm. W. Saunders, F.R.S. Secretary: Professor Lindley, F.R.S. Assist. Secretary: William B. Booth.

The object of this Society is the improvement of Horticulture in all its branches, ornamental as well as useful.

The Society has an extensive Garden at Chiswick, the immediate superintendence of which is with a committee nominated by the council. It is open from Nine o'clock every day, except Sunday, or other days specially excepted, for the inspection of Fellows of the Society, or their wives or sisters, without orders, and for visitors introduced by the Fellows, either personally or by order.

Chambers's Journal says:—"The Horticultural Society has recently entered on a new lease of existence, as the Government has granted it a portion of land at Kensington. A novel feature in the new Gardens will be a range of arcades, which are to serve the purpose of a national gallery of sculpture."

Admission Fee Two Guineas, Annual Subscription Two Guineas or Four Guineas, according to the privileges to be enjoyed, which may be compounded for on payment of Forty Guineas. Ladies are admitted as Fellows, and may vote by proxy at all general meetings of the Society. Elections determined by Ballot.

INSTITUTION OF CIVIL ENGINEERS, 25, Great George-street, S.W.

President: G. B. Bidder, Esq. Treasurer: Edward Majoribanks. Secretary: Charles Manby, F.R.S. Assistant Secretary: James Forrest.

The Institution of Civil Engineers was established for the general advancement of Mechanical Science, and more particularly for promoting the acquisition of that species of knowledge which constitutes the profession of a Civil Engineer; being the art of directing the great sources of power in nature for the use and convenience of man, as the means of production and of traffic in states both for external and internal trade, as applied in the construction of roads, bridges, aqueducts, canals, river navigation, and docks, for internal intercourse and exchange; and in the construction of ports, harbours, moles, breakwaters, and lighthouses, and in the art of navigation by artificial power, for the purposes of commerce, and in the construction and adaptation of machinery, and in the drainage of cities and towns.

There are four classes of members—Members, Associates, Graduates, and Honorary Members. Any person desirous of becoming a member must be approved of by four members and two associates. Election determined by Ballot.

Fees on Election—Admission Fee, Associate, Three Guineas; Member, Three Guineas. Building Fund, Associate, Four Guineas; Members, Seven Guineas.

Annual Subscription—Non-Resident Graduate, £2 2s.; Resident Graduate, £2 12s. 6d.; Non-Resident Associate, £2 12s. 6d.; Resident Associate, £3 3s.; Non-Resident Member, £3 3s.; Resident Member, £4 4s.

INSTITUTION OF NAVAL ARCHITECTS.

This Institution, the establishment of which has been proceeded with during the past year, has now arrived sufficiently near completion, and has secured sufficiently powerful support, to render its success certain, and therefore to secure for it a place here. It seems, from what we can learn concerning it, to be the embodiment of an object contemplated by numerous professional gentlemen, rather than the manifestation of any individual action; indeed there can be little doubt that this is the case when it is observed that the following list of officers comprise the names not only of private ship-builders, but also of numerous Government dockyard officers, the chief surveyors at Lloyd's, and many noblemen and gentlemen who have held office as First Lords and Secretaries of the Admiralty. Of the necessity that exists for such an Institution there can be no doubt, and on publishing what is, we believe, the earliest announcement of the Society, we venture to predict for it a very useful and honourable position.

The following are lists of those officers of the Institution who have already accepted office:—

Vice-Presidents: The Earl of Ellenborough, G.C.B.; The Earl of Hardwicke, Vice-Admiral (R.N.), D.C.L., F.R.S.; Sir Francis Baring, Bart., F.R.S., F.R.C.S.; Sir James Graham, Bart., G.C.B.; Sir John Pakington, Bart., D.C.L.; Lord Clarence Paget, C.B.; The Right Hon. H. T. L. Corry; The Right Hon. Sidney Herbert; J. Scott Russell, Esq., F.R.S.; Isaac Watts, Esq.; Rev. J. Woolley, LL.D.

Members of Council: R. Abethell, Esq.; H. Chatfield, Esq.; H. Cradock, Esq.; J. I. Fincham, Esq.; J. Grantham, Esq.; W. Henwood, Esq.; J. Laird, Esq.; O. Lang, Esq.; F. Martin, Esq.; J. Martin, Esq.; W. Moody, Esq.; A. Moore, Esq.; J. R. Napier, Esq.; J. Peake, Esq.; W. M. Rice, Esq.; J. H. Ritchie, Esq.; W. B. Robinson, Esq.;

A. B. Sturdee, Esq.; P. Thornton, Esq.; G. Turner, Esq.; John White, Esq. Honorary Secretary: E. J. Reed, Esq.

The Duke of Northumberland has been nominated President, and Mr. Richard Green has been requested to become Treasurer, of the Institution; but these offices have not yet been accepted.

The Institution will consist primarily of Members, all of whom are to be Naval Architects possessing certain qualifications decided upon by the Council. Secondly, the Institution will comprise a class of Associate Members who also are to possess certain qualifications to be hereafter decided upon, this class consisting of such marine engineers, officers of the Royal and mercantile navies, men of science, and other gentlemen, as may be able to co-operate with naval architects in the promotion of their objects. The business of the Institution will be managed by the Council (elected from members), and with the Council will be combined a few Associate Members of Council elected from "Associate Members."

Communications for the Institution should for the present be addressed to the Honorary Secretary, at his own offices, 166, Fleet-street, London, E.C.

LINNEAN SOCIETY, Burlington House, Piccadilly, W.

President: Prof. Bell. Treasurer: Francis Boott, M.D. Secretaries: J. J. Bennet, F.R.S., and George Busk, F.R.S. Librarian: Richard Kipeest.

The object of the Society, as stated in its charter, is "the cultivation of the science of natural history in all its branches, and more especially of the natural history of Great Britain and Ireland."

The library is open on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday; and the museum on Wednesday and Friday, from twelve o'clock to four in the afternoon.

Admission Fee Six Pounds, Annual Subscription Three pounds, or Thirty Pounds in lieu of future payments. Every candidate for admission must be proposed by three or more Fellows. The Fellows are entitled to receive gratis, all volumes or parts of volumes of the transactions which may be published after their election.

LONDON INSTITUTION, Finsbury Circus, E.C.

President: T. Baring, M.P. Honorary Secretary: W. Tite, M.P., F.R.S., F.S.A. Librarians: R. Thomson, E. W. Brayley, F.R.S. Assistant Secretary: F. E. Greenaway.

Lectures every Monday evening at seven o'clock, from November 15, 1858, to May 9, 1859, except December 27 and Easter Monday; every Thursday, from November 18, 1858, to May 5, 1859, except December 16 and 30, January 20, February 17, March 17, and April 21.

The object of this Institution is to give a higher tone and character to education and to the profession of teaching:—1st. By raising the general standard of attainments required in the educator by means of examinations of teachers and schools. The examinations of teachers are held twice a year, in January and in June. 2nd. By combining all persons engaged in education into a corporate body, so that the scholastic profession may have a recognised position on a par with the clerical, legal, and medical professions. 3rd. By providing a medium of communication between principals of schools and teachers of good character and attainments desirous of obtaining engagements as assistants, or as tutors, or governesses in families. 4th. By making provision for the families of deceased, aged, and poor members. All persons engaged in education are admissible as members of the College, on producing a recommendation from three members, one of whom must certify his personal knowledge of the candidate. There is no entrance fee. The annual subscription is one guinea. The register of vacant scholastic appointments is open to all respectable teachers in schools, governesses, foreign professors, tutors in families, &c., on payment of a fee of two shillings and sixpence, and on lodging with the Secretary authentic copies of their testimonials, references, &c.

The College undertakes to ascertain the correctness of the references of applicants, and the willingness of their former employers to give, when required, satisfactory testimonials: such authenticated cases alone are inserted in the college register.

The fee to be paid by the assistant master or private tutor, not a member of the College, on obtaining employment, is two-and-a-half per cent. on a year's salary. To a member of the College the fee is five shillings only.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS.—Dean: The Rev. G. A. Jacob, D.D. Moderator for Classics: William Smith, Esq., LL.D., Classical Examiner in the University of London. Moderator for Mathematics: the Rev. C. ASSISTANCE AFFORDED IN PROMOTING THE TEACHING OF ELEMENTARY DRAWING, ETC., AND IN THE ESTABLISHMENT OF LOCAL SCHOOLS OF ART.

The Science and Art Department of the Committee of Council on Education is authorized—

1. To assist Public Schools, Mechanics' and other Institutions for the working classes, in obtaining suitable examples, &c., for Art instruction at a reduced cost.

2. To train male and female teachers, and certify them as qualified to give instruction in Drawing, including Practical Geometry and Perspective, Mechanical Drawing, Painting, Modelling, and other branches of Art; to make fixed annual payments to them, varying according to their acquirements; and to recommend them to Local Committees for appointment.

3. To encourage deserving students by studentships, rewards, &c.

4. To hold examinations once in the year in each local School of Art, where all persons may be examined, whether taught at the School of Art or not; to award local medals and rewards for progress in art; also to hold annually national exhibitions of the prize works of the students from all schools, and to award national medallions to the most deserving. Every national medallion obtained confers on the local school where the student has been instructed, the privilege of obtaining works of art, or examples, of the value of £10.

5. To inspect the Schools of Art, in order to see that the instruction corresponds with the course sanctioned by the Department.

6. To lend to Schools of Art valuable books, engravings, &c., from the Central Library, and objects of art from the Central Museum.

This assistance is offered on the following conditions:—

a. The reduced payments for examples, &c., made by public schools, &c., must be in advance.

b. Existing public and private schools may unite to receive instruction in elementary drawing, or a Central District School of Art may be established. In either case some kind of Committee for the local management must be formed either by corporate or parochial authorities, or by persons engaged in conducting schools of any description, or by any others interested in the object, for the purpose of being responsible for the management, and for the appointment of a master.

c. To obtain the services of a certificated Art-master to teach Drawing, the following local arrangements must be made:—1. Five schools for the poor must be named as being willing to receive one lesson in drawing a week and to pay in advance £5 a year: or, should the locality prefer it, the names of 500 children of either sex who are under instruction in schools for the poor must be registered to learn drawing, without reference to the number of schools. A fee of 6d. for each child must be paid in advance to the Art-master, to cover for a year the instruction which will be given once a week or oftener, either by the certificated Art-master by his Art pupil-teacher, or under the Art-master's superintendence by the Master or Mistress of the Schools. This fee must be paid annually in advance. The children will be examined once in the year, and rewards given to them for proficiency. The Art-master will be paid by the Science and Art Department 3s. for every child who takes a reward. The rewards will be granted only to papers marked "good," but a list of those marked "fair" will be sent to the School, and the Art-master will be paid 2s. for each child who so passes. 2. A class for Schoolmasters and Pupil-teachers of public schools in the district must be formed. The Schoolmasters will pay 10s. per annum, and the Pupil-teachers 2s. 6d. per annum, for one lesson a week. The Schoolmasters, when certified as competent to teach Drawing, may obtain a yearly addition of £5 or even £8 to their certificate allowance from the Committee of Council on Education. The Pupil-teachers who pass a successful examination, obtain rewards of drawing instruments, &c., and their success is registered in favour of a future certificate of competency, whilst the Art-teacher obtains 30s. for every reward taken by a Pupil-teacher taught by him. 3. A private school must be named where the certificated Art-master shall give one lesson in Elementary Drawing a week, and receive at the rate of £1 per annum per student, or if two lessons, 30s. per student. In case the number taught does not produce £20 a year, this sum must be made up.

d. When a district School of Art is to be formed, the Committee, at their own liability, must provide, furnish, keep clean, warm, and light a suitable room, approved by the Department for the purposes of such School. If it be desired to engage the principal part of the master's time, the Committee should be able to guarantee that the master's share of the fees will amount to not less than £80 a year.

e. The local Committee must collect, and account for, the fees paid by the several schools, and in the Central School ; conduct and manage the school, appoint the master, and be responsible for his attendance ; pay at least half of the fees received in the Central School, and the whole of the fees in the other schools, to the master ; dismiss him for misconduct (if necessary), reporting the same to the Department ; engage to follow the course of instruction prescribed, and cause an annual report to be made of the proceedings of the school, on or before the 1st of January.

f. The hours of attendance and the amount of fees to be paid by the scholars will be regulated by the local committee ; but a class for artisans must meet in the School of Art, in the evening, three times a week, for two hours, for which the fees must not exceed 2s. a month, and they must be not less than 4s. per month for the morning classes, of two hours each, meeting two mornings in the week.

A local committee desirous of availing itself of this assistance should address the Secretary, Science and Art Department, South Kensington.

THE ADVANTAGES OF MECHANICS' INSTITUTIONS.

THE rapid progress which has been made by this country during the last twenty years in every department of human industry, in the increase of material wealth, and the extension of national power, may with much truth be attributed to the unswerving energy, unwearied industry, steady enterprise, and scientific skill, which are the especial characteristics of the Anglo-Saxon race ; crowned, above all, with the blessing of Providence, which is indispensable to success in any pursuit. But, beyond these distinguishing qualities, much is owing to the establishment of Mechanics' Institutes, which, by the dissemination of useful knowledge, and the promotion of adult education, have given a healthy direction to animal energy, and secured that peace which has peculiarly distinguished Great Britain above all other nations. No more convincing proof of the value of these Institutes could be afforded, than during the recent monetary crisis, when, notwithstanding that many thousands were deprived of employment, not the slightest breach of the peace occurred, nor was any apprehension entertained of such a calamity. Twenty years ago, a military force would have been requisite, but in 1858 not an extra policeman was necessary.

In the establishment of Mechanics' Institutes, Yorkshire has pre-eminently the lead in number, value, and efficient operations, at once the proof of native intelligence, and the cause of its cultivation ; assisted in a material degree by the organisation of the Union, and the stimulus given to local exertions. Though much, however, has been done, much remains to be done, and if the rapidly extending centres of manufacturing industry are to become sources of national strength instead of national weakness, the good work must be persevered in, no difficulties should discourage, no obstacles be considered insurmountable, but a thorough conviction be entertained that the less the desire for instruction, the greater its necessity.

Perhaps the most important element in a Mechanics' Institute is an energetic and intelligent Secretary, who, considering his duties as a labour of love, should spare no exertions to achieve a successful result. With him should be associated a really working Committee, men who accept the office with a full determination to perform the duties, who devote themselves to the efficient working of the several details, and who make their attendance the rule instead of the exception.

In the majority of Institutes most of the Classes are necessarily of an elementary character, owing to the deficiencies of early education; and these should, wherever practicable, be conducted by a competent teacher, to be paid according to the amount of School fees. He might be assisted by voluntary teachers, but it is in all cases advisable that a paid teacher should have the responsibility. It is also of advantage that the payments of Class pupils should be weekly, sufficient for inevitable expenses, but dependent in a great measure upon the rate of remuneration for labour in the locality. It would also be a material aid to elementary instruction, and prove a stimulus to regular attendance, if periodical examinations of the pupils were held, and small prizes awarded to the most deserving of each department. Additional value would also be given to such prizes if they were presented by the chairman at an annual Soirée.

But, besides elementary instruction, the Committee should endeavour to promote the formation of Classes on the principle of mutual improvement. A Class for the discussion of short Essays by the members would facilitate the practice of English composition, and promote habits of thought, which would prove of great value, particularly to young men. Classes should also be formed for the special study of particular branches of science and literature, with the view of qualifying the members for subsequent examinations, and if a good text-book be chosen, with a reasonable amount of zeal on the part of the members, they can hardly fail of success. Apart from the advantage of a well-cultivated mind, there is abundant reward for exertion in the Certificates of the Society of Arts, which have, in so many instances, proved an opening to profitable employment and advancement in social position.

A well-selected Library offers many opportunities for the acquisition of knowledge, and gives the benefits of literature and scientific information to thousands, who, without such aid, would never have the means within their reach. In whatever direction their desires may point—whether the charms of poetry, the varieties of travel, the experience of history, the example of biography, the marvels of science, the mysteries of nature, or the teaching of morality,—for each and every taste the Library may be used with benefit, and many a long evening converted from one of sensual gratification, or ignorant dullness, into a real delight increasing by repetition.

A Reading-room, supplied with daily and weekly newspapers, illustrated and miscellaneous periodicals, with perhaps draughts and chess, affords to many who have no inclination for severer studies, a means of intellectual recreation, suggesting subjects of thought, and prompting to higher aspirations. The newspapers supply the history of our own country and the world in our own day, and weekly magazines furnish a variety of useful information which may be turned to profitable account, all operating to win the mind from debasing pursuits; whilst the room being warmed, lighted, and presenting an air of cheerfulness and comfort, may prove a counter-attraction to the public-house or the street corner. A Reading-room may, however, be rendered still more attractive, particularly in places where there is a difficulty in exciting a taste for literature, by two or three undertaking the duty in turn of reading the latest news aloud for half an hour or three quarters one evening in the week. Many would willingly listen, who would not read for themselves, and perseverance for a few months would soon render that evening popular, even to many who previously did not believe that they had any desire to know what was going on around them.

It would be desirable, wherever it can be done, to devote one evening in the week to the practice of vocal music, and it should be chiefly of a sacred character, with the object of rendering more perfect the musical portion of Divine service. A familiarity with music is of great advantage, not only to the individual, but to the community, giving a new charm to daily life, a solemnity to public worship, and enabling many to acquire the capability of taking part in those magnificent oratorios, which, even in our age of hard facts and material science, are still the most enduring and most popular attractions of great public assemblies.

As the education of the child begins with the mother, it is of great importance that due attention should be paid to female instruction, and for this purpose Classes should be formed not only for reading and writing, but for plain needlework, the practice of which is indispensable to the comfort of the most humble home. In every village some one may be found competent for the task, and if an entertaining or instructive book were read during the time that busy hands were plying the needle, the work would progress more pleasantly and satisfactorily, the attendance would be more punctual, and the mind as well as the fingers of the pupils would be improved.

Another feature in a Mechanics' Institution is the delivery of Lectures, which, wherever practicable, should be given at stated intervals, but if even they are delivered occasionally, are not without great benefit. There are a multitude of subjects in the numerous departments of science and literature, but they should be of a suggestive rather than of an instructive character, pointing out the results to which particular studies will lead, instead of showing all the way, and by glimpses of the advantages in store for those who will devote themselves to the task, excite the spirit of inquiry and prompt the youthful mind to legitimate objects of ambition. Lectures also materially conduce to bringing all classes together, and making many familiar with the Institute, who might otherwise have forgotten its existence. The latter result might, however, be more effectually accomplished by an annual Soirée, when all may unite in innocent festivity, and the claims of the Institute to general support be advocated from the platform.

In the support of a Mechanics' Institution all classes of the community should cordially unite, for all have a deep interest in its success. The social and moral welfare of the community interests all alike: the working-man for his own sake, and the rich man for the sake of his neighbours and dependents. All have a stake, and an important one, in the well-being of our common country, and experience has abundantly proved that substantial good has arisen from the operations of Mechanics' Institutes, beyond all powers of calculation, and promising still greater results when their advantages shall be more generally appreciated.

HINTS TO PERSONS WISHING TO ESTABLISH A MECHANICS' INSTITUTE FOR A SMALL TOWN OR VILLAGE.

THE following brief description of the principal features of a Mechanics' Institute for a small town or village is published with the object of supplying hints for their formation and management.

The building should comprise a library and committee-room, a commodious reading and news room, and at least two class-rooms. For lectures, the use of a national school room can in most instances be obtained. The advantages offered to the Members should be a well-selected Library of at least 300 volumes, a Reading and News-room, Classes for mutual improvement and for elementary instruction. Female Classes for Reading, Writing, and Plain Needlework, a Class for the practice of Choral Singing, and occasional Lectures of a popular character on literature, science, music, &c.

SUBSCRIPTIONS.—Members paying 21s. a year, should be entitled to all the advantages of the Institution, with the privilege of nominating two pupils to the Elementary Classes, on the payment of one penny a week. Members paying 10s. 6d. a year, or 3s. a quarter, should have the privilege of nominating one pupil of the Elementary Classes. Pupils of Classes should pay not less than 3d. a week for males, and 2d. for females, with all the privileges of the Institute but the Reading-room during class hours. All weekly Members should pay an entrance fee of 6d. The Secretary or Librarian should attend one, or, if possible, two evenings in the week, to receive subscriptions and exchange books from the Library.

The READING and NEWS ROOM should be supplied with one daily, one weekly, and one or more local newspapers, with a number of cheap periodicals of good moral character, with, if possible, some of the magazines. The expense of newspapers may be considerably reduced by the resale of them. The periodicals, if bound, will form useful additions to the Library.

The ELEMENTARY CLASSES should meet on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays, and be under the management of a competent paid Teacher, with unpaid Assistants. Wednesdays should be devoted to female classes and Saturdays to Vocal Music. In the female classes, instruction in plain needlework should be accompanied with reading aloud to the pupils. Cheap materials may be supplied, and the garments made be sold at prime cost.

MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT CLASSES should meet in the second class-room, and the subjects selected for study should be such as would qualify the students for the Examinations of the Society of Arts.

An ANNUAL SOIRÉE should be held some time in Autumn, at which Tea, &c., should be provided at a moderate charge, and the entertainment should comprise Musical performances, and addresses in advocacy of the claims of the Institute to public support. This should be followed immediately by the appointment of small Sub-Committees and an active canvas of the locality, with the services of a Collector who should be paid a commission on his receipts.

The ANNUAL MEETING should be held early in the year—say in February or March, when the Report of the Committee showing the progress of the Institute during the past year, and the Treasurer's account of receipts and payments, should be presented. The Officers for the ensuing year should be elected, and other business transacted as may be required.

The COMMITTEE of management should meet at least once a month, to arrange for Lectures, &c., make orders on the Treasurer for payments, and transact such other business as may be required.

All receipts, from whatever source, should pass through the hands of the Secretary, and by him be paid to the Treasurer once a-week.

Donations may be expended in the increase of the Library, except such as may be especially intended for the erection of a Building or other specific purpose.

An examination of the pupils of Evening Classes should be held once a year, towards the close of the Winter season, and small prizes may be awarded to the most deserving.

It may be interesting to state that a building to consist of a spacious Lecture-room, a commodious Reading-room, a Library and Committee-room, three Class-rooms, with a living and bed-room for the housekeeper, approached by separate entrances, may be erected for about £500, exclusive of the cost of the site.

In order to facilitate the keeping of accounts of weekly receipts, and to diminish the labours of the Secretary or Librarian, a book should be kept containing the names of the members, with consecutive numbers, and ruled with fifty-two columns, one for each week in the year. Each payment should be entered in pence, in the column of the week, against the name and number of the member paying. The addition of each column will show that week's receipts, and the addition of each horizontal line will show the amount paid by each member.

Each of the weekly paying members should be furnished with a card, to contain his name and number, with the name of the Institution, and date of the year. It should be divided by lines into squares, representing the several weeks of the year, and every payment should be entered on the corresponding square of the card.

CONDITIONS ESSENTIAL TO THE ATTAINMENT OF A PROSPEROUS MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

1. ACCOMMODATION, &c.—That its hall or local habitation be central, easy of access, commodious, cheerful, and, if possible, attractive in its external and internal appearance. The usefulness of many Institutions is contracted from the want of an adequate building for carrying their objects properly into effect. Again, undue importance is often attached to a room of large dimensions, obviously unsuited for transacting, without confusion, several parts of the business concurrently; whereas smaller rooms admit of each being appropriated and adapted to a specific purpose. When the use of a school-room is granted for the meetings of a Society, it is still generally desirable to have good permanent accommodation for the Library and Reading-rooms, the School-room being used for Classes and Lectures. A suitable building is of so much importance, that it would be well in every Institute unprovided with one, to keep it in view, by the appointment of a competent standing Committee, to make inquiries, and select the more essential points of construction and cost, so as to give a definite aim to any canvass for subscriptions or shares set on foot to procure a building.

2. LIBRARY.—The purchase of books often takes place without any well-considered plan. This should be avoided, as it is of the utmost importance that the funds laid out for this purpose should be so employed as to be of the greatest service. The best mode of securing this will be by exercising a little foresight; first, by estimating at the commencement of the year the money which can be spared for books, and expending this in periodical sums; being also provided with a carefully-prepared list of works from which the selection may be made, according to their cost or importance. It is desirable that a fair proportion of any funds should be laid out on works possessing the freshness of modern interest. All books should be catalogued without delay, and should lie on the Reading-room table for a few weeks after they are purchased. A sheet of the recent additions, plainly written, should be placed conspicuously in the Reading-room. The catalogues should, in all cases, be classified into subjects, the sub-divisions being arranged in the alphabetical order of the authors' names. As it will often happen that many useful works are but little known, it will be found beneficial, especially in small institutions, to have twenty or thirty volumes on the Reading-room table, to remain for a month, and then be exchanged for a like number of others. The facility and frequency with which books may be exchanged should be as great as possible; the supply of new books regular (proportioned, of course, in amount to the funds of the society), and their character adapted to the wants, tastes, and pursuits of the members.

3. READING-ROOM.—The utility of many institutions, especially of the smaller class, is impaired from the neglect of attention to the cleanliness and general comfort of the Reading-room. It should be open every evening, or all day when the funds admit, and furnished with the best periodical works.

4. CLASSES.—That classes for Writing, Arithmetic, including its higher branches, Mechanics and Architectural Drawing, Chemistry, and specially for such other subjects as will be of direct utility to the working population of the locality in which the Institute is situate, be formed under competent masters, and assemble sufficiently often to pursue with effect the study of the respective subjects. Next to the competency of the teachers, their punctuality of attendance is of the highest importance; irregularity in this particular, besides disappointing and disheartening the pupils, will often induce in them careless and inattentive habits. A sub-committee, or even a single member of a committee, should in all cases be appointed to watch over the operations of this department. A mutual Instruction Class should be formed, for the production and reading of essays on literary and scientific subjects, and discussion on the same, as a stimulus to careful, exact, and methodical study, and to the correct and ready expression of thought.

5. LECTURES.—That attractive Lectures on popular subjects be given from time to time, so as to keep up a lively interest in the members, to relieve the tedium of regular study, and to attract public attention, thereby gaining a constant accession of fresh subscribers. The chief points requiring attention with regard to lectures are, the taking care that they are of a kind likely to be instructive and lead to further inquiry; and that instead of being scattered about the year at uncertain intervals, as far as practicable they should be periodical, and that a list be prepared and printed at the commencement of a year or half-year. Generally it is better to have a few lectures well selected, and delivered at suitable periods, than a larger number taken without regard to these considerations.

6. OFFICERS, COMMITTEES, &c.—That the general management of the Institution be as popular, that is, as much in the hands of the bulk of the members, as is consistent with the amount of their general knowledge, and their ability for conducting its affairs. The capabilities of many Institutions are but imperfectly developed, from a deficiency of the time, attention, and labour bestowed by honorary officers. Generally such parties are both zealous and diligent in the fulfilment of their duties; but subject, as they are, to other and more pressing claims, they are but too frequently of necessity irregular in their attendance, or are compelled to forego the carrying into effect valuable expansions of the principle of an Institution, because they feel their inability to do justice to it. It appears desirable in all cases to engage the services of a person to take charge of books, and to attend at prescribed hours for their issue and return, and to see that the reading-room is comfortable; and it is also worthy of consideration, whether the duties may not be distributed so that several members of the committee may assist the honorary secretaries by attending to departments, such as the library, the selection of books, the superintendence of the classes, and the lectures. The selection of subscriptions is also of great importance. Besides aiding in the maintenance of the income, it affords a ready means of ascertaining the wishes of members.

7. PUBLICITY, &c.—Committees of most institutions would do well to place the whole of the advantages offered to their members in print, and in such a form that the prospectus may be freely distributed; in many towns the institutions are really less known than the committee and members suppose. Any prospectus should at least set forth terms of membership, place, hours of attendance, and, above all, how the admission of new members is effected. A yearly canvass should be made throughout the whole district for new members.

8. FINANCES, NUMBER OF MEMBERS, &c.—That the terms be the lowest sum compatible with the efficiency of the teachers employed by the institute, the convenience and comfort of its local habitation, and the completeness and utility of its library, but not so low as to produce inefficiency or debt. The first thing to be attended to is the taking all available legitimate means of keeping up and increasing the income. The next will be the making a careful detailed estimate of receipt and expenditure for the year, and in the apportionment of the latter, to do so with the most careful attention to permanent as well as immediate advantage. In computing the number of members, it is well to record in any yearly summary the total number who have belonged to the institution during the year, the average number, and the number at the close of the year. In many instances it is worthy of consideration whether advantage may not be derived from taking subscriptions in monthly or even weekly payments; but as this manifestly increases the trouble of collecting, and may encourage instability among the members, it should be adopted cautiously. In the case of a serious reduction in numbers, it is well to have the cause searchingly sought for, in order that, if possible, a prompt and efficient remedy may be applied. As members fall off from town institutes in summer, it is worthy of consideration whether some variety in the attractions could not be introduced, and whether other suitable changes might not be made, —such as the hours of pupils' attendance and the subjects taught.

9. SECURITY OF PROPERTY.—Every Institute should invest its Property in Trustees, and its rules declare what should be done with its property in case of dissolution of a Society. The following may serve as a form :

The property of the Institution shall be vested for the use and benefit of the Members and Subscribers in the following Trustees

When the number of Trustees shall be reduced so as not to exceed the vacancies shall be filled up by new Trustees, named and appointed by the Members in General Meeting assembled, so as to make up the number of Trustees in the whole ;
none but Members are eligible for Trustees.

The property of the Society shall not be alienated or disposed of, unless with the consent of three-fourths of the Members assembled at a Public Meeting convened by notice in the Reading-room or Library of the Institution, and by advertisement in the papers,—the said notice being signed by not less than one-fourth of the existing Members, and published one month before the day of Meeting. Nor shall the property be alienated, or the funds arising from its sale be disposed of, except to such Institutions connected with education as the members so assembled shall think fit. Neither shall any dividend, gifts, division, or bonus in money, be made unto or between any of the Members or Subscribers of the Institution.

LITERARY INSTITUTIONS, &c., IN LONDON.

It was our intention to have given the name of the Secretary of each Institution, but as a great many persons who courteously complied with our request, in sending us the titles of the Institutions in their respective towns and neighbourhoods, did not append the names of the Secretaries, we have been obliged to abandon the intention. In our next impression we hope to supply this deficiency, and in the mean time shall be glad to receive the requisite information from those who are best able to give it, and who are most interested in the accuracy of this department of the Literary and Educational Year Book, —namely the Secretaries and officers of the institutions themselves.

In the following lists the Institutions which have agreed to a General Interchange of Privileges are denoted by an asterisk (*). By means of this organization and arrangement, a Member of one Institution, when visiting a town in which any other is situated, will be enabled to enjoy at that other, for the time being, all the advantages of membership. Any person wishing to avail himself of this privilege, needs only to present his Card of Membership, it being understood that he will abide by the Bye-Laws of the particular Institution he may visit, as well in regard to the time to which this privilege may be extended as to all other matters.

Dr. Hudson, of Manchester, who is pre-eminently entitled to speak with authority on this subject, says, in a letter to the proprietor of this work, that "all the Institutions in Yorkshire, Lancashire, Cheshire, Derbyshire, Durham, Northumberland, Cumberland, Westmoreland and Warwickshire, and in Scotland, allow members of one Institution to visit another Institution free of charge, upon application to the porter, librarian, or other official in attendance. The only reservation is with Institutions to which application for admission is required. This arises from several Institutions in one town not giving the privilege to each other. Above the five miles local radius all are admitted. This literary citizenship was established eighteen years ago, at the suggestion of the Right Hon. Thomas Wyse, our ambassador at the court of Athens, who was a great educationist, and M.P. for Waterford."

All Institutions denoted by a dagger (†) are in union with the Society of Arts.

NOTE.—We endeavoured to collect an authentic list of the Literary Institutions in Wales, but the replies to our circular were so few, that we were induced to postpone the publication of the list till another year.—ED.

MEMORANDUM AS TO UNION OF INSTITUTIONS WITH THE SOCIETY OF ARTS, LONDON.

THIS Union was established on the 18th of May, 1852. Its principal objects are :—

1. That the experience and information of each separate Institution be rendered available to the whole body.
2. That there be an Interchange of Privileges between the Members of different Institutions, so that the Members of any one Institution being temporarily in the neighbourhood of any other, may enjoy at that other, for a limited period, the privileges of admission to its Lectures, Library, Reading-room, and Exhibitions.
3. That facilities be afforded for effecting engagements with competent Lecturers.
4. That Books, Maps, Philosophical Instruments, &c., be procured at reduced rates.
5. That facilities be afforded, by interchange and otherwise, for the formation of Local Museums, Exhibitions, &c.
6. That endeavours be made, through the united action of the associated Institutions, to procure an amendment of the Laws which affect these bodies; and that their status should be generally improved.
7. That the Institutions be assisted to become also places of systematic instruction, with systematic Examinations and Certificates of the results of studies.

The desire of the Council of the Society of Arts is,—neither to govern the Institutions, nor to supersede their own efforts for improvement, but to stimulate, assist and supplement their efforts, and to endeavour to enhance their success.

The Annual Conferences, the weekly Journal of the Society of Arts, which is supplied gratuitously to each Institution in Union, and constant Correspondence with the Institutes, tend considerably towards the attainment of the first of the objects stated above.

The second is, to a great extent, provided for; a large number of Institutions having agreed to the Interchange of Privileges. The Society of Arts also grants to Institutions in Union certain privileges in regard to its own Meetings and Exhibitions. Institutions within twelve miles of the General Post-office have three transferable admissions to each Meeting and Exhibition of the Society of Arts. Members of Institutions beyond this limit, on presenting, during office hours (ten to four) a note, signed by their Secretary, may obtain similar privileges.

The third object will be more completely accomplished when neighbouring Institutions shall have been more accustomed to co-operate for mutual benefit. The Society publishes a General List of Lecturers, both Paid and Unpaid. This list gives the names and addresses of the Lecturers, and the subjects on which they lecture. It also contains information as to Apparatus and Diagrams suitable for the use of Lecturers, where they may be obtained, and at what cost. A copy of this list is furnished free to each Institution in Union.

The fourth object has been already attained, the Council having made arrangements with a publishing firm for supplying the Associated Institutions with books at a reduction of 27½ per cent., and with periodicals at a reduction of 25 per cent. on the published prices. The Committee of Privy Council on Education, at the request of the Council of the Society of Arts, have agreed to extend to Institutions in Union with the Society the privilege of purchasing books on the same very favourable terms as are now enjoyed by the Schools under the inspection of the Committee of Council. The Committee of the Society for the Diffusion of Pure Literature have granted to the Council the privilege of giving recommendations to Institutions in Union, enabling them to obtain at half-price £5 worth and upwards of books, to be selected from a catalogue issued by that Society.

With respect to the fifth object, several of the Institutions have agreed to interchange Specimens of Natural History, Manufactures, &c., for Museums. As regards Exhibitions, the Society of Arts has in circulation, on loan, Specimens of Photography, of Nature Printing, of Chromo-Lithography, &c.

With reference to the sixth object, the Council direct attention to the Act passed in 1854, intituled the "Literary and Scientific Institutions Act."

The Commissioners of Patents have allowed many Mechanics' Institutions in different parts of the country, where no Free Library exists, to become the depositaries of their valuable publications, the Specifications and Indexes of Patents, on the Institutions undertaking to allow them to be consulted at all reasonable hours daily by the public, free of all charge whatsoever. The donations are made to the local authorities for the use of the town, and they are permitted to place the publications in the Institutions for reference.

With reference to the seventh object, the Council have established their system of Examinations for the Members of, or Students of Classes in, the Institutions in Union with the Society.*

The Managers of Village Libraries, Village Reading-rooms, Village Lectures, &c., in connexion with any Local Union—such as the Yorkshire Union, the Hants and Wilts Adult Education Society, &c.—not being fully-constituted Institutions, may obtain the existing advantages of Union with the Society of Arts in consideration of the payment of £2 2s. from the annual funds of the Local Union; but it must be understood that the Society relies on the officers of the Local Union for a careful discrimination of those bodies which ought, from those which ought not, to be expected to subscribe separately for the advantages of Union with the Society of Arts, and the Council reserve to themselves the power of reconsidering the arrangements, if it should be found that bodies not contemplated herein are enabled to avail themselves of what is proposed.

Pupils who may be pursuing systematic studies in Evening Schools, or otherwise, under the auspices of the Local Union, where there are no Institutes, may be admitted to the examinations on the same footing as the Students of the Classes of the Institutes in Union with this Society; and, at the Examination in 1859, the Provincial Unions in union with the Society of Arts were allowed to introduce Candidates belonging to small Institutes in union with them, and not directly in union with the Society of Arts, provided that a fee of two shillings and sixpence was paid to the Society by the Provincial Union in respect of each Candidate so admitted, and that the privilege was not exercised in favour of any Institute having more than fifty members, or an annual income of more than £50.

There are now 330 Institutions in the Union.

Any Institution desirous of entering into union with the Society of Arts, must fill up, sign, and return to the Secretary, a printed Form of Declaration, accompanied with a copy of its Rules. When this form has been approved by the Council, the Institution is taken into the Union. The required subscription of Two Guineas, for carrying on the general business and correspondence of the Union, may be paid in either of the two following ways: the President, or other analogous officer of the Institution, may be elected a Member of the Society of Arts, or the Institution may contribute from its own funds the payment of Two Guineas. In the former case, the gentleman so selected will enjoy all the privileges of a Member, and will, at the same time, give to his own Institution, so long as he continues to hold the same office in it, the advantages of the Union. In the latter case, the Institution itself will receive the advantages of the Union, but no individual Member of the Institution will enjoy the full privileges of a Member of the Society of Arts.

EAST LANCASHIRE UNION OF INSTITUTIONS, HAVING EVENING EVENING SCHOOLS.

THE East Lancashire Union of Institutions was established for the purpose of ascertaining by experience what are the best practicable means by which to provide for the education of youth of both sexes, between the period when they leave the elementary school and maturity.

* Programmes of the Examinations may be obtained on application to the Secretary of the Society of Arts.

We have not space to epitomise the last elaborate Report of this Union, and must content ourselves by giving its concluding paragraphs.

Speaking of the means whereby rudimentary instruction may be raised into those forms of secondary instruction which was the original design of Mechanics' Institutions, the Report says :—

"That where such a common Evening-school already exists as a Mechanics', Literary, or other Institution, its claim for aid is entitled to prior consideration before any rival Evening-school be established by the aid of the Parliamentary Grant.

"That the combination of such Evening-schools into Unions like that of East Lancashire, affords means for the more efficient organization of the rudimentary instruction, and also for the introduction of education in that higher range of thought which formed the original design of Mechanics' Institutions.

"That by such Unions and by the Mechanics' Institutions and Working Men's Colleges, &c., of large towns and cities, the sound rudimentary instruction of the more elementary Evening-schools may be gradually developed, so as to satisfy many of the wants of our advancing civilization, and to promote the stability of society, and the growth of morality and religion.

"That the forms of assistance granted by the Committee of Council on Education to the East Lancashire Union, if extended to other similar Unions, would both improve the rudimentary instruction of the Evening-schools, and gradually enable them to introduce the higher range of teaching into which that Union is steadily advancing.

"There are probably in Great Britain 750 to 800 Mechanics' Institutions, with from 120,000 to 130,000 members, and from 25,000 to 30,000 pupils in their Evening-classes. Of these probably 300 Institutions exist in Lancashire, Yorkshire, and Cheshire, with from 45,000 to 50,000 members, and 20,000 pupils in their Evening-classes. These are results too important to be neglected in any general scheme for the improvement of secondary instruction. But where these Institutions are most successful their pupils do not exceed one per cent. in the population, and the average is generally very much below this rate.

"Secondary education for the youth of our working classes is obviously in its first stage of development. The East Lancashire Union has been formed for the purpose of exploring the path in which progress may be most certainly made. The results of the experience thus gained in three years are offered for general consideration, with a conviction that all preceding efforts and success in the promotion of elementary education, are only the foundation on which the further improvement of our youth from school age to manhood is to be built.

At the last Annual Meeting of delegates of this Association, held at Manchester, on the 1st of September, the Council said they had to record the increasing prosperity and extension of nearly all the Institutions in union.

Not only has the increase in new members been considerable, but the proportion of the labouring class participating in the advantages afforded by these Institutions has been greatly augmented.

In some towns the working classes who have attended the night schools in the larger Institutions, believing themselves to be neglected by their Class Committees and Managers, have established small and independent societies, entirely under their own control, and composed wholly of men and youths of their own order.

Sixty-five Institutions report an increase in members this year, only six a diminution.

The Association now consists of 110 Literary, Mechanics', and Mutual Improvement Societies, with 22,000 members, including 2,000 females, and they possess in the aggregate 135,000 vols in their libraries.

Seventy-two Institutions return the number of male and female pupils attending their evening classes at 6,584 ; but the total number on the books of the several associated Institutes exceeds 8,500.

Twenty-three Institutions have buildings of their own, erected or purchased at the cost of £83,774.

The Associated Institutes have been severally asked :—"What is the most attractive feature in your Institution at present ?"—the replies received from 87 give the following result :—In 45, the evening classes are the most attractive ; in 20, the news-room ; in 12, the library ; in 7, tea parties and discussions ; and in 3, the lectures.

The Association is prosecuting most vigorously the system of public and private examination of pupils attending the evening classes of the associated Institutes. During the last three years, upwards of 3,500 male and female candidates have been subjected to a preliminary examination in the class-rooms of their several Institutions, in spelling, writing, grammar, and arithmetic.

The report says :—"The books forming the Itinerating Library, which are circulated among the working classes, free of charge, and are read by them at their own homes, have been in constant demand. The only regret felt by the Council is, that the boxes are not far more numerous. These boxes are circulated bi-monthly, and the books have been highly appreciated. The Itinerating Library has placed in the hands of our factory operatives a class of books far superior to those usually found on the shelves of Mechanics' Institutions."

Dr. Hudson, who has laboured so energetically and successfully in the cause of adult education, has accepted the office of Visiting Secretary of the Association.

All communications for the Hon. Secretaries, or for Dr. Hudson, the Visiting Secretary, to be addressed—24A, Princess-street, Manchester.

Lowe, Worcester Railway Literary Institute; Mr. Herbert New, Evesham; the Rev. Dr. Williamson, and the Rev. David Melville, subscribers. Auditor of Treasurer's Accounts : Josiah Jones, Esq.

The following are the first three rules of the Union :—

1.—That the Society be called "THE WORCESTERSHIRE UNION OF EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTES," and that all Institutions in this county and neighbourhood which include amongst their objects the moral and intellectual advancement of the Working Classes, be admissible to the Union.

2.—That the objects of this Union, to be carried out as means may permit, shall be—
1. Mutual intercourse and improvement. 2. Concentrated information as to the progress and requirements of each Institute in Union. 3. Encouragement and increase of Evening Classes by examinations and prizes or other means. 4. The engagement of Lecturers, gratuitous and professional. 5. The promotion of a good system for circulating books, or otherwise improving local libraries. 6. The acquirement and diffusion of information upon matters relating to Mechanics' Institutes in general.

3. That the subscription of Institutes in Union shall be 10s. annually, and that the members of each institute shall be members of the Union, and shall enjoy an interchange of the privileges of membership throughout the institutes in Union, subject to such limitations as each institute may deem expedient.

The last annual meeting of delegates was held at Evesham, November 10, 1859.

BUCKS AND BERKS LECTURERS' ASSOCIATION.

PATRON : H. R. H. The Prince Consort.
Committee : The Hon. and Very Rev. the Dean of Windsor, the Hon. and Rev. Lord Wriothersley Russell, Rev. R. P. Bent, Lectures Secretary ; Rev. H. Ellison, Rev. W. C. B. Flint, Rev. C. D. Goldie, Night School Secretary ; J. S. Gilliatt, Esq., Rev. E. Hale, Rev. H. Hawtrey, W. Johnson, Esq., A. L. Melville, Esq., Rev. C. K. Paul, C. T. Phillips, Esq., Treasurer ; T. H. Stevens, Esq., Rev. Cooke, General Secretary.

At the Annual Meeting held in the Town Hall, Windsor, Nov. 15, 1859, the Rev. Dr. Goodford, Head Master of Eton, in the chair, the Committee in their report said, "They feel each year the growing importance of all those Institutions, which have for their object the promotion and spread of Education amongst the adults of our population, and the desirableness of using every effort to retain under instruction those youths who have, from the necessity of earning their own bread or of assisting their parents and families, been compelled to cease attending at our National and other Schools.

"It is sufficiently plain from the nature of the case, that when those latter, just escaped from schoolboyship, have become engaged in various ways in daily employment, there is a double influence at work to prevent their attendance at Night Schools. In the first place they like to feel they are freed from the tutelage of school, and in the second there is the fatigue of their various employments, which indispose them for aught save rest, if indeed the late hours of employment do not altogether preclude their attendance. Your Association seems calculated to counteract both these influences ; it gathers under its auspices, in a way least likely to raise their prejudices, those who really want instruction, and by the means of Lectures on various subjects, it tends to stimulate the desire for knowledge and information. It thus both shows what is to be, what may be attained, and at the same time supplies the means and opportunities of attainment."

There are now in connexion with your Association, seven Institutes, nine Reading Rooms and Libraries, and five Class Rooms.

This Association offers gratuities to Teachers of Evening Classes, not being in receipt of Government aid, or Schoolmasters by profession, on the following Scale :—

I. A payment of 2*d.* $\frac{1}{2}$ hour, for every hour the Classes are held.

II. A gratuity equal to half the payments made by all Scholars attending the Classes more than three-fourths of the days the Classes are held.

III. A gratuity of 2*s.* 6*d.* to the Master of every Scholar who is placed in the first class, (or the first division of each class) at the Examination to be held in April.

In every School applying for such Gratuities, a Register must be kept of the attendance and payments.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Offices and Library, 165, Aldersgate-street, E.C.—Mr. W. E. Shipton, Secretary.

“BASIS OF ALLIANCE OF YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS.”

The delegates of various Young Men's Christian Associations of Europe and America, assembled in Conference at Paris, the 22nd August, 1855, feeling that they are one in principle and in operation, recommend to their respective societies to recognise with them the unity existing among their Associations, and whilst preserving a complete independence as to their particular organisation and modes of action, to form a Confederation on the following fundamental principle, such principle to be regarded as the basis of admission of other societies in future :—

“The Young Men's Christian Associations seek to unite those young men who, regarding Jesus Christ as their God and Saviour according to the Holy Scriptures, desire to be His disciples in their doctrine and their life, and to associate their efforts for the extension of His kingdom amongst young men.”

This fundamental principle being admitted, the Conference further proposes :—

“That any differences of opinion on other subjects, however important in themselves, but not embraced by the specific designs of the Associations, shall not interfere with the harmonious relations of the confederated Societies.

“That a travelling certificate of membership be designed, by which members of the Confederated Societies shall be entitled to the privileges of any other Society belonging to this Confederation, and to the personal attentions of all its members.”

BOOK-HAWKING SOCIETIES IN CONNEXION WITH THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND BOOK-HAWKING UNION.

The first Report of the Church of England Book-Hawking Union says : that up to the year 1854 the only Book-Hawking Societies were those of Hampshire, originally set on foot by Archdeacon Wigram. During that year, eight more were formed, an impetus being given to the work by the accounts of it which were published by Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Sumner. During the three following years, more than thirty additional societies were formed ; and at the present time the number amounts to sixty-two, including a few undertakings of a more private character.

By many of the managers of these Associations it was felt that some kind of Union was wanted, as a rallying point for their individual efforts ; and, accordingly, the Church of England Book-Hawking Union was formed. Its objects were set forth in a prospectus issued last summer. It does not interfere in the least in the arrangements of the local societies; but its aim is to give the strength of union to all, and thus to lessen their expenses, diminish their difficulties, and enable all to benefit by each other's experience. It also assists in many ways in extending the work into new districts. Since the formation of the Union, ten new Book-Hawking Societies have been established, the promoters of all of which have found their preliminary work considerably lessened by its existence.

The following are the Societies connected with the Union :—

- Berks, West—Rev. I. James, Avington, Hungerford

Popular Astronomical Diagrams. A series illustrating the principal phenomena, beautifully executed on cardboards, coloured, and including several transparencies, with descriptions, in elegant portfolio, 12s.

Astronomical Diagrams, on a large scale, for Schools, Lectures, &c., boldly executed and coloured, illustrating the principal phenomena. On six sheets, each 25 by 20 inches, with description, in wrapper, 9s.; on roller, varnished, size 4 feet by 3 feet, 15s.

Universal Atlas of Astronomy, and other Natural Sciences, comprising 400 coloured Maps and Diagrams, with popular descriptions. Elegantly bound and gilt, 10s. 6d.

Morris's Large Geological Diagrams, for teaching the principles of this important science in Schools. On a series of coloured sheets, each 25 by 20 inches, with explanatory notes. Edited by John Morris, F.G.S., Professor of Geology in University College, London. Price, in wrapper, 10s. 6d.; on roller, varnished, size 6 feet by 5 feet, 18s.

Popular Geological Diagrams. An interesting series on royal 4to cards, comprising numerous Diagrams, Sections, Tables, and Illustrations, with explanatory Notes. The whole beautifully coloured, and enclosed in an elegant Portfolio, 12s.

Section of the Earth's Crust, showing the Arrangement of the Strata, and the relations of the various rocks to each other, with the principal Geological Phenomena connected therewith. On a sheet 6 feet in length, full coloured, with explanatory Notes by Professor John Morris. In wrapper, 3s.; on roller, varnished, 7s. 6d.

Morris's Geological Chart, showing at one view the Order of Succession of the Stratified Rocks, with their Mineral Characters, Principal Fossils, Thickness, Localities, Uses in the Arts, &c. Arranged by Professor John Morris. On a sheet 3 feet by 2 feet, coloured, in wrapper, 3s.; on roller, varnished, 4s. 6d.

Large Physical School-room Maps, designed to illustrate the principal subjects of Physical Geography. These Maps have been prepared with great care by E. G. Ravenstein, F.R.G.S., and embrace the many recent discoveries in this important and very interesting branch of science. The Maps are boldly drawn and coloured, and will be found of great utility for School and Class teaching, as well as sufficiently large for illustrating Lectures to considerable audiences. The size of each Map is 4 feet 6 inches by 3 feet. Price on roller, varnished, 8s. The following Maps of the series are already published:—1. Mountain Chains, Table-lands, Low-lands, &c. 2. Volcanoes, Earthquake regions, and Coral reefs. 3. River Systems, Ocean Currents, and Tides. 4. Map of Climates. The following are nearly ready:—5. Winds and Rains. 6. Botanical Map. 7. Zoological Map. 8. Ethnographical Map.

Diagrams of Physical Geography, illustrating the principal phenomena of the Earth, Air, and Waters. Six sheets, each 30 inches by 20 inches, coloured, in wrapper, 9s. ; on roller, varnished, size 5 feet by 5 feet, 16s.

Popular Geographical Diagrams. A very interesting series on royal 4to cards, beautifully coloured, and enclosed in Portfolio, 12s.

View of Nature in all Climates. A large diagram illustrating the physical phenomena of the various Regions of the Globe, with the Effects of Climate on the distribution of Organic life, and its influence on Man, on Health, Disease, and Longevity, &c. On a sheet 6 feet long, coloured, with Description, in wrapper, 4s. 6d. ; on roller, varnished, 7s. 6d.

View of Nature in Ascending Regions. A picturesque view of the chief Mountains and High-lands of the Earth, illustrating the vertical distribution of animal and vegetable life ; and the exact position of Towns, and other objects remarkable for their altitude. A sheet, size 3 feet by 2 feet, coloured, with description, 4s. 6d. ; on roller, varnished, 6s.

Geognostic Profiles. A series of Sections illustrating the vertical contour of the Land in the Eastern and Western Continents, with description, in wrapper, 3s. ; or coloured and mounted on roller, varnished, size 4 feet by 3 feet, 7s. 6d.

Range of Vegetation and the Snow-line in all Latitudes. On a sheet, coloured, in wrapper 1s. 6d. ; on roller, varnished, 3s.

Large Outline Chart of the World, on Mercator's projection, size 4 feet 6 inches by 3 feet. This chart gives the outline of the sea-coast, with the principal rivers and towns ; and is drawn in a bold clear style, so that, by means of colour, it may be readily adapted for illustrating any subjects of Geography, Natural History, &c., for Lectures, or Class teaching. Printed on stout hard drawing-paper, price 3s. 6d.

Botanical Diagrams, exhibiting the Structure, Physiology, and Classification of Plants. Boldly drawn and coloured, and affording an easy method of teaching the principles of this interesting science in Schools or Families. Arranged by James Stewart. On six sheets, each 25 inches by 20 inches, with description, in wrapper, 9s. ; on roller, varnished, size 5 feet by 4 feet, 15s.

Varieties of the Human Race. Fifty full-length Figures, showing the characteristic Features, Colour, Height, and National Costume of the principal Varieties of Mankind. These graphic illustrations are boldly drawn, and grouped according to the latest arrangement of Dr. Latham. Four sheets, each 30 inches by 20 inches, richly coloured, with description, in wrapper 7s. 6d. ; on roller, varnished, 13s. 6d.

Ethnographical Map of the World, showing the Geographical distribution of the Human Race ; with diagrams exhibiting the principal Occupations of all Nations, and the distribution of Man according to religious belief. Size 3 feet by 2 feet. Coloured, in sheet 3s. 6d. ; on roller, varnished, 5s.

Popular Diagrams of Natural Philosophy. An interesting series on royal 4to cards, comprising 250 illustrations, with descriptions ; the whole enclosed in an elegant Portfolio, 12s.

Scientific Charts. A larger series of illustrations of Popular Science, in which the diagrams and descriptions are presented at one view. On eight sheets, each 3 feet by 2 feet, coloured, price 2s. 6d. each.

Machinery, Manufactures, &c. A series of boldly-executed Diagrams, expressly prepared to give a clear idea of the principle and mode of action of the most important Machines, &c. They are well adapted for Lectures, or the purposes of Teaching, and form excellent copies for mechanical drawing. On sheets, each 3 feet by 2 feet, coloured, with brief description, 3s. 6d. ; on roller, varnished, 5s. The series comprises the following :—1. Condensing Steam Engine. 2. High-Pressure Engine. 3. Locomotive Engine. 4. Marine Paddle Engines. 5. Marine Screw Engines. 6. Electric Telegraph. 7. Manufacture of Cast Iron. 8. Manufacture of Gas. 9. Paper-Making Machine. 10. Printing Machine. 11. Pumps. 12. Fire Engine. 13. Hydraulic Press. 14. Thrashing Machine. 15. Flour Mill. 16. Principle of the Watch. 17s. Mechanism of the Clock. 18. Distilling. 19. Gas Meter. 20. The Barometer and its Use.

LITERARY AND MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENTS FOR THE PEOPLE.

THE Staffordshire potteries comprise eighteen towns and villages, forming the parliamentary borough of Stoke-upon-Trent, including the municipal borough of Hanley. The district extends about ten miles from north to south, and two miles in the widest part from east to west, with exhaustless coal and ironstone mines, and has a population of 100,000 inhabitants, employed at the forge, in the mines, and in the manufacture of porcelain and earthenwares.

It had been long a subject of regret, that for a population so numerous, whose physical toil was so arduous and unremitting, the means of innocent and rational recreation should scarcely exist, while temptations to vicious indulgences should abound; and that the only sources of amusement should be so questionable in form and so disastrous in results.

About two years ago, with a view to effect an improvement in this respect, "Literary and Musical Entertainments for the People" were instituted at Hanley. These entertainments consist of from three to four readings of a quarter of an hour each, from the best authors, with intervals for vocal and instrumental music. The whole of the proceedings last about two hours, opening at half-past seven and closing at half-past nine o'clock. They are held in the Town-hall on Monday and Saturday evenings, and have proved so attractive and successful that the hall, which had on all former occasions been found ample for the public convenience, was soon discovered to be insufficient to accommodate the numbers who flocked nightly to attend these entertainments, for, on many occasions, hundreds had to retire unable to gain admission, from the crowded state of the room. At first, admission was free, the funds being supplied by a few friends to popular improvement. But one evening a working man from the body of the hall arose, and voluntarily proposed that an admission fee of one penny should be charged in future. This proposition was received with acclamation, and carried most enthusiastically; and thus, by the act of the people themselves, the entertainments were made self-supporting, for the small sum charged proved sufficient to defray all expenses, and leave a balance in the hands of the treasurer at the end of each session.

Eight other towns and villages in the district, observing the success which attended the entertainments at Hanley, instituted similar proceedings, and with equal success. During the last session, which commenced in October, 1857, and closed in April, 1858, not fewer than from sixty to seventy thousand admissions took place, although some of the most populous towns began so late in the season as not to be able to give more than six or eight entertainments, and these by way of experiment; but all closed with the determination of re-opening in October. Stoke-upon-Trent, which came last in the field, closed its proceedings on the 3rd of May, in presence of an audience of from fifteen to sixteen hundred people; and so successful did the committee find the experiment, and so well satisfied were they with the result, that they offered a prize to any working man for the best essay on the subject.

There is one fact connected with these entertainments of a most encouraging nature, and which is deserving of particular mention, viz., that wherever they have been tried, the largest room that could be obtained has proved too small to accommodate the numbers who have applied for admission. It ought also to be stated that the literary and musical staff has consisted, in many instances, of persons who heretofore have confined the exercise of their talents to the drawing-room; while the amount and quality of musical acquirements amongst the working class, developed during the proceedings, were both surprising and gratifying. The deep and active interest which persons of all conditions have taken in these entertainments, and the support rendered to them by the clergy of the Church of England, and ministers of all denominations, are not only a guarantee for their future success, but indicate their high moral tendency, and the great desire all classes have to meet together to participate in pleasures which all can share free from political differences and sectarian animosities. Wealthy manufacturers have been seen reading to their workmen, and the delicately trained and accomplished lady has thrown aside reserve, and played and sang to her humbler neighbours; and the people have repaid with interest such instances of kindness by the propriety of their demeanour and by the most grateful demonstrations.

When these entertainments were first instituted, Hanley had about twenty music saloons connected with licensed public-houses and beer-houses. Before the close of the second session there was scarcely one left; certainly not one in a condition so flourishing as formerly. Great numbers who have been accustomed to seek recreation at such places have been remarkable for their regular and punctual attendance at these entertainments, and the marked attention they have paid to the proceedings. Whole families belonging to the working classes attended them regularly, and husbands and fathers, accustomed to seek amusement in haunts of vice, have learned how great and pure is the pleasure arising from innocent yet cheerful recreation, shared in common with their wives and families. That mere novelty was not the charm which drew the people to them is clear, from the fact that the eagerness to gain admission was greater at the close of the second than of the first year's proceedings. The truth is, they meet—to a limited extent, it is true—a great public want, which had long been felt, though rarely gratified, but the existence and intensity of which have been abundantly proved.

YORKSHIRE UNION VILLAGE LIBRARY.

The Itinerating Village Library, which comprises forty-five sections, each containing fifty volumes, or a total of 2,250 volumes, was established with the view of encouraging a taste for reading among the inhabitants of small towns and villages, and of providing the means of disseminating useful information and entertainment of a moral character in places where no such means previously existed, and where a difficulty might be experienced in procuring wholesome literature except at a price beyond the means of the great majority of the population.

It ought not to require any arguments to show the great advantages of reading, and the importance of promoting a more general resort to such an employment of leisure hours. It is at once the cheapest and most enduring recreation, available almost at all times and under all circumstances, storing the mind with fruitful and pleasant food for the thoughts, and supplying abundant means for real gratification. When once the capability of reading has been acquired, the man whose day has been spent in labour may recruit his exhausted energies by exercising his mental faculties, and at the same time improve his position by informing himself of the laws of nature, and of those principles which most nearly affect his general interests. It is not only a never-failing but an increasing source of the purest delight, opening the eyes as it were to new worlds, and making apparent mysteries subjects of familiar knowledge.

The Agriculturist, whether farmer or labourer, may learn the processes by which manures stimulate vegetation, the way in which tillage operates to fertilise the earth, the mode by which roots, leaves, and seeds are formed in the plants which he cultivates, and the surest method of promoting the result which he requires. The cottager may learn something in the production of fruit, flowers, and vegetables, and the country have new charms for all, because its beauties will become more intelligible.

The Manufacturer, whether employer or artisan, may learn the means by which his objects are accomplished, and achieve greater success by comprehending the causes of failure. As a writer in Chambers' Miscellany has well observed, "A man should not be satisfied with being merely skilled in his handicraft. He ought to make himself acquainted with the principles of the operations in which he is concerned. If, for instance, he be a dyer, he should not rest contented with knowing what ingredients will produce certain tints, but ascertain why such is the case. This will cause him to study practical chemistry; and in the course of his investigations he may perhaps make some discovery valuable to himself and the public. Independently, however, of any chance of making improvements in his profession, much good is gained by investigations into first principles."

The Rev. H. Moseley, in his Report on Education, says:—"The workman need not think, however humble be the craft he exercises, or common the form of matter on which he is called upon to labour, that the science is a thing of small account. Nothing is of small account which comes from the hand of the Almighty, or any truth which is a manifestation of the Divine mind. The man who has acquired the knowledge of a law of Nature, holds in his hand one link of a chain which leads up to God, whether it be developed from the rude fragment of a rock, or from a sunbeam—whether found in the organisation of an insect, or in the mechanism of the heavens.

"It is in the separation of labour from that science or knowledge which is proper to every form of it, that consists the degrading distinction of a class of the community (in the language of the manufacturing districts) as 'hands.' 'Hands!'—Men who take a part all their lives long in manufacturing processes, involving the practical application of great scientific truths, without ever comprehending them—men, who have before their eyes continually, mechanical combinations, the contrivance of which they never take the pains to inquire into—men, in respect to whom the first step has never been made which all these things would have continued, the first impulse given which these would have carried on—men, who with subjects of thought all around them, and with everything to impel them to the exercise of it, never exercise thought; and so, the obvious means of their education being passed, they remain always 'hands.'"

Beyond all this there is the gratification afforded by the perusal of works of Travel; the descriptions of foreign countries and people, with their manners and customs; the history of our own and other nations; the lives of great and good men which serve for example and encouragement; the models of language in the Essays and other productions of celebrated writers; and, not the least important, the cultivation of the imaginative faculties by the inimitable poetry of Shakspeare, Milton, Pope, Cowper, and other English worthies. For the brief interval of leisure there are numerous volumes of miscellaneous literature in which entertainment and information are happily blended, while the works of Sir Walter Scott and other writers of fiction may convey a moral lesson in the guise of an interesting tale.

A much greater advantage would be gained, and additional enjoyment experienced, by adopting the practice of reading aloud. More is learned from the voice than by the eye, and though some would feel a little difficulty at first, perseverance would soon render it easy, and even preferable to the silent perusal of a book. It would, moreover, enable the whole of the domestic circle to share in the information or entertainment which the book may afford, prove an additional bond of family union, promote a desire for knowledge in children, and become a real attraction for home, the prospect of which would sweeten the toils of the day. The duties of reading might be shared by all who are capable of it, so that the "Evenings at home" might, even to the poorest, prove a never-failing delight.

The contents of the Yorkshire Union Village Library may be thus classified, and every section of fifty volumes contains a fair selection of each, with some little variety :—

EXTRACT FROM REPORT OF REV. EDWARD HALL, LEEDS DOMESTIC MISSION.

Another means by which to judge of the social and moral character of a people, is a knowledge of the literature they read ; and in this respect I do not hesitate to say there is considerable improvement in the public taste within the last few years. In my report six years ago, I was able, through the kindness of those booksellers who receive London parcels of the cheap and popular literature of the day, to give the number of most of the works of this kind sold in Leeds and its neighbourhood. I am indebted to the same gentlemen, and others who have come into the trade since, for the same information this year. The number of different kinds of works worth notice, is about the same now as then, exclusive of newspapers ; but it is curious to observe how many of those in circulation then have gone off the stage, and have been substituted by others of a somewhat different, but by no means of a worse character.

The following is a list of the cheap works sold weekly at the present time, with one of the same kind as given in 1852 :—

In this list I have not included the monthly parts of any of the above works, having been informed by the booksellers that by supposing the whole of the monthlies to be read by the upper and middle classes, and none of them by the poor, I should have a pretty correct idea of this kind of reading among the labouring classes. From these lists it will be seen that there are 7,442 weekly numbers now more than in 1852, and that the increased sale is in works of the second class. Cassell's Illustrated Paper has come into existence since that period; the London Journal, Family Herald, and Reynolds' Miscellany, which, being now somewhat improved in tone, I have now placed in the second class, having increased in circulation; and the Penny Post, which is sold chiefly on account of the tales which it contains, has only been in existence a few months. All these works contain much good and useful information, and although the great cause of their extensive circulation is the large amount of light and fictitious writing in each number, they are doing a good work by creating a taste for reading, which, when once acquired, is but seldom lost. The increased sale of such works as these, and the decrease in the sale of novels, romances, and tales of a low, and many of them of a vicious character, of 2,180 weekly, is certainly a sign of improvement in this respect: Lloyd's Novels, Mysteries of the Court, &c., &c., are almost gone out of the market, and the novels and tales now circulating are mainly of a superior kind to these vile productions. It must not be inferred, however, that these novels are not read to some extent at the present; they may be had from the Circulating Libraries in volumes, and in this shape they are now read to some extent by the public. I learn that the weekly circulation in the different Libraries is about 2,380 volumes; and that fully one-fourth are works of standard literature, of acknowledged merit. Of the others, such works as Dickens', and some of Bulwer's, are in great request, and what may be termed the low novels form by no means the majority. Many instances were related to me by those of whom I sought information, of young people of both sexes, beginning with romances and tales, having become satiated with that kind of mental food, asking for works of a higher class, and ultimately joining Evening Classes, and becoming members of Mechanics' Institutions. This I have known to be the case in several instances in the Mission district, and I have no doubt is the general tendency of a reading habit being acquired. The first or highest class has apparently somewhat decreased, but I believe the falling-off is only in appearance as regards the extent of reading of a substantial kind. There is a great number of standard works coming out in monthly parts, such as Dictionaries, Histories, &c., not included in the above list, which circulate largely among the more intelligent of the working classes, and when completed, are bound up and help to form the library of well-selected books which many of them possess.—From the Annual Report of the Yorkshire Union of Mechanics' Institutes.

NIGHT SCHOOLS RECEIVING GOVERNMENT GRANTS.

The Directors of Mechanics' Institutions will learn with regret that the educational department of the State, by direction of the Government, is about to inflict serious and, we fear, permanent injury upon Mechanics' Institutions. Not content with their recent attempt to repeal the 5 and 6 Victoria, cap. 36, by which statute Literary and Mechanics' Institutions and Free Libraries are, or rather were intended by the promoters to be, exempt from the payment of local taxes, the Government have authorised the Lords of the Committee on Education to adopt such regulations as will admit of purely secular instruction in night schools, if attached to day schools, and to grant liberal aid from the public purse for their support. The Lords of Committee on Education resolved, on 26th July, 1858, "to grant a stipend of £25 per annum to male, and £20 to female teachers, during the probationary period of two years following the date at which they have passed the examination now required for a certificate, on condition that such period be passed as second master under a certificated or registered head master in a school with an annual average attendance of not less than seventy-five; that night scholars may be reckoned with day scholars in making up seventy-five;" and, further, "to allow, where a night school is organised conformably to the minutes of March, 1855, the number of scholars who have attended it on fifty nights per annum to be added to the number of day scholars for whom the school may receive capitation grants;* no scholar being reckoned as belonging to both schools, nor any scholar under twelve years of age as belonging to the night school."

Extracts from instructions to Her Majesty's Inspectors of Schools, 24th November, 1858:—"It is hoped that the admission of night schools to the capitation grants may facilitate the establishment of such schools. There are few schools in which the addition of all local sources of income to the capitation grant* will not provide £25 or £30 towards a teacher's stipend, and this sum, when added to the Government allowance, makes a total which, in the increasing number of certificated teachers, is not below the salary which candidates for employment are likely to be willing to accept in first engagements." The Council of the Association obtained, by the courtesy of R. R. W. Lingens, Esq., copies of their Lordships' minutes and instructions, and memorialized their Lordships to extend the aid granted to their night schools to the night schools of Mechanics' Institutions in cases where the instruction is given by certificated masters or probationers. Their Lordships have refused this aid on the ground "that night schools to be aided must be connected with day schools receiving annual grants from the Parliamentary Fund for Education, that is to say, they must be under the same body of managers; and further, that "the experimental precedent of aid from the grant for Public Education to classes such as those of the East Lancashire Union of Mechanics' Institutions shall not be extended." The only inference that can be drawn from this is, either that the Government looks inimically upon Mechanics' Institutions, and wishes to destroy them by instituting rival subsidised night schools, or that the national funds—funds to which all contribute—are administered with favour and prejudice, and not impartially. The managers of many Institutions are prepared to adopt the same course of instruction as in the Government schools, to have Government teachers, and to accede to all the necessary conditions requisite to obtain the pecuniary assistance afforded to day and night schools; but assistance is refused. The secret of opposition, we assume to be, is, that we are, and intend to be, independent in local influence and control; in other words, we wish to be our own managers and protectors. The inconsistency of this partiality is so glaring, that in some cases members of Mechanics' Institution classes are borrowed to attend the classes of Government night schools on the extra nights, to make up the requisite number of pupils, to enable the day school to claim the Government grant. Yet these Mechanics' Institution schools are refused assistance so long as their pupils remain in their own building. We wish to improve the quality of our instruction. We shall be glad to receive masters who can and will teach well, whether from Government or otherwise. We can only deeply regret that Government will not deal evenly-handed with us, and will insist on limiting the blessings of education, instead of opening a wider field for the general good of all who seek to improve their moral and intellectual condition.—Lancashire and Cheshire Institutional Gazette.

* 4s. per pupil, or £15 on 75 pupils, attending 50 nights per annum—say three nights per week for the four winter months in the year.

TRAINING SCHOOLS AND TEACHERS.

I. BRIEF ACCOUNT OF TRAINING SCHOOLS, &c.

These Institutions, as now conducted, are of comparatively modern date. The first attempt at training was made by the National Society soon after its establishment in 1811. Teachers were admitted at the Society's buildings in Baldwin's Gardens, Holborn, to learn the Madras, or Dr. Bell's, system. Some of the teachers were accommodated with board and lodging, while others remained in the neighbourhood. Exhibitions of from £1 1s. to £2 2s. per week were granted to the most promising Teachers by the Committee of this Society. The period of training varied from a week to six months, and sometimes twelve months.

Central Model Schools also existed in most of the principal towns throughout the kingdom, where the system of training as practised in London by the Society was more or less adopted.

In the year 1836 the Home and Colonial Infant-School Society was established, the main object of which was to qualify suitable persons to act as Masters and Mistresses of Infant-Schools. The operations of this Society have been since extended so as to include all Elementary Schools.

The Central Model or Training Schools of the National Society above referred to continued in operation without any material change from the time of their establishment till the close of the year 1837; when the Society commenced the improvement of its Central Establishments, by hiring premises in Smith Square, Westminster, to accommodate Schoolmistresses, of whom about forty were ordinarily in training.—Additional officers were appointed to instruct the teachers during those hours in which they were not engaged in the Practising Schools.

In the summer of 1838, the National Society, on the recommendation of a Committee of Inquiry and Correspondence, put forth a scheme for the establishment of "Diocesan Seminaries or Training Schools," and also a scheme for the establishment of a Metropolitan Training Institution.

In the summer of 1839 the National Society further improved its Central Establishment, by hiring premises in Cannon-row, and subsequently in Manchester Buildings, Westminster, to accommodate the Masters in training, and a resident Clerical Principal to preside over the establishment.

During the year 1839, many of the Provincial Model Schools were improved, and Diocesan Training Institutions were established in the Dioceses of Canterbury, Durham, Winchester, Bath and Wells, Chester, Chichester, Exeter, Gloucester and Bristol, Lichfield, Oxford, and Salisbury.

In January 1840, Sir James Kay Shuttleworth, Bart., and Mr. Carleton Tuffnell, at that time connected with the Poor-Law Commissioners, established from their own resources the Training School at Battersea, (transferred to the National Society at Christmas 1843), as an experiment for training Teachers for Pauper or Union Schools, with a particular reference to instruction in industrial occupations.

The National Society, in 1840, succeeded in securing property at Stanley Grove, Chelsea, for the foundation of St. Mark's College, which was opened for the reception of Students at the commencement of the year 1841. The Society then established the Training Institution for Schoolmistresses at Whitelands, Chelsea, which was opened early in 1842; and from that period to the present time the work of founding Training Schools has proceeded with more or less activity, as a development of the scheme put forth in 1839 by the National Society.

The Westminster Institutions have been superseded by the National Society's more modern establishments at Chelsea and Battersea; and one or two of the Diocesan Training Schools have not been continued.

The question of State Inspection of Church Schools having been amicably adjusted in 1840 with the heads of the Church, the National Society in 1842 obtained £5000 out of the original Parliamentary Grant voted in 1835 for Model Schools, towards the buildings which they erected for St. Mark's College.

Building Grants. The work of building Training Schools has since been greatly promoted by the Minute of the Committee of Council of January 16, 1844, by which a sum of £50 was agreed to be awarded out of the Parliamentary Grant for every Student to be accommodated in any new Training Institution. Their Lordships will also grant the usual rate of aid towards the erection of the Model Schools to be attached to such Institutions. The National Society has also promoted the work of making grants, the present scale of which is at the rate of £10 per head for every Student to be accommodated in the building.

Grants for Support. Further encouragement has been given in this direction by the Minutes of the Committee of Council of 1846 and 1847, by which sums varying from £20 to £30 are awarded to an Institution for every Student that passes a satisfactory examination, and obtains a Certificate of Merit at the annual visitation of Her Majesty's Inspector.

Queen's Scholars allowed. The Minutes of Council also arrange for the education of a certain number of youths (Pupil-teachers in National Schools), who, after an apprenticeship of five years, become eligible for admission into Training Schools as Queen's Scholars or Exhibitioners, upon passing a satisfactory examination. They are then paid for by the Committee of Council, and admitted into training in the Institution.

Grants to Lecturers. Augmentation Grants of £100 a-year are allowed by the Committee of Council on Education to Lecturers, not exceeding three in any one Training School. Thirty Students entitling to one Lecturer; sixty to two; and more than that number to three. The Lecturer must pass a satisfactory examination in certain subjects, and receive from the College a salary of not less than £100 a-year, in addition to board and lodging in the College, in which he must be resident.

Grants to Assistants. Resident Assistant Teachers in Training Schools under Government inspection, holding a Certificate of Merit not lower than the third division of the first class, are allowed to receive the Augmentation Grant of the Committee of Council, on similar conditions of salary, emoluments, &c. as in Elementary Schools.

Grant of Books and Apparatus. The Committee of Council further aid Training Institutions by allowing pecuniary grants for the purchase of books and maps, and apparatus for scientific purposes, at the rate of ten shillings per Student; the applicants in every such instance contributing twenty shillings to meet their Lordships's grants.

Training Mistresses for Infant-Schools. The Committee of Council give encouragement for the formation of a distinct department in Training Mistresses for Infant-Schools. When such a department is formed to the satisfaction of their Lordships, the Students will be allowed to attend at the Examination for the Registration of Teachers. Those Students who obtain a First Class will obtain an Augmentation Grant as in other Elementary Schools, the College receiving £15; for those who obtain a Second Class, an Augmentation Grant of £8, the College receiving £10.

II. ON THE MODE OF OBTAINING TEACHERS, &c.

There are three modes of proceeding to obtain the services of a Teacher : 1. Application to the Training Institutions. 2. Advertising for a Teacher. 3. Sending a suitable person to an Institution to be trained specially for the particular School.

Applying to Training Schools. 1. In adopting the first course, it may be desirable in the outset to apply to the Diocesan Training Institution, if one exists ; and should that fail, then to the National Society's Institutions in London, or the other institutions not in connexion with the Society. The Principal is usually the best person to apply to ; and he should be informed of the nature of the school, the number of scholars, the size of the school-room ; the amount of salary, inclusive or exclusive of children's payments ; whether there be a residence, furnished in whole or in part, or unfurnished ; and if not, the cost of lodgings ; whether provisions, &c. are reasonable, or otherwise ; the time when the teacher would be required ; any special qualifications or attainments which the teacher is expected to possess ; limit as to age, &c. It must be borne in mind that very few teachers are sent out from Training Institutions except at Christmas in each year.

The particular Institution to which application should be made must be determined, more or less, by the character of the teacher required. Almost all of the Institutions are open to Government Inspection. From such, but not from those not open to inspection, a Certificated Teacher may be obtained. There is, however, nothing to prevent a non-certificated teacher competing for a certificate, or for registration. It should also be borne in mind that the advantages of a Certificate obtained in a Training Institution are not necessarily secured to a teacher when he is placed in charge of a school. The pecuniary benefits arising from a Certificate is continued only on condition that the school to which the teacher is appointed is open to Government Inspection, and that the Inspector is satisfied that the Master or Mistress is competent to conduct the school efficiently. A Registered Teacher receives no allowance from the Committee of Council on account of registration, except by way of gratuity for instructing Pupil-teachers ; but a Certificated Teacher has an allowance on account of his certificate ; and Managers who require the services of such a Teacher must provide a certain amount of salary to secure the payment from the Committee of Council to the Teacher.

Schoolmistresses for Infant-Schools are trained at Whitelands, Chelsea, and Home and Colonial School Society, Bristol and Cheltenham, and possibly at some of the other Diocesan Training Schools.

Married couples, or a brother and sister, to act as Teachers, are rarely to be obtained from a Training Institution.

Advertising. 2. Notwithstanding the increased number of Training Institutions, it not unfrequently happens that applications to them for Teachers are unsuccessful. The cause of this is generally either the smallness of the salary offered by School-managers, or the inability of the Institution to supply a suitable Teacher. Most of the Teachers, as already stated, who go out from Institutions under inspection leave at Christmas ; and they are frequently engaged some months before their training is completed. Under these circumstances, recourse is generally had to advertising in the National Society's Monthly Paper, The Ecclesiastical Gazette, The English Journal of Education, The Papers for the Schoolmaster, The School and the Teacher, and other Papers.

Training a suitable Person. 3. Another course occasionally adopted, especially where the funds of the School do not admit of an average salary being given to the Teachers, is to look out in the neighbourhood of the School for a person who, with a certain amount of training, would be likely to become sufficiently well qualified to fill the post of Schoolmaster or Mistress.

At some few of the Institutions such persons are received for a period of three months, and are boarded and lodged in the Institution at a small expense. When this plan is adopted, the person selected should pay the whole or part of his or her expenses, or else be bound to remain in the situation for a certain time. A temporary teacher may be secured from one or other of the Institutions to take charge of the school till the teacher is ready. For a temporary Master the charge is likely to be £1 11s. 6d. a-week ; for Schoolmistresses £1 1s. a-week. This would include every expense, except for travelling.

Salaries of Teachers. Masters who go out from the London Training Institutions generally receive from £50 to £70, and a house ; Schoolmistresses from £30 to £40, and a house. The salaries of Teachers leaving Diocesan Institutions are perhaps somewhat lower.

The Salaries of Married Couples vary from £60 to £120, with a house. The exact salary depends very much upon the amount of duty expected of the wife, who not unfrequently is simply engaged to superintend the instruction in needlework, the Master taking charge of both boys and girls.

Resignation and Dismissal of Teachers. Three months' notice is usually given on either side. As Teachers who refuse to deliver up possession of School-premises within the space of three months after their formal dismissal can be ejected by a justice of the peace, under the powers of the School-site Act of 4th and 5th Vict. cap. 38, clause 18, it is hardly necessary to have any legal form of agreement drawn up for an engagement between Teachers and School-managers. A simple letter of agreement as to the amount of salary is not unfrequently given.

III. INSTRUCTIONS TO PUPIL-TEACHERS AND CANDIDATES FOR ADMISSION INTO TRAINING SCHOOLS. ON OBTAINING QUEEN'S SCHOLARSHIPS, CERTIFICATES OF MERIT, REGISTRATIONS, AND RETIRING PENSIONS.

The Training to be obtained is of two kinds : (1) that which will give the opportunity of securing a Government Certificate of merit to the Pupil ; (2) that which does not hold out this advantage.

The period of Training necessary for a Certificate is in no case less than a year, and in most cases two years. For such Students there is an examination at the end of every year ; and those who pass it with credit obtain a Certificate which entitles the holder, on leaving the Institution, and conducting a school to the satisfaction of Her Majesty's Inspector, to a sum varying from 15*l.* to 30*l.* from the Committee of Council on Education, according to the class of the Certificate held by the Student. If the Student does not wish to obtain a Certificate, but only to improve himself by the instruction afforded in a Training Institution, the period of Training varies from three to nine months. In such a case a Certificate or Registration can afterwards be obtained by passing satisfactorily at the examination of Teachers and Students, which is held at Christmas in each year at the several Training Schools.

The earliest age at which any of the Institutions receive Students is fifteen. Candidates under that age may become Pupil-teachers in any school under Government Inspection.

Some Institutions are better suited for young persons, inasmuch as in them Pupils beyond a certain age are not received. A candidate for admission will also do well to see what advantages are offered in any Institution which is situated in the Diocese in which he resides, although all Institutions receive candidates for admission from any part of England and Wales. The clergyman of the parish might, through the Secretary of the Diocesan or Local Board, obtain an exhibition, or some assistance towards the expense of training. It is also to be observed that only a few of the Institutions profess to train Teachers for Infant-Schools.

Students trained in Diocesan Institutions are generally, but not always, expected to take charge of schools in the Diocese or Dioceses to which they belong. In the Metropolitan Institutions, and some others, the Students are recommended to situations without reference to locality.

The qualifications for admission into training are much the same in all the Institutions. "To read English prose with propriety, to spell correctly from dictation, to write a good hand, to be well acquainted with the outlines of Scripture history, and to show considerable readiness in working the fundamental rules of arithmetic," would generally insure a candidate's admission into training, provided he or she were otherwise eligible as a moral and religious person.

Testimonials from one or more clergymen and two or three respectable householders are always required.

No persons afflicted with the loss of a limb, or suffering from chronic disease, are ordinarily admitted.

The Managers of the Institutions have only the recommendation to appointments ; but a Student passing through his or her period of training satisfactorily will generally obtain charge of a school.

The vacancies at the Institutions generally take place during harvest and after Christmas. From four to five weeks is usually the time on each occasion. Students are expected to be absent from the Institution during the holidays.

In each prospectus of Training Schools will be found the name of the Principal, or other person, who will supply the proper papers for admission into training.

Pupil-teachers. Should the candidate for training as a School-teacher be too young for admission into one or other of the Training Schools, an endeavour should be made to place the youth at a good National School, where Pupil-teachers are apprenticed. If he displays an aptitude for the work, he may be selected by the Managers, and recommended to her Majesty's Inspector for apprenticeship for a period not exceeding five years, during which time he will be entitled to certain allowances. At the expiration of his apprenticeship he can compete at one or other of the Training Schools for a Queen's Scholarship, which will give him free board and instruction at the Training School. Should there be no National School in which Pupil-teachers are apprenticed in the neighbourhood of the home of the candidate, many excellent Masters and Mistresses may be found willing to receive the candidate as a boarder at a moderate expense. An advertisement in the National Society's Monthly Paper for an appointment as Pupil-teacher would be very likely to be attended with success.

Queen's Scholars. The names of Pupil-teachers who intend to compete for Queen's Scholarships in December must be communicated to the Principal of the College at which they are to be examined before the 10th day of the preceding November.

Certificates of Merit. Teachers who have passed through a Training School under Government Inspection generally obtain a Certificate of Merit before they leave the School; but should they fail to obtain as high a class Certificate as they hoped for, they are at liberty to return to the Training School at Christmas in any year to be examined, with a view to obtain the Certificate they desire, provided always that they are appointed to a School under Government Inspection.

Teachers not having been Pupil-teachers, nor having been trained in a Training School under Government Inspection, who desire to obtain a Certificate, must be above the age of twenty-two years, and must be in charge of a School under Government Inspection. The application for such a Teacher's admission to the December Examination for a certificate must be made before the 20th of the preceding November by the Managers of the School to the Committee of Council on Education, from whom the subjects of the course of examination may be obtained.

The Certificates are divided into first, second, and third class, and each class has three divisions.

A Certificate once granted is never taken away from a Teacher, though the pecuniary benefit to be derived from it may, under certain circumstances, be suspended.

Registered Teachers. Registration is granted to Teachers who are not less than thirty-five years of age. The Examination is of a simple character, and embraces the Holy Scriptures, the Catechism, and the Liturgy of the Church of England, English History, Geography, Arithmetic, including Vulgar and Decimal Fractions; English Grammar, and Composition; the theory and practice of teaching; and in the case of Female Teachers, sewing. Registration confers no direct pecuniary benefit on the Registered Teacher; but qualifies the Teacher to take a school with Pupil-teachers, and receive the usual fees for their instruction. Registration also enables the Teacher to take a school deriving aid from the capitation grants allowed to the managers of the school by the Committee of Council. If a Teacher intends to take charge of a school, having both Pupil-teachers and a capitation grant, the examination will be extended to Mechanics, Euclid, or Algebra. The Teacher desiring registration must apply for examination through the managers of the school in which the Teacher is engaged.

Examination for registration takes place in some of the principal towns throughout the country at Easter in each year. The name of the candidate for examination must be sent by the managers of the Teachers' school to the Committee of Council before the 14th day preceding Easter Sunday.

Retiring Pensions and Gratuities. The Committee of Council on Education have adopted the following resolutions with respect to pensions to Schoolmasters and Schoolmistresses for long and efficient services. A Teacher desirous of obtaining a pension should get the managers of his school to apply to the Secretary of the Committee of Council on his behalf, stating the particulars of the case, when proper instructions will be forwarded. The pensions are to be decided on at Michaelmas and Lady-day in each year. Their Lordships' instructions to Her Majesty's Inspectors on this subject contain the following notice:—"My Lords do not regard such Pensions as intended to be eleemosynary in their character, nor simply as personal rewards of merit. You will not have failed to observe that, by the minute of 21st December, 1846, their Lordships take power, but do not pledge themselves, to grant pensions of this nature. No such pension, therefore, can be claimed as a right under any circumstances whatever; and you will be careful to hold this language in all your communications upon the subject."

EXAMINATIONS FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA.

REGULATIONS.

1. In July, 1860, an Examination of candidates will be held in London.*—Notice will hereafter be given of the days and place of examination.

3. The General Principles of Jurisprudence and the Elements of Hindu and Mohammedan Law		1,000
4. Political Economy		500

In this, as in the preceding Examination, the merit of the candidates examined will be estimated by marks, and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it. The Examination will be conducted by means of printed questions and written answers, and by visà voce Examination, as may be deemed necessary.

10. No candidate will be permitted to proceed to India until he shall have passed the further Examination, or after he shall have attained the age of twenty-four years.

11. The selected candidates who at the further Examination shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, shall be adjudged to have passed, and to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India.

12. The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the selected candidates shall be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the further Examination.

13. No person will, even after passing the further Examination, be allowed to proceed to India unless he shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for the Civil Service of India, and shall be of sound bodily health and good moral character.—The Civil Service Commissioners will require such further evidence on these points as they may deem necessary before granting their Certification of qualification.

14. Applications from persons desirous to be admitted as candidates are to be addressed to the Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners, Dean's Yard, London, S.W.

NOTE.—The Secretary of State for India in Council has authorized the Civil Service Commissioners to state that, with the view of meeting the expenses to be incurred by selected candidates during the interval which must elapse before they can proceed to India, it is his intention to allow the sum of £100 to each selected candidate who shall have passed the further Examination in July, 1868, to the satisfaction of the Commissioners, and shall have complied with such rules as may be laid down for the guidance of selected candidates.

THE PATENT "BELLE SAUVAGE" PRINTING MACHINE.

THIS Machine is constructed on principles combining simplicity and durability with speed and economy, and is acknowledged to be the most useful Machine yet introduced for Newspaper, Book, and First-class Jobbing Work, Broadsides, &c. The Machine occupies but little space, is sufficiently light to admit of its being erected in an ordinary press-room, and can be driven with ease by hand, or by steam-power, at the rate of 1,000 impressions per hour. The improved reciprocating motion given to the carriage, by means of compound levers or beams placed immediately in the centre of the Machine, connected to the end of the table by well-fitted horizontal rods, imparts a perfectly steady and even movement to the Machine, thus materially lessening the noise usually attending the working of Machines, and reducing the liability to accident and stoppage. The cylinder being made to rest while the white sheet is taken and the printed one delivered, (printed side upwards), gives ample time to lay the sheet correctly up to the register gauge; the grippers then receiving the sheet by means of a carefully adjusted tumbler motion in front of the laying-on board, thereby secures perfect register without the necessity of "points." The Machine is supplied by Messrs. PETER & GALPIN, Belle Sauvage Yard, London.
